REVENTLOW ADMITS DECREASED SINKINGS BY SUBMARINES

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 17.—Count Von Reventlow, minister of the German admiralty, publishes in his newspaper, the Times of Berlin, an article regarding his readiness for a decrease in submarine sinkings in September, as a result of the German activities, publication of which is about due.

In addition to his earlier explanations of the decrease in the figures of tonnage sunk, Von Reventlow advances the theory that Great Britain had withdrawn ships from service for the remainder of the year, in order to have them in readiness to transport the Argentine harvest in January.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor: One of your correspondents asks in yesterday's issue about the "preacher" who contributed to the Mail Tribune tobacco fund for our soldiers.

It was pure reluctance to swing my name in the paper which caused me to ask the editor to credit the contribution to the "preacher."

Senator Robinson's Stinging Rebuke to Senator La Follette

Cones of the Congressional Record just received contain the speech of Senator Robinson of Arkansas in reply to Senator La Follette's defense of his alleged seditious talk. The speech was made in the closing hours of the special session and the dispatches carried very little of it. It is well worth reading, as it is a complete answer to La Follette's specious plea. Seldom has the senate rung with such bitter denunciation of one of its members. As a patriotic utterance, it surpasses all speeches of the present war. It reads in part as follows:

It is a singular thing to me, Senators, that a senator of the United States should consume two and a half hours in denouncing his government and have not one word for his flag, not one word for the commander-in-chief of the armies of the United States, not one word for the encouragement of the men who have already been sent to the far-stretched battle fronts of Europe and who are now upholding with their lives the honor, the dignity and the safety of this great nation.

Not Free Speech

If I entertained the sentiments which the senator from Wisconsin has expressed in this presence this morning, I would not wait for the United States senate to pass upon the question of my loyalty or disloyalty; I would seek the companionship of those whom my discussion and my sentiments are calculated to support.

Mr. President, the senator from Wisconsin, in St. Paul some days ago, is charged with saying that the United States went to war for the purpose of vindicating the right of venturous citizens to ride on passenger vessels transporting ammunition. I want to know from senators now assembled whether they believe that is an exercise of the right of free speech. The senator from Wisconsin is one of the best-informed men in the United States senate. I want to know from you, sir, whether or not you believe that was a statement of the conscientious sentiments of the senator from Wisconsin. If he believes that the United States is involved in this conflict for that cause, or if he believes that is the principal cause which brought the United States into this conflict, his attitude is justifiable; but where does he get his information?

Germany Forced War

The whole speech of the senator from Wisconsin is based upon the erroneous assumption that the United States declared war against Germany and forced war on her. We did not do such thing. The United States recognized a state of war which had already been existing between the United States and Germany for many months, for some years, and that state of war was brought about by the brutal, lawless, disregard by the German government of the rights of American citizens and of the sovereignty of this great nation. A senator who can find it in his heart to say, here or elsewhere, that the United States went to war for a trifling cause is, to say the least, lacking in the information which a senator should possess.

Protection of Citizens

The senator, during the course of his address, referred to the failure of the courts to protect citizens of the United States in the exercise of their rights as citizens. I was astounded when, in the beginning of his address, he made the statement that government agencies, acting under the authority of the executive, are invading the private houses of loyal citizens, are arresting innocent and loyal American citizens in jail, without warrant and without cause; that government officers are violating every private and sacred right of the people of this government. Passing over the references made by the senator in Minnesota, taking the speech just made as the basis of my address, I say to you that while I cannot find language within the rules of the senate to appropriately characterize the statements uttered on this floor this morning by the senator from Wisconsin, if I entertained those sentiments I would not think I had the right to retain a seat on the floor of the United States senate. I would apply to the speaker for a seat in the luncheon-park.

To Exempt Germany

The correct construction of his resolution is that it is designed to prevent the allies, in case of victory, from compelling Germany to indemnify Belgium for the misery and depopulation which she has so lawlessly brought to that kingdom, for the wreck and ruin which has followed in the path of the German armies as they lawlessly invaded the kingdom of Belgium. It will be remembered that at the outbreak of the war Germany invaded both Belgium and France. She justified her invasions of Belgium on the ground of alleged military necessity, and the Kaiser promised indemnity at the end of the war. He recognized that he was treating as traitors and denouncing them as more "scums of paper." He said that in order to carry out the military purposes of the German army it was necessary to violate the sovereignty of Belgium and to invade her, and that when the war was over Germany would make reparation for that damage.

Germany violated the sovereignty of France. What was the excuse given for the invasion of France? She said French aviators had dropped bombs on the Luxembourg railway line. That statement, like the statement about munitions on the Lusitania, was proved to be false. The German who gave that information to the Senator from Wisconsin made that affidavit concerning the Lusitania afterwards pleaded guilty to perjury. German agencies, equally false, have denounced as equally false the statement that French aviators, before the outbreak of the war, dropped bombs on German railway lines.

It will be remembered that the

Falsehoods for a War

I have not the language nor the time to recite the many brutalities imposed upon the people of Belgium by the German army. If I could command your attention and express these outrages in language that would accurately describe them, your blood would boil in horror. I shall not speak of German wrongs against foreign nations. I shall speak of German wrongs against the United States, which the senator from Wisconsin and every other senator here has sworn to vindicate.

The United States was forced into war with Germany. We have not gone to war. The war has come to us. Before the congress recognized the existence of a state of war, the German government, with insufferable barbarity and cruelty, had committed many acts of war against the United States. Every known peaceful means was resorted to by the president in his efforts to preserve neutrality, but the rulers of Germany misjudged our prudence and forbearance as cowardice and grew more and more aggressive until it became apparent that we must fight or be destroyed.

SHETLAND PONIES CHILDREN'S PRIZES

PORTLAND, Oct. 17.—Three beautiful, high-bred Shetland ponies, the pick of the famous imported drove owned by Russell Hawkins in Tillamook county, are to be given as prizes in a war essay contest open to all school children of Oregon. The contest is to be conducted in connection with the enrollment campaign of the United States food administration, to stimulate interest in National Enrollment week, which will be October 23 to November 3, inclusive.

The ponies were secured for the purpose by Federal Food Administrator W. E. Ayer, who wired to Mr. Hawkins, now in Chicago, offering to pay shipping charges on the ponies to the railroad station nearest the winners, if Mr. Hawkins would donate the ponies. The agreement was made and the animals, which will be the best of the drove, will be awarded in three divisions, for children under 14 years, children between 14 and 17 years, and those over 14 years, in the high schools. Details of the contest will be announced later.

J. H. Clark has gone to Bellingham, Wn., for an extended stay.

M'CORMICK FINDS FRANCE RESOLUTE

PARIS, Oct. 17.—Morrill McCormick, representative-at-large from Illinois, was the guest of honor at the representative of the American committee at a luncheon given today by French visitors and deputies.

"I was depressed," he declared, "by the thought that I would find France depressed, but have been fortified in my faith by her vigor. As I traveled west the little towns and their farms march to all the rest of the world with a serene, I am France has no other equal."

"Over the battle of the fallen over here and over there, over the broken ruins of Belgium, France sees thru the smoke and the star of victory—and which still endures—glorious, victorious France."

25 CENTS DESTROYS YOUR DANDRUFF AND STOPS FALLING HAIR

Save your hair! Make it thick, wavy and beautiful—try this.

This, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is a mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life! Eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrivel, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danduff tonight—not any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Kwonlong's Danduff from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that fine, lustre and assurance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.
