TUESDAY HOTTEST DAY—SHOWERS BRING A CHANGE

The hottest day of the year so far and which will probably stay near the summer's record, was yesterday when the mercury in the government thermometer on top of the Garnett-Corey building shot up to 100 degrees, which was two degrees higher than that of Sunday, the highest previous temperature. The heat of last night caused much sleeplessness throughout the city.
The thunder showers in the foothills and this morning and the slight rainfall in the valley made it seem as though the heat spell was being dissipated, but this afternoon the weather again became uncomfortable after the welcome coolness of this forenoon.
The weather prediction for tonight and Thursday is "probable showers—not so warm tonight." This morning's maximum temperature, and this was before the rain, was 84 degrees. The heated spell of the past week, something unknown for early June for many years, has undoubtedly shortened the grain crop of the valley. The heads of the grain are just beginning to fill out and unless there comes a good rain very soon the crop will be still further shortened.
On the other hand much hay has been cut and is still down all over the valley, and if there should be a heavy rain before it is gathered in it will be considerably damaged.

THREE SPECIAL CALLS FOR ARMY FILLED

The county draft board received three special calls for young men for special service in the army and filled them today. The first call was for three auto drivers for special service. The board selected Loren A. Fryer, Floyd Seaman and Levi A. Stagg, all of whom had volunteered several days ago. They will leave the city on June 16th for Vancouver barracks.
The second call was for a clerk for special army service and the board at once named Walter P. Dunlap, night clerk of the Hotel Medford, who had volunteered his services recently. He will leave for the Vancouver barracks on June 18.
The third call was for seven men for limited service as army laborers. The board will not give out the names of the men selected to fill this call until Thursday. They will depart for Vancouver barracks on June 16th.
Seven of the 12 young men who will be sent by the draft board to Portland next Friday or Saturday to take a course of special training along mechanical lines were voluntary enlistments, altho registered men. They are Cecil C. Clements, Chester Smith, Curtis Darby, Fred H. Smith, Robert Baker, W. C. Edmonds and John Truisty. The other five to make up the county's quota of 12 for this course were drafted. All young men for this training must have at least a grammar school education and certain special qualifications.

EXTENTION OF TIME FOR SHORTLINE ROADS

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Director General McAdoo today requested Congress to extend the time within which short line railroads may be taken over by the government to January 1, 1919. The law now fixes the time as July 1 next. A resolution embodying the request was prepared by Senator Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the interstate commerce committee.

OBITUARY

TAYLOR—Roland Robert Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Logan C. Taylor, died June 1, 1918, at Much, Ore., at the age of seven months and 28 days. The little one was laid to rest in the Jacksonville cemetery Sunday, June 3, 1918. Rev. A. H. Gammons officiated.
DUNHAM—Mrs. E. A. Dunham died in Klamath Falls June 10, 1918. She is a daughter of the late Wallace Bessent. She is survived by a husband and two children, Dorothy and Don, also by three brothers and two sisters. The body will arrive in Talent Wednesday evening and private services for relatives only will be held at the residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Bessent. Services for the public will then be held at St. Francis cemetery Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

ROAD TO CRATER LAKE NATIONAL PARK NOW OPEN

All reports received from Crater Lake the past few days indicate that within the next 10 days the snow will be practically gone from the immediate approach to Crater Lake, and that the tourist season at this great wonder will open much earlier than usual.
The Medford bankers, William G. Tait, John S. Orth and Vernon Vawter, attended the state bankers' convention at Bend and made the round trip by auto, with Leslie Rodgers, the Klamath Falls banker, visited Crater Lake last Sunday on the return trip.
About 10 miles from the lake they took the pinnacles road branching off from the Bend-Klamath Falls road and drove to within half a mile of the lake from the Sand creek side, where they were stopped by a large snow drift. Behind them came a party in a Ford car who shoveled away the drift and drove their car straight up to the rim of the lake. This point is the lowest part of the lake rim and is about opposite the phantom ship.
The bankers' party, however, left their Hudson auto and walked the half mile to the rim of the lake, where they took their time in enjoying the wonderful sight.
James T. Grievé, the Prospect land-lord and storekeeper, who was in the city today, reports that the Crater Lake road is now open all the way between Medford and Klamath Falls. Tourists have been going in on the Klamath side since last Saturday.
Alfred Parkhurst, of the Crater Lake company, leaves Portland Saturday to open the hotel at the lake.

Already it has come to us children who were referred by nurse, to dentist or doctor, for advice have done so and corrections recommended by them, were seen to.

FREDRICK WARDE AT RIALTO TONIGHT

In "The Heart of Ezra Greer," the Pathe Gold Roster play at the Rialto today and tomorrow Frederick Warde has the title role, that of a kindly old valet, whose one treasure is his pretty daughter. By stints and saving, Ezra is enabled to send her to a co-educational college. The girl falls in love with a wealthy student. She elopes with him, believing he means to make her his wife. Later she leaves him, is ashamed to return to her father and supports herself and child by sewing. Ezra finally enters the young man's employ, not knowing of his past. Unwittingly he signs his daughter's marriage, reforms his employer, and in the end brings happiness into the life of his child.
"The Heart of Ezra Greer" was written by Lloyd Lonergan, and directed by Emile Chautard. Supporting Mr. Warde are Lella Frost, Lillian Mueller, George Froth, Thomas A. Curran, and the talented Sadieley children, Helen and Gerald.

