

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

A goodly supply of cotton has arrived for the gauze room of the Red Cross and there is plenty on hand for all workers who will come. The gauze room will be open all day from now on on Red Cross working days.

Mrs. Paul Hanson, local agent for Nabone Corsets, Phone 585-H, 117.

The first public appearance of Medford's new school superintendent William Davenport, will be on Sunday night at 8 o'clock at the First Methodist church when he will deliver a patriotic address. There will be special music.

Insure your grain and hay. General Insurance. D. R. Wood & Co., No. 7 West Eleventh street.

Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Alenderfer and Mrs. A. B. Cunningham will arrive home tonight or Sunday morning from their two weeks camping stay at Prospect.

Furniture packing and crating. Douglas, 201 South Riverside. Phone 162-J.

The fire department was called Friday afternoon to Peach street to extinguish a threatening grass fire.

McElroy's jazz band. Gold Hill open air pavilion. Monday night, July 15.

Clarence S. Cramer, former principal of the Washington school and formerly of the Seventh company, writes from Fortress Monroe, Va., where he had been taking the officers training course that he had been commissioned second lieutenant and expected to sail for France within a few days.

Men's, women's and children's canvas shoes at cost. No. 10 South Central.

H. N. Albright, acting director of the bureau of national parks is expected to pass thru Medford this evening and stay between trains 54 and 16.

Pull line of camp goods. C. E. Gates Auto Co.

C. A. Peterson of Gold Hill, was a Medford visitor Friday.

W. B. Thompson of Gold Hill, was a recent Medford visitor.

Reliable repairing at Pacific Highway Garage.

A jolly auto party which had been touring California arrived at the Hotel Medford last evening from Crater Lake and left today for Seattle. Those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Burt, Dr. Sanford Glum, and Mrs. George F. Bingley of San Francisco; Mrs. W. A. Sherlock and Mrs. Clarence Dunlap of Alturas, Calif., and Miss Nellie Cornish, Herman Schoenfeld, J. H. Newberger and Henry Ayers of Seattle.

Everybody's going. McElroy's jazz band. Gold Hill, Monday night, July 15.

Mrs. G. C. McClain and daughter left today for Klamath Falls to join Mr. McClain, who has been employed in one of the mills there for some time. The family expects to return to Medford by winter.

For the best insurance see Holmen, the Insurance Man.

Sergeant Clatus McCredie who was only recently discharged from a military hospital in New York, is here on sick leave visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. E. Loeber, Miss E. Junker and Will Junker of Stockton, Calif., auto tourists who returned from Crater Lake yesterday, left the Hotel Holland this morning for Portland.

William G. Tait leaves Sunday for a business visit at Portland.

The local Girls National Honor Guard chapter dance will be given in the large hall at the Natatorium tonight. A five-piece orchestra will furnish music.

Storage batteries for all cars. C. E. Gates Auto Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett N. Palmer of near Central Point, are spending the summer in Seattle.

The recent hot weather has taken a great deal of snow from the heights of Mt. Shasta. It is reported that very little snow now remains on the mountain, much less than at the same date last year. The snow nearly all melted from the mountain last year and it is thought it will be entirely melted by the last of August this year.—The Siskiyou News.

Now is the time to insure grain. R. A. Holmen protects you against loss by fire, while standing and while being harvested, threshed and in granary.

In Justice Taylor's court Friday H. P. Lynch, the Wagner creek rancher, appeared to answer to a charge of using water lawfully denied him by Fred Cummings, the district watermaster. The case was continued until Monday to give Mr. Lynch time to consult his attorney.

Some dance. McElroy's jazz band. Gold Hill, Monday night, July 15.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Martin of Klamath Falls and Mr. and Mrs. John McCarthy of Enterprise are among the Oregon visitors registered at the Hotel Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Montgomery with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Unger of Roseburg, left this afternoon for a day's visit at Crater Lake. Mr. Unger is in the Southern Pacific tramcar for this division.

All kinds of wood, mill blocks and planer shavings at Valley Fuel Co. All fuel strictly cash from now on.

Frank Gagnon, the crippled colored man, was discharged at his trial before Justice Taylor yesterday on the charge of setting a grass fire at Willow Springs, on condition that he at once leave the county. Gagnon, who has only one foot and is seemingly well educated, is a hobo, and immediately on his arrival in jail after his arrest proceeded to take a bath and cut his hair. He claimed that the grass fire he is accused of starting ignited accidentally from his camp fire.

A few minutes work and some top dressing will restore that old faded top. C. E. Gates Auto Co.

Miss Anne McCormick went to Rogue River this morning to give a war bread demonstration in that vicinity.

