Word has been received by Mrs. Burgan of the death of Mrs. Mary Ames at Salem at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reynolds, old residents of Talent. The message stated that she had been walking around in the garden the day before and had had a bad attack upon her arrival a month ago, but seemed very much improved; that she had retired at 9:20 Wednesday evening and immediately her breath appeared to be growing weaker and weaker as the night advanced and at after 3 o'clock Thursday morning she quietly and peacefully passed away without a struggle. The funeral took place at the home of her friends and was conducted by the Baptist minister, a pastor of her own denomination, she being a member of the Baptist church. The grave was a mound of floral offerings bespeaking the many friends she had made in her short life while with her friends. We who had the privilege of her friendship can bespeak her sterling qualities and we are indeed grateful to these friends who have not alone taken her into their heart and home but who have carried out the instruction of the Master—"As ye have done it unto the least of these was unto Me."

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett
Last Saturday night Horace Gippert, mother, brother and sister, of Butte Falls, and Rev. M. C. Davis and wife of Wolf Creek, were among the guests at the Sunnyside; and on Sunday morning after leading the Bible class in the Sunday school Mr. Davis preached to a small audience one of his good, old fashioned gospel sermons, but at night after the exercises of the Christian Endeavor society were over, he preached to a good sized congregation, who, after listening to his sermon gave him a cordial greeting and expressed their pleasure in meeting him once more. He used to preach here quite often when he was the traveling evangelist for the Congregational Sunday school and church, and has a host of friends in this county who are always ready to give him a cordial greeting.

Among the guests at the Sunnyside Sunday in addition to those already mentioned were Mr. and Mrs. Archie Ash, Mr. and Mrs. Earnest M. and C. Kee, daughters of Medford, Mr. Charles Clark of Table Rock, William Coy, B. E. Haney, wife and mother, Mrs. Smidt, of Medford, J. A. Thomas, wife and son of Eugene; Mrs. Yockey and daughter, Miss Helen, Mrs. W. A. Herman, also of Medford; George Wamsley and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Meyer, Guy Pruitt and Clifford Hickson, R. E. Thomas and Y. C. Milend of L. C., spent the night with us.

Mrs. Amos Ayers, wife of our depot agent, went up to Elk creek Monday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Trasty.

Our school election passed off very quietly Monday. There was an unusually large attendance, as there seemed to be an effort on the part of the minority to have a change in the school board. After the statement by the retiring director, Mrs. L. K. Haek, of the financial management of the district, showing that by such judicious management that there had been a saving of considerable money to the district and demonstrating the advantage of having the high school department, the meeting was called to order in due form and the report was made by the clerk, W. C. Clements, showing that the district was in a healthy condition, and stating the object of the meeting, the chair called Mr. S. B. Holmes to take the chair during the election. Before Mrs. H. called Mr. Holmes to the chair, the clerk read the resignation of William Perry as director and the resignation was accepted, and then the nominations were called for the directorship. Mrs. Henk was nominated for re-election and Sam Coy was nominated to take her place on the board. The result was Mrs. H. received 28 votes and Sam Coy 19. Then nominations were called for a director to fill the unexpired term of William Perry and the name of Mrs. Mary Brown was called and there being no other, the clerk was instructed to cast the vote for Mrs. Brown. Then came the tug of war, the nomination for clerk, and the following names were called and as fast as called refused to accept. W. C. Clements, the retiring clerk, and he positively refused, then J. V. McIntyre, S. B. Holmes, G. W. Wamsley, Roy Ashpole, Lottie Van Seoy, Mrs. W. L. Childreth and Mrs. J. V. McIntyre, and they all declined the honor, and then some one named Mrs. W. H. Brown, and as she was not present to protest, she was elected. But now comes another difficulty, for it is one thing to elect a person to an office and another to make them serve, and in this particular instance it is the "office seeking man," for there seems to be no one who wants it. And whether they can force the present incumbent to hold over or not is a question, for he is an United States officer, the postmaster, and can he hold two remunerative offices at the same time? So it seems to be up to the board to provide a clerk. So far as Mrs. Henk is concerned as a school director it is generally conceded that during the four years that she has been director that she has taken more interest in the school than any one in the district and I heard one man that was in a position to know, say that she had done more to build up the school than any one in the district and still he was opposed to her re-election.

George Nichols, Jr., and Earnest Klinge of Lake Creek and S. S. Engle of Prospect were with us Monday night. They were driving a band of cattle Mr. Nichols had bought of Fred McPherson up to the Dead Indian range.

L. H. Jargens and son Hartel, of Orton, Wash., were through here looking over the country Tuesday, and Mrs. Fred Frey and her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. C. Elder of Lake Creek, were passengers for Medford on the P. & E. Tuesday.

Maxfield, who lives north of here five or six miles, left one and a half dollars with George Brown and Sons, our merchants, to subscribe for the Medford Mail Tribune, and W. H.
