

BOYS AT THE FRONT SERVING UNCLE SAM

The Mail Tribune will publish in a column each week interesting letters from our soldiers and sailors and news items concerning their movements. The Association of Mothers, Next of Kin requests that letters for publication be furnished to M. C. Barber, chairman of the committee, not later than Thursday of each week.

Hoboken, N. J., April 4, '18.

Dear Brother: Just received your letter today and I was so glad to hear from you that I was writing an answer to you. We landed yesterday and had a splendid voyage. The old Atlantic is just like a mill pond all the way across, this trip, and on this old boat I would think you were tied to a plank. We made the same port we did at trip and there is not much to say about that as you have been there and know the place. Speaking about Ireland, we do not stop there at all because when we hit the war zone we are at it full speed, we do; but one morning when we were going across the last time it was very clear and we could just see it off in the distance, but barely see it. That same morning about 6:30 o'clock, when I was slow on watch as I had the 4 to 8 watch, we were about six hours out from port in the Irish sea, a submarine periscope on our port bow took a look at us, and the destroyers that were convoying us were after it in less time than it takes to get all about it, and dropped a couple of bombs down to it and blew it to pieces. One of them stayed right there and circled around and later picked up a couple of bodies of Germans, so you see it was a good night nurse. When the depth charges exploded it shook the big ship and sounded like they were firing a big gun up on deck. We thought for a few minutes that the tin snail had got us, and you ought to have seen the boys look at one another for a minute. It was funny, all right, not scared, but just kind of napped out of their hop, you know, and in a few minutes they rang for full speed and you ought to have seen them grab the slice bars and hoses and to after those fires. In a few minutes they had her popping off, making about 24 knots. And then at noon we dropped the hook in the Mersey and the fun was all over.

We brought back a bunch of destroyer men with us and some of them who went over last spring, told me that when they first went over the Irish sea was just covered with floating things from sunken ships, pieces of wood, life boats, rafts and all kinds of junk, but now you can see nothing at all on the water, for I have been on deck while crossing it four times. In January, 1917, the subs averaged 25 ships a week and in January, 1918, the big sum of five a week. Some difference, what do you say? Kind of looks like Uncle Sam was knocking the kaiser's hope to starve England with his subs into a cocked hat. It is claimed that out of 10 U-boats that leave the base now, one returns and on this trip we brought back the first German prisoners taken by the United States. They were sailors, the crew of that sub that surrendered to the United States S. torpedo boat Fanning. She dropped a couple of canisters and disabled them and they came to the surface and surrendered, so you can see the boys are on the job. The Germans could run a good bluff on the English with their U-boats, but when the United States boys got on the job they found they would not run for port when they saw a periscope, but they ran the wrong way for comfort, so when they see the United States torpedo boats they lay low and don't take any chances. At one time the subs were the terror of the sea, but at present I read in a lime paper a piece by a lime admiral, where he called the United States torpedo boats the terror of the sea. And in the war we have lost only one of them, the Jacob Jones.

Well, old timer, this is all the bull I have to shoot at present, and hoping it find you in as good health and spirits as myself, I will close with best wishes for you all.

Your brother, E. K. W.

Same old address, E. K. Woodward, water tender in the navy.

This writer certainly has a vivid way of expressing himself. To be sure what he says is interesting in itself, but he describes so very well, one sees as he does.

Robert Morris left Friday morning for Bremerton. He does not know what his work will be, and doesn't care. He is in the service, in what line is of lesser importance.

Letter No. 2, April 20, 1918.

Dear Mother—I'm over across the seas now, but I am not permitted to say much in the letters I write you.

We are quartered in an old building which was built in the early days and occupied by the monks and nuns. The building was later occupied by some of Napoleon's troops and was the headquarters of some division of his army. We have visited and seen buildings with as much historical importance as this in other countries as well as in this. If you find any part of my letters cut out, you will know that the censor has not approved of something I've written. There is lots that I could say if I were only permitted to say it, but when I get back home, I'll tell you all about the whole works, that is all I know about it.

Some mail came today and as soon as it is sorted out we will get it. Don't know whether there is any for me or not, anyway there should be and I shall be tickled to death to get it.

For dinner today we are going to have steaks and apple pie, that's rather extravagant for us, but guess we will be able to eat it.

Today I received your letter and if anyone was glad to get a letter I certainly was. I also received a letter from grandmother and some others. Tell Dad that I am all right and not to worry about me, because I'm all right. Of course a fellow gets "kinda" under the weather once in a while, but he always comes out right. So don't worry about me.

We had a nice trip across the water. I was not bothered with any seasickness, in fact there were but few who became sick.

They say tomorrow we will get our second class mail. Today's was all first class.

Well, must close now.

A letter pleases a soldier over here a lot. Love,

Pvt. Carlton Martin, Bat. E. 65th Art. C. A. C.

Ernest Carpenter and Earl York left Hoboken for Europe last week, Tuesday the seventh. The convoy hasn't announced yet its safe arrival, as Arthur Carpenter will telegraph immediately, and has not done so. "Good by, good luck, God bless you."

The first Medford boy to write from the front was Frank Hubbard. Then he wrote that he was sitting on his helmet, writing on his gas mask, he was in the trenches. A letter to his mother four days later than his description of the trenches, might have been written on the banks of the Rognon, even to the bunk he slept in which was four feet long and two feet wide and two men slept in it and it was very comfortable.