Mitchell sharpens lawn mowers. 26 South Riverside.

Miss Ruth Sharp will leave for Portland next Monday following a three weeks visit with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Sharp.

Mrs. Haney for hemstitching and peering. Garnett-Corey Bldg.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Bowers of Lawton, Okla., are spending several days in Medford. They are touring the Pacific coast and will make a trip to Crater Lake here.

Federal Card Tires are here. C. E. Gates Auto Co.

Among the auto tourists at the Hotel Medford last night and today were Mr. and Mrs. George Burt and Miss George Burt of San Francisco, R. V. Keable and party of San Jose, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Jensen of Bakersfield, Calif., Mrs. J. W. Welser and Miss Anna Welser of Fresno, Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Whipple of San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wilson of San Francisco.

Pacific Highway Garage still on deck.

Medford soldiers who are now attending field artillery officers' school at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., are Don Newbury, James Vance and Everett Corey, who were transferred to Camp Taylor from Camp Lewis.

Spoko-tite will fix that loose wheel. C. E. Gates Auto Co.

Miss Dorothy Stewart left this morning for San Francisco, where she will take the nurses' training course in Lane hospital.

Don't just ask for oil, insist on Vedol. C. E. Gates Auto Co.

O. V. Myers leaves tonight for a several days business trip to Portland.

Upholstering, mattresses made over and furniture repairing. Douglas, 162-J.

A big time is expected at the B. Y. P. U. meeting at the Baptist church at 6:45 Sunday evening. The meeting will be in charge of group one. Ralph Raymond is chairman and B. F. Neff, leader. The church orchestra of seven pieces will play. There will also be special music.

Daily's Taxi. Phone 18.

Rev. John W. Hoyt, Presbyterian Sunday school missionary has just returned from a six hundred mile missionary tour of Lake and Klamath counties, visiting places in the region of Merrill, Bly, Lakeview, Summer Lake, Fort Rock, Crescent, and returning over the Crater Lake mountain.

Dr. Helme, Garnett-Corey Bldg.

Chairman Polger states that the regulations regarding beef and pork do not apply at present to any of the states west of the Rocky mountains. We have at present absolutely no restrictions on the sale in Oregon of beef and pork. There are no meatless days and the only thing is that people have been requested not to exceed two pounds per week per person in their consumption of meat.

Your neighbor's new car may be his old one painted with Murphy's Cote Varnish. C. E. Gates Auto Co.

Mr. Churchill, conservation chairman, writes thanking the people of Jackson county for the splendid record made in going on a wheatless basis and returning the flour for shipment to Europe. There was only one dealer in this county that refused to sign the agreement. Every other merchant gave the movement unqualified support. We have done our best to help our men in the war.

George Given, who owns a farm on Rogue river in Eagle Point district, was a Medford visitor Thursday.

Among visitors in the city registered at the hotels today are E. P. Putnam of Denver, Perry K. Hamilton of Cleveland, Samuel P. Bush of New York City, C. E. Cotton of Fair Alto, T. K. Burk of Seattle, Mrs. John C. Perry of Santa Monica, Peter Ruhl of Yuma, Ariz., W. E. Burt, James A. Scaring and D. E. Greer of Portland and A. Griffin and W. A. Wilson and Arthur Parnely of San Francisco.

Mrs. J. M. Schuler and daughter left for their home at Sisson, Calif., today after a several days business visit in Medford.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kopp of Valley City, N. D., who were visiting Mrs. Douglas Burzen at Talent, a former North Dakota neighbor, left Friday for a sojourn at Long Beach, Calif.

Corporal William G. Davis, who has been in the aviation service for the past seven months and stationed at Vancouver barracks, arrived in the city this morning on a 60 hours furlough for a visit with his mother, Mrs. M. E. Davis, and sisters, Mrs. W. A. Hooker and Mrs. T. E. Miller.

Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Van Scoyoc and children ran down to the city from their outing camp on Elk creek near Trail for a few hours yesterday afternoon and returned last night. This week they will make a side trip to Crater Lake. They will not return home until the latter part of the month.

Mrs. J. H. Ross and daughter of Ashland are guests at the Hotel Medford.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.

Ben C. Sheldon, of Medford, and E. V. Carter and G. A. Briscoe, of Ashland, were in Eugene Wednesday on their way to Portland, where they will meet representatives of six eastern Oregon cities and will begin organization of a campaign in favor of the normal school measures that will appear on the ballot this fall. The measure providing for two additional normal schools in Oregon—one in the southern and one in the eastern part of the state—is similar to the measure that has been voted on before.—Eugene Daily Guard.