EAGLE POINT EAGLETS
By A. C. Howlett

Among the passengers on the P. & E. Thursday were Mrs. A. C. McDonald nee Agnes Allen, youngest daughter of John M. Allen of Derby, Ore., Mrs. McDonald was on her way from her home in Portland to visit her parents. Her husband has been drafted and is preparing to join the colors, and Mrs. McDonald has preceded him in their visit. Her many friends around this section are glad to have her among us again.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hildreth of Butte Falls come out with Harry Mills, the manager of the Butte Falls Milling company, on Monday and Mrs. H. stopped off at the Sunnyside to see Dr. Holt as she is on the sick list and Mr. H. went on to Jacksonville on business, returning that night and joining his wife at the Sunnyside, where they spent the night.

Mr. R. A. Petty, who is living on the Thomas Riley Jr. place, was a caller Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Pearl Simble of Medford come out on the P. & E. and took passage on the E. P.-L. C. stage to visit her mother, Mrs. Gus Nichols, on Salt creek, Tuesday.

John Roberson and his company, who went to the huckleberry patch just this side of Crater lake, returned Thursday. John says they had a nice time but that it was very cold there at night. They did not succeed very well in procuring berries as none of them knew where to go to get the best results.

Mr. R. A. Wiedeman came in Friday to consult Dr. Holt. He is troubled with something like poison oak.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Fox of Central Point and Miss Eades of Portland, who have been out to the Dead Indian Soda springs for the past five or six weeks, returned to Central Point Friday.

J. H. Cardon and wife came in from their ranch Friday bringing in Mrs. Frank Gueren of Portland, who has been visiting her aunts, uncles and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hoagland of Central Point, who had been up to the Dead Indian Soda springs with Mr. and Mrs. Fox, also returned Friday evening.

Green Mathews, one of our wealthy farmers and stockmen, was doing business here Friday.

Uncle John Thomson was among the diners at the Sunnyside Friday.

Mr. E. L. Rountree was a business caller Friday.

Roy Ashpole, one of our hardware merchants, made a business visit to Gold Hill and Medford Friday, bringing back with him two loads of dynamite.

Mr. N. L. Hawk of Derby was on the P. & E. stage Monday on his way home.

James Culbertson of Lake Creek and one of his sons motored into Eagle Point Saturday and remained a few minutes only in town.

G. A. Sanders, the foreman on the Antelope orchard, M. C. Logan and C. J. Kaffer of Brownboro, were here for dinner Saturday. Mr. Kaffer is our meat man and Saturday he had trouble with his car so he had to bring his meat around with a mule team, but he gets there all o. k., but not so quick. Mr. Charles Humphrey of Derby called later for dinner and while here renewed his subscription to the Weekly Mail Tribune.

He is hauling wood out here to supply the demand next winter.

P. F. St. Clair has also paid up for his subscription to the Daily Mail Tribune and ordered it discontinued as he starts Saturday for the state of Vermont.

Alex Vestal took in a truck load of swine Thursday to Medford.

ASHLAND AND VICINITY

Word has been received here that the Ashland soldier boys who went east recently via Spokane, have arrived at Camp Mills, a notable military center near New York.

The teachers at Soda Springs next term will be Miss Grace Davis in the upper district, and Mrs. Nell Peachey Dunn in the lower district.

Mrs. Pearl Dodge, local representative among recent graduates of the Southern Pacific training school at San Francisco, is now employed at the University Avenue railway station in Berkeley, Cal.

Dr. Gordon MacCracken, surgeon in the medical reserve corps, is a welcome visitor here on brief furlough. He ranks as captain in the service. He is on his way to San Francisco, having filled assignments at Fort Worden and Pullman, Wash.

Sid Wise, who formerly managed a local movie show here, is visiting his children and numerous friends in this vicinity. He now conducts a confectionery establishment at Camp Lewis.

Zenas Moody and Frank Blevin have just completed the transportation of a lot of equipment from the Ashland mine to the depot, where it was shipped on Saturday to the Plymouth Consolidated Gold Mining company, in Amador county, Cal., one of the leading properties in the Mother Lode group. This machinery aggregated about 39 tons in weight, some of the individual pieces being large and cumbersome, especially the pebble mill which weighed six tons, a massive affair in one solid piece. The equipment was never in use here, having been dumped on the mountain side near the site of a proposed stamp mill when the prospects of reopening the mine's activities were at their zenith. The men were about a month in actual time on the moving job.

Jack Morris, pioneer merchant here in specific lines several years ago, is revisiting Ashland, accompanied by a friend, Clyde Sharp, who is looking about this vicinity with a view of locating. Mr. Sharp is engaged in the stock business and Jack is dealing in general housefurnishings.

Gerald Wenner, former bookkeeper in the First National bank, and member of the original First Co. of Ashland, is home on furlough. His recent assignment has been at Fortress Monroe, Va., pursuing intensive training. He now ranks as sergeant-major of artillery. From here he goes to Puget Sound.