The class yell, written by Fern Wing, is as follows:
Green and White, Green and White
Go Over the Top with the Green and White
1918—Out of Sight
Medford Seniors—We're Alright.
Our Farewell
(Words written by Arnel Butler. Music composed by Jeannette Butler.)
We're a jolly bunch of seniors
From the class of old Eighteen;
We're the finest bunch of seniors
That the school has ever seen.
But we're going to leave our high school
On our graduation day
And to our friends and schoolmates
This last adieu we'll say:
CHORUS 1
Good-bye, Medford high
Our high school days are over
We're going to leave, we can't believe
We'll be with you no more
So long, every one
We're sorry we can't stay;
But fortune's call has claimed us all
And we'll be on our way.
We've been a peppy class of students
Since the year of fresh Fourteen
Our rough-house Freshman party
Only proud we weren't so green.
Now all you Under-classes
Whose ambitions run amiss
Just profit by example
And take advice from us.
CHORUS 2
Good-bye, Medford high
And friends we leave behind
But don't forget you won't fret
But wait until your time.
Good-bye, don't sigh
You'll be Seniors too;
It won't be long before we're gone
Then we'll leave the floor to you.

LIBERTY TEMPLE TO BE BUILT AT EUGENE

EUGENE, Ore., June 12.—A "Liberty Temple" will be erected here, according to C. D. Horver, president of the Bank of Commerce. He received permission from the council, in behalf of the management of the war savings stamp drive, to build a frame structure at the intersection of two streets. This will be an attractive structure and can be used as headquarters for all war activities. It will be allowed to stand as long as the war lasts.
Writing of the musical comedy "Oh, Boy!" due at the Pace Monday, June 17, Thomas Nunan in the San Francisco Examiner, says:
A musical comedy with comedians in it has come to town.
Do not believe this if it seems difficult, but go and see for yourself. It's a show that you will want to see for yourself, and in musical comedy we haven't had many such of late.
They say it is the Chicago company that has come with "Oh, Boy!" The principals are good enough to be credited to New York's famous Broadway. The organization is a great boost for China's dramatic reputation.
The only girl that, so far as I know, is really a San Franciscan, has the distinction of being a principal—and in this instance it is "some" distinction. I refer to Lavinia Winn, who plays opposite the leading man, Joseph Santley, and who therefore might be called the leading woman but for the circumstance that Dorothy Maynard plays more or less opposite Santley, also, one girl being the bride in the amusing story, the other pretending to be the bride.
Miss Winn made her stage debut about a year and a half ago. Her success in the east has been phenomenal, and four weeks ago she assumed the present important role, taking the place of Ivy Sawyer when the latter was compelled by illness to give it up. She has developed into an excellent little actress. She always had a good voice and now she sings better than ever. Her role, which carries the romantic element of the plot, is especially enlivened by several captivating songs. Last night her friends greeted her with enthusiastic and well-deserved applause.
Miss Maynard impersonates a youthful actress who breaks into the apartments of a young man in her effort to escape arrest. The young man has just been secretly married and his bride, the character assumed by Miss Winn, has gone home to her parents in order that the marriage may be kept concealed. The role of the make-believe bride is a lively one, and complications pile up rapidly. Miss Maynard looks the part exquisitely and sings well, and she possesses a fine sense of comedy.
The work of Joseph Santley should make him as popular here as he has been in the east. He is a very young man, of appearance such as may justify or at least excuse the eastern girls for making a matinee idol of him. His acting is the big feature of the show.
The principals go way above the average. Laurence Wheat didn't Hooverize in San-making. Hugh Bradbury has an "India-rubber" face that gets a laugh with every change of expression. Lemore "Chippendale" and Lillian Bregard make much of two important character roles.

THIS WOMAN SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, One of Thousands of Such Cases.
Black River Falls, Wis.—"As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation, I cannot say enough in praise of it. I suffered from organic troubles and my side hurt me so I could hardly be up from my bed, and I was unable to do my housework. I had the best doctors in Eau Claire and they wanted me to have an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound cured me so I did not need the operation, and I am telling all my friends about it."—Mrs. A. W. Rinzler, Black River Falls, Wis.
It is just such experiences as that of Mrs. Rinzler that has made this famous root and herb remedy a household word from ocean to ocean. Any woman who suffers from inflammation, ulceration, displacements, leukorrhoea, nervousness, irregularities or "the blues" should keep Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound in her home, and for special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham, Medford, Ore., Lynn, Mass.

One of a Series of Informative Articles on Dental Hygiene—No. 6
What Are The Six-Year Molars?
WHEN the child is about six years of age the six-year molars appear. There are four of them—two in the upper jaw and two in the lower. They come in after all the temporary teeth have fallen out, and they are the last temporary molars on each side and in each jaw. They are very often mistaken for permanent teeth, and it is at this age most commonly that the temporary teeth are removed. If any of the six-year molars are allowed to be lost by decay, it is a loss which cannot be replaced. No one can replace the space in the future which will be occupied by the permanent teeth after it has been removed. These four permanent molars do most of the chewing for a period of five years. They keep the jaws straight while other teeth are coming in, and they are the only teeth in the jaw that are not necessary and need to be kept. No other teeth are so necessary and important as the first permanent set of six-year molars.
