ALL MEDFORD SAYS GOOD-BYE TO SOLDIER BOYS

Following an aggravating delay of four hours, due to train 14 being that late, the contingent of 60 drafted young men from Jackson county left the city at 11:35 a. m. today in a special car attached to the train for Camp Lewis to begin their military service.

A large crowd of relatives and friends and citizens generally waved hats and handkerchiefs, and shouted expressions of good will and farewell as the train pulled out from the depot. Both before the train's arrival and after its departure there were many wet eyes in the crowd, but Medford and Jackson county people, tho with the same deep emotions as when the other military contingents have left Medford, have learned to better control their feelings and put on a bold laughing front to send the boys away in as cheerful a mood as possible. Hence there was less of tears and weeping today than on former similar occasions.

Train 4 Hours Late

The selected men and their relatives and friends from all parts of the county, were on hand long before 7:35 a. m., at which time the train is regularly due, and when Sheriff Jennings finally announced that the train was reported three hours late the crowd groaned. The sheriff announced that the members of the draft contingent would be dismissed until 10:30 to do as they pleased, and the boys with their girls, mothers or other relatives strolled around the city. Later on the train was marked up as not due until 11 a. m., but it was 11:35 before it finally came.

The long wait was very harassing and nerve trying to both the draft boys and their relatives. They had said their preliminary farewells a number of times and while hating to see the time come for the final one yet earnestly desired it over as quick as possible. Then, as always on such occasions, when the train did arrive there was such a hurry and scramble to get aboard, that in the confusion there was no time for formal leave taking.

Each Wears Ribbon

Each man of today's contingent wore a white ribbon with the words "Jackson County" printed on it. This was an innovation in the departure of local draft troops and besides drawing all to soon-to-be fellow soldiers closer together in home ties and community feeling, enables the man in charge of the contingent to better keep track of its members. George Edwin Dunn of Ashland, son of Judge Dunn, was put in command of the contingent by the draft board. County Clerk Gardner and Chief Clerk Howard of the board were present at the depot all forenoon with Sheriff Jennings in looking after the departure of the boys.

AUTO THIEVES ROB ORCHARDS OF FINE FRUIT

Fruit thieves and vandals are causing much loss to orchardists by their depredations. They travel in autos and it is suggested that if neighbors and passers by who notice suspects will take the number of their car the thieves will soon be under lock and key.

One of the boldest and meanest pieces of fruit vandalism came to light yesterday afternoon when it was discovered that within the past few days thieves had stripped eighty rods of fine Queen Anne trees of every cherry at the Westerlund orchards, and in their hurried work broke many branches and otherwise injured the trees. They stripped 40 rows of one row of single trees and then worked on a double row of trees for quite a distance. These trees are remote from the orchard dwellings.

It so happens that a neighbor's attention was attracted to the thieves, and he or she obtained the number of their auto. Mr. Westerlund is now investigating. He is very thankful though that they did not carry away the entire orchard.

Many complaints have been received of depredations committed by passing autoists at orchards in various parts of the valley.
