EXPELLING LA FOLLETTE

THE senate committee probing the utterances of Senator La Follette to ascertain whether they are treasonable, should also take into consideration the seditious actions of the Wisconsinite, who has omitted no opportunity, so far as lay in his power, to hamper and impede the conduct of the war. He has introduced amendment after amendment to war measures, to make them unworkable or impracticable.

The senate has ample power to expel one of its members for disloyalty or for any other reason, or for no reason at all. The constitution in Section V, Article I says:

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and with the concurrence of two-thirds expel a member.

The senate has expelled, since its organization, fifteen members for disloyalty and dropped six members from its rolls. Moreover, such action is made compulsory when the member is guilty of treason, in Section 3 of the 14th Amendment:

No person shall be a senator or representative in congress, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of congress to support the constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof.

The procedure, as shown by precedent, is very simple. A mere resolution by any member is sufficient. The senate may act directly, as was done in the civil war, when John C. Breckenridge of Kentucky was charged with disloyalty.

Of the twenty members expelled during the civil war, all except three had expressed their allegiance to the confederacy, and all but one had vacated their seats in the senate. Jesse D. Bright of Indiana was expelled by a vote of 32 to 14 for having sent an inventor with a valuable patent on firearms to Jefferson Davis with a letter of recommendation.

The senate, being a sort of gentlemen's club, is loth to take drastic action against one of its members unless proof of direct assistance to the enemy is overwhelming. In the case of La Follette, they seem convincing enuf. His every utterance has given aid and comfort to the enemy. He has been widely quoted to create division and discord among the allies as well as at home, and to hearten the enemy in the belief that America was not in earnest in the war.

La Follette stands convicted by his own actions of sabotage in behalf of Germany for trying to throw a monkey wrench in the legislative war machinery of the government. His over-weening egotism is the source of his blind fatuity. Grandiosely he compares the opposition of Webster, Clay, Sumner and Lincoln to the war with Mexico with his own opposition to the war his country is waging against German aggression and German frightfulness for national preservation. The great statesmen he maligns opposed a war for the extension of slavery to benefit a slave-owning autocracy, while he opposes a war to prevent the enslavement of the world by a ruthless military autocracy.

The assassination of Americans, the destruction of American property, the piracy of the seas, the effort to have Mexico and Japan declare war upon us, the plots to blow up our industries, interfere in our politics and control our congress—all these German crimes and German insults afford no cause for resentment to this bemuddled mouthpiece of the German propaganda.

La Follette's declaration justifying the sinking of the Lusitania and his assertions that America had no just grievance for war can hardly be extenuated as patriotic utterances. He is as guilty of sedition as any of the alien enemies and hyphenated editors now interned. He should not only be expelled from the senate, but deported to Germany, where his sympathies and allegiance evidently belong—for he does not hesitate to sacrifice national honor to benefit the national enemy.

WATER SOURCES ARE STUDIED BY EXPERT

Investigations of possible sources of supply for the Medford irrigation district were started on September 29th. Six possible sources of supply were under consideration, and all possible data is being collected on all of these sources of supply. All data regarding water measurements in the vicinity have been collected from the office of the U. S. G. S. in Portland, from the state engineer's office in Salem, and from private sources; and additional measurements are being made where necessary. A field party in charge of Mr. J. B. Platt, a Medford engineer of experience, has been collecting data in the field since September 29th. Data in regard to water rights has been furnished by the state engineer. The district engineer has made personal trips over all possible sources of supply to the north and east.

is such as to put that district at a disadvantage as compared with many other districts where the irrigable land and the water supply are closer together. The nature of the cultivation in the Medford district, however, and the increased production of valuable crops which irrigation will accomplish, makes that district better able to stand a high first-cost for irrigation than most other districts. The next six weeks will probably see the investigation sufficiently advanced so that a recommendation as to which source of supply is most available may be made, and the field work narrowed down to work for the purpose of determining the cost of that particular project.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor: Will the editor of the Mail Tribune please tell me, as well as lots of other mothers, where he keeps his conscience when he prints his articles urging tobacco sent to the soldier boys? What is the use of our anti-cigarette laws? What is the use of mothers bringing up their boys to hate the filthy stuff if, as soon as they are old enough to go with the army, they will be taught to use it? How long do you expect the younger boys to leave cigarettes alone, while you and others like you preach the good virtues of them for the soldiers? If this war is to better humanity, why not use your influence in a better cause than helping cigarette makers? I expect they are afraid they will soon run out of customers if the anti-cigarette laws are enforced. When cigarettes have been proved beyond a doubt not only physically, but mentally and morally harmful, why encourage their use? Yours respectfully, MRS. F. H. DRESSLER. Medford, Oct. 10.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remediation. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a ringing sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; and cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. $200,000 LIBERTY BONDS SUBSCRIBED BY SOLDIER BOYS

CAMP LEWIS, Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 13.—The liberty bond campaign at Camp Lewis is rapidly gaining momentum. The 166th depot brigade, comprising less than 2000 men, has subscribed $115,000 for liberty bonds, the ratio running practically $57.50. Subscriptions from the entire camp total more than $200,000.

Military authorities at Camp Lewis yesterday asked the active co-operation of Tacoma and Pierce county in their fight to keep vice and its attendant evils away from the soldiers at the army post.

A private meeting was held at the court house yesterday, attended by Major David L. Stone, construction quartermaster; the four superior court judges, the three county commissioners, and prosecuting attorneys. The object of the conference was to give the army authorities control of the amusement zone strip of land near the army camp by condemnation proceedings as soon as possible. This was promised by Judge Clifford, who is hearing the case.
