

HIGH LEVELS IN STOCK MARKET WELL SUSTAINED

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The profiteering report of the trade commission, the government's attitude toward wire lines of communication, New England's labor troubles, and indications of heavy corporate fines imposed occasional restraints on this week's dull stock market, but recent high levels were well maintained.

BOYS AT THE FRONT SERVING UNCLE SAM

(The Mail Tribune will publish in this column each week interesting letters from our soldiers and sailors and news items concerning their movements. The Association of Mothers, Wives and Next of Kin requests that items for publication be furnished to Mrs. M. C. Barber, chairman of the press committee, not later than Thursday of each week.)

The war has been brought nearer to Jackson county people this week when the names of three of our own boys appeared in the casualty lists. Frank Hubbard has been wounded in action. Corporal Earl Blackden reported as missing, and Floyd Lance has been gassed, but it is believed that the effects of the gas will not prove fatal. Frank Hubbard and Earl Blackden belong to the U. S. marines who have been doing such heroic work.

Three letters have been received from Frank since he has been in the hospital. How glad we shall all be to have some good news from the other two boys. Somewhere in France, June 10, 1918. My Dear Folks: I expect you think I am slow about writing as it has been about ten days since I have written, but I have been moving around quite a little and it has been impossible to write.

I am now in a fine American hospital with a slight bullet wound in my leg and getting along fine. I don't want you to worry about me as my wound is very slight. The bullet went thru my leg without hitting the bone. I am feeling fine and it is great to sleep in a real bed with clean sheets, under a real roof and on the show great. A pretty French girl comes around at chow time and brings it to me. I don't expect to be off duty more than thirty days.

I expect you saw in the paper what I did. It sure makes a fellow feel good to get the chance we did. I don't want to brag but I think we did fine and feel that we held up our end.

Don't worry about me, I'm getting along fine. Your son, Frank T. Hubbard.

France, June 13th. My Dear Folks: I am in base hospital 101 at St. Nazaire. We are so far from the lines that they will let us tell where we are. That is a new rule. Before we could not tell where we were.

My wound is getting along fine. I can get out a little on crutches and think I will soon be able to join my company. The hospital I was in before was the best in France, but I was there only a few days, then put on a hospital train and sent to this place. The hospital trains are some class; nearly as big as our Pullmans. They are some different from the cars I had ridden in before marked "S horses or 40 men."

There is a colored porter in this hospital from the south and we have lots of fun telling him wild tales from the front. I expect you folks were very much surprised to hear that I had been wounded, but of course when you go over the top things are liable to happen. This was my first time and we did what we started out to do. We had (the censor has cut this most interesting part.)

I will have lots of time to write now so let me hear from you often. Your son, Frank Hubbard.

Wayne Sprague, after having been rejected in several branches of the service has at last succeeded in enlisting in the cavalry. His brother Richard Sprague is serving in the navy.

J. H. Cochran recently received a letter from his son Harold. He has finished his period of training and expects to leave soon for active service in the war zone on Submarine Chaser 181. The Bridgeport is his mother ship and sails with the submarine chasers and keeps them in repair. They will touch at Bermuda on their way to foreign waters.

Letters are beginning to arrive from the 318th Engineers. In this regiment are four Jackson county men, Ernest Carpenter, Earl York in company A, and Rankin Estes and Robert Ray of Ruch in company B. They all write enthusiastic letters and describe France as a beautiful country "very much like home."

May 19th, 1918. My Dear Sis and all: In my last letter I told you about our nice journey, so at the end of our journey we remained three days but did not get to see the town until we were ready to leave. Then we had about an hour before train time to walk around and see the sights. Much of the town was very pretty but it seemed queer to see the market stalls in the streets where all sorts of things were sold—fruit, meat, vegetables, etc., and the vegetables looked so good and fresh.

From there we took our train and traveled for three days and two nights. The trains are not like our they are all divided into compartments, six people in a compartment, and each car is separate from the other, so if you visit your neighbor and the train starts you have to wait until you get to another station to go back. There are no sleepers so you can guess how much sleep we had. We just had to double up in our seats. Just before we left the station our rations were given us for our journey. We had lots of fun fixing our meals, regular soldiers. The Red Cross at different stations were notified that we were coming so we were served with hot coffee.

We certainly had a trip never to be forgotten. At all places we were asked for souvenirs of "America." The children would call "Vive la Amerie." We also saw lots of our own boys and they all look well and happy and the ones at the stations were so glad to see us they would come and talk and say it seemed so good to see a woman from home. Haven't seen any of the boys we know yet.

The country we came thru is beautiful, just like a park. Green fields and flowers everywhere. Just like home, and hedge after hedge of yellow gorse which looks something like Scotch broom. There are quite a few hills but all the same color, green, not beautiful blue hills in the distance. The fields are all separated by hedges which makes it look very pretty.

We came to some very old towns. One made me think of Jacksonville in the spring, so many trees along the street, but it was a large place and much older. We were in a church built in the eleventh century. We are having loads of fun trying to make the people understand us and to understand them.

We are at a very pretty place now but we are not yet at the end of our journey, just here long enough to get a little needed rest. It has been raining but we have been out seeing the sights. The park is a wonder, a lovely big river that looks like Applegate. I'm going down again and make myself believe I'm home once more.

Tell all my friends I am well and happy and have plenty to eat and a good place to sleep. I will be permanently located soon and I would love to hear from them but our letters are limited so reserve all for home. It's lunch time so good-bye. Catherine Buckley. U. S. A. N. C., Base Hospital.

Camp Blois, France, June 4. Dear Dad and Mother: Am feeling exceptionally fine today and think it my duty to write home. I have been in the very best of health since I came to France, and am sure having lots of new experiences and sights.

We are busy preparing ourselves for health and strength to go straight to Berlin when we start. We see many pictures of fighting and the most of us are ready to give the Germans a good thrashing. I am learning the language pretty fast and the more we learn the easier it is to get along. I am sure hoping that I may soon get to the front and do something.

Our weather here is regular summer, pretty warm in the day but fine at night. We have all kinds of entertainments at camp, including boxing, baseball, basketball, wrestling and numerous other sports. John and I got separated on the boat over and I expect he is around here somewhere.

How is everything at home? What are you doing, Dad? I am doing fine along the soldier line, having learned all the different troop movements and the manual of arms. Well, I can't think of anything else to write so will close for this time, hoping to hear soon from you.

Your loving son, Leigh E. Stringfellow.

THREE POUNDS SUGAR PER PERSON IS LIMIT

Regarding the sugar situation, Chairman Folger of the federal food administration asks that every family acts as a committee to see that not more than three pounds of sugar per month is used for each person. That is the limit that can be allowed. Even with this allowance we may have a sugar shortage which it is our earnest desire to avoid.

The motto in canning must be "to preserve the maximum amount of fruit with a minimum amount of sugar." The restrictions have been determined upon only after taking stock of what we have in this country added to what we can hope to ship here from other countries. All cases of hoarding will be investigated if reported to the county administrator.