Faurest Wilson is in the same company, but has written nothing of trenches. He did however, write one letter on the inside of a used envelope about the time Frank Hubbard wrote which was strange if he were where he could get paper as before. Ralph Norris writes that he has not been in as yet, with the "yet" emphasized. Edwin Rueh of Rueh, is in the same company of marines as Frank Hubbard and Forest Wilson, but has not been heard from since the drive began.

Before very long the German emperor will be able to read with understanding, Victor Hugo's story of the battle of Waterloo. "Was it possible that Napoleon should have won that battle? We answer, No. Why? Because of Wellington? Because of Blucher? No. Because of God." Napoleon had been denounced in the infinite, and his fall had been decided on. He embarrassed God. Waterloo is not a battle; it is a change of front on the part of the Universe.

Somewhere in England, April 11, 1918.

Dear Dad and Mother:

We've been wondering what the folks at home were doing so thought I would scratch off a few lines to let you know how I am getting along since I wrote my last letter.

Seventeen of us have been put in quarantine for eight days and left behind, but will join our company just as soon as our quarantine is up which will be some time the last of the week.

Our quarters are better than we expected. A big tent with a floor in it and an oil heater. A big stove out doors to heat water in, which makes it real comfortable. The feed we get is not what we have been used to, but will keep us alive until we get home again.

Every night we get around the stove and live over some of the good old days again when we used to eat mother's cooking, and made out a big bill of fare of what we are going to have when we get back.

One of the boys said last night that if I ever wanted to remember him on his birthday, after the war I sure could by sending him a meat loaf and a loaf of bread like you had in my lunch on the train when I went through. The bread over here is all war bread and the people don't know what white bread is, and we are getting the same way, for the last time we ever had any was on the boat coming over.

Say, if you ever want to send me anything, send me some chocolate candy and soap and tobacco as you can't get anything like that over here. In fact, except over here is impossible to get, and about the only kind you send is chocolate candy in bars, so don't forget it.

Well, I will have to close for now, and hope you are all well, as I never felt better in my life. The only thing that could make me feel all together again would be to stick my feet under the family table again.

With love to all. Your loving son, MYRL GARNETT. Supply Co. 65th Art. C. A. C.

When the ban is lifted, the whole town ought to unite and send a carload of chocolate to these blessed boys.

Ralph Norris wrote home that he had read a special edition for Oregon troops published in Portland which was the best possible, and he wished to thank Mr. Putnam for the same from Jackson county. It told everything he wanted to know and he wanted Mr. Putnam personally thanked.

How would you like to make this kind of an examination?

"We flew in close fighting formation of sixes, that is, six of us in the formation and it was good enough to pass the instructor O. K. He came up in a Curtiss with 150 h. p. Hispano Suiza motor in it and looked at the formation from all sides. So now I am all through except that I have to do four hours of night flying, but there is nothing to that, so I should worry."

The ambulance boys from Medford were out for night practice while ago, and had some excellent experience. The trail is nothing but a few wisps of paper and they got lost, went five miles out of their way and got in at 12. No lights, of course, just such driving as they would do at the front. Sherman had a scriptural name for war in '65, which the difference in war methods now makes wholly inadequate.

The Association of Wives, Mothers and Next-of-Kin will meet at the library next Tuesday at 2:30 p. m.

Somewhere in France,

Dear Mother and Father:

I received your letters dated March 20th, March 23rd and 19th. Maybe it didn't seem good, was the first mail I have received since leaving San Francisco. Today was our first mail day. I received 10, I believe. Everybody received a lot of mail. They say that it will come about twice a week now. It takes about a month in transportation.

The pictures were fine. I am glad you sent them.

I guess the old 7th is getting pretty tired of Columbia. Hope some of the boys get over pretty soon. Tell them to write once in a while. We are located in the place I mentioned in my last letter. Have been here for about two weeks. The bunch is being gradually broken up. Our various members are being sent to school. You do not know what minute it will be your turn. Gates is the only one from Medford that has left us so far. As for war news, you can hear more in the United States than here. Don't worry about us fighting right away, but when we do they will sure know that something hit 'em. You can rest assured that when our turn comes, we will make a good showing and as good as any Frenchman or Englishman that ever fought. We are sure feeling fine. Our eats are even better than those received at Stevens. At the present rate our chances for being overfed are pretty strong, but nevertheless some chocolates would taste good. That is about all you can send. I am going to send mother some French embroidery soon. Now write real often and I'll do my best writing. Regards to the crowd. With love, LELAND, Sergt. Leland Noe, 65th Art. C. A. C.

It may be that boys from other towns can write as well as ours, but they will be doing mighty well, if they do.

The experience George Gates had in his father's business has proved a time saver over here. The motor truck

Relief from Eczema

Don't worry about eczema or other skin troubles. You can have a clear, healthy skin by using a little Zemo, obtained at any drug store for 35c, or extra large bottle at $1.00.

Zemo generally removes pimples, blackheads, blotches, eczema, and ringworm and makes the skin clear and healthy. Zemo is a clean, penetrating, antiseptic liquid, neither sticky nor greasy and stains nothing. It is easily applied and costs a mere trifle for each application. It is always dependable.

After Three Years.

Many men and women are sick and don't know it. Some never discover they have kidney trouble until they apply for life insurance. The kidneys are working all the time, filtering poisonous waste out of the blood stream, and when they become weakened or deranged, headache, backache, pains in sides and groins, so-called rheumatism, languidness, swollen joints and other symptoms develop. W. B. Moss, Ogden, Ark., writes: "Foley Kidney Pills relieved me of severe kidney troubles of three years' standing."
