WHITE SLAVER AND ARMY SLACKER UNDER ARREST

Chief of Police Hittson and Night Officer Timoth in arresting two men and women, strangers in the city, who were residing in a small rented house on Riverside avenue, evidently not only rid the city of evil company, but also apprehended a man thought to be a crook, an infected white slaver and a slacker from army service.

The latter, who gave his name as James Charles Fredericks, was taken in charge by the federal authorities and taken by Deputy United States Marshal Tichenor to Portland last night.

The other man, Jim Cornell, who with his sister, rented the house on Riverside, is held on a vagrancy charge and will be tried in police court late today or on Wednesday. His sister and another woman were taken before County Prosecutor Roberts for questioning, but because of the lateness of the hour were released to come back the next day. They fled from the city. The party had only been at the house a short time and came to Medford from California.

The white slavery accusation against Fredericks, who is about 30 years old, consists in his having brought Hazel Lora Emery from California to this city, put her to work, taking her earnings. It is also said that at the Riverside house a number of young women came from California to visit him. When arrested by Chief Hittson last Saturday Fredericks claimed to be 33 years old and therefore beyond draft age, but the chief found a registration card in his pocket. Tools such as are used by burglars were also found in his possession. Letters also proved that he was a slacker.
