DIXIE SOCIETY HOLDS REUNION AT ASHLAND HALL

The Dixie Society reunion and picnic at Ashland yesterday, originally scheduled to be held in Lathia park, because of the threatening weather and through the hospitality and courtesy of the Ashland ladies was held in the ladies auxiliary hall of the G. A. R. building, was attended by several hundred valley people former residents of the south and their descendants. Following the consuming of the bountiful spread of good things with chicken leading, and the many guests all seated at long tables there was an interesting speaking and entertainment program.

The welcoming address was given by Colonel Mingo, the president of the society. Addresses were also given by Dr. Charles T. Sweeney, Newcomb, Rawley Moore and John Bill. The remainder of the program consisted of a humorous history of early days by Bert Greer; a reading on Scotland by Mrs. McKinzie; a violin solo, "Mocking Birds," by Fred W. Mader; vocal solo, "Dixie" and with violin accompaniment, by Mrs. Samuel Wagner of La Pine; reading of an original poem descriptive of the south in remembrance of her parents who were southerners before they came to Oregon with the first emigration in 1843, by Mrs. Ray Lathwell; address along the lines of Red Cross and other women's work, by Mrs. John Crews, and address by Mrs. Charles L. Schieffelin.

Mrs. Schieffelin, who was the last on the program, talked along the lines of organized work for women, and finished with a request for the women present to come forward and organize a chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy to be known as the Southern Oregon chapter. Enough members were obtained to insure an organization and a meeting will be called in the near future to perfect it.

Following this was more good fellowship and the happy gathering parted with the promise of meeting again on June 3, 1919, for the annual picnic and reunion in memory of the "Dear old Southland."

HUN PRISONERS IN SIBERIA MOBILIZED

VLADIVOSTOK, Tuesday, Aug. 12.—(By the Associated Press.) The situation in western Siberia leaves no room for optimism, in the opinion of the vice president of the Russian section of the Czech-Slovak national council. In a statement recently he said that mobilization of Austro-German prisoners of war had added 160,000 men to the enemy forces. He said it would be impossible to reach Irkutsk, even under the most favorable circumstances, in less than a month.

The position of the Czech-Slovaks may become precarious if assistance is not speedily forthcoming. Their numbers are diminishing, owing to sickness and impossibility of renewing supplies.

"THE UNBELIEVER" IS SOUL-STIRRING PATRIOTIC PICTURE

The United States marine corps cooperated in the production of the greatest war film since "The Birth of a Nation"—"The Unbeliever," adapted by Edison from the startling story by Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews, "The Three Things." The essence, the heart, the very soul of the story is thrown into the picture with dash and crash and smash, just like the marines went over the top at Chateau Thierry.

Marguerite Courtot and Raymond McKee are the featured players; and their respective roles, the Belgian refugee and the youthful marine, Miss Courtot achieves a distinctive triumph thru her forceful interpretation of the brave little Belgian martyr, a part that represents the noble spirit of Belgium surviving the devastation wrought in the wake of the Hun. The portrayal of this spirit, sketched with fine appreciation of its significance, inspired Miss Courtot to a broad understanding and a delicate treatment.

Raymond McKee carries the pep and punch of the U. S. A. into France and Belgium, where ruthless realism carves his soul to its complete development. The subtle blending of a buoyant personality and an impressive sincerity marks Mr. McKee's marine with unique success. The cast includes Darwin Karr, Eric von Stroheim, Earl Schenck, Kate Lester, Blanche Davenport, Gertrude Norman, Frank deVeron, Mortimer Martini and Harold Hallacher.

Several officers of the marine corps are cast in important "bits" and their representation of discipline in the trained maneuvers of the marine battalion give the appearance of the soldiery in "The Unbeliever" a convincing military aspect. This super-feature will soon be shown at the Rialto theater in this city. Watch for the date—for no true American can afford to miss it.

RUSSIANS WELCOME ALLIES WITH IVY

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The population of the Murmansk region received with joy the British force that landed there recently, according to an allied dispatch, which has arrived in London from Petrograd.

"I was in Murman when the British troops arrived," he said, "and am quite unable to describe the pleasure that the arrival caused. Old men and women wept with tears of joy, crying: 'At last Russia will be saved.' The peasants, workmen and aristocracy know that Germany is their enemy."

"Never has the situation been so favorable as today for the presence of the allies in Russia."

SMALLER QUOTA ASKED FOR COUNTY IN BOND DRIVE

Mayor C. E. Gates arrived home today from Portland where he attended the meeting of the state central committee of the Oregon Liberty loan organization, consisting of one member from each county, to discuss the coming Liberty loan campaign. Various matters pertaining to the campaign were discussed, but Mayor Gates states no inkling was obtained at the meeting of what the quota of Oregon will be except the general impression is that it will probably be far in excess of the amount of the last Liberty loan.

The mayor was delighted over the passage by the committeemen of a resolution which may result in much good to Jackson county in the way of decreased quota. In cooperation with committeemen from other sections he worked for its passage to such effect that it went thru unanimously, even the Portland committeemen voting for it.

The resolution called upon the Federal Reserve bank at San Francisco, which will have charge of fixing the quota for Oregon and each of its counties, to give the southern Oregon valleys where crops are poor and those sections of eastern Oregon where the crops were a failure because of the drought special consideration when making up the quotas because they receive no financial benefit whatever from war munitions and supplies and should be given credit for having gone over the top against great odds in the previous Liberty loan campaigns.

THE TRUTH ABOUT CANDY. The Story of a Chocolate Cream. IS IT A FOOD OR IS IT A SON'S ESSENTIAL LUXURY? It depends entirely on what is in it and what the food value of the contents is. In the first place, what is a chocolate cream made of? The principal ingredients are: Cocoa, milk and sugar, which, mixed, make the chocolate. Milk, sugar and some corn syrup make up the filling. Every one of these ingredients is a food product of highest worth. No one questions their separate food values. We all know that milk, cocoa and sugar, making chocolate, forms a wonderful food. No one questions the food value of milk. We all know that sugar is an essential food. And when nuts are added to the chocolate creams, as is often done, another splendid food product is added. Taken separately, each is high in food value. Naturally, combined into a delicious confection, they are equally high in food value. All these ingredients are food products which the human system craves and demands. That is why the active man, woman and child like this combination of these food products which we call "candy." Because of the food value of candy, soldiers crave it. The food value of candy has been forever established through the necessities of this war. The soldier, after a hard day's work, needs candy. His system craves it. It is a real want. Shipyard workers, loggers, men and women doing all kinds of heavy work, crave candy because it supplies the need for something sweet to supply bodily fuel. Growing children require the sugar in candy to supply them with carbohydrates. The child craving for candy is becoming recognized as the young body's need for fuel—not as an abnormal appetite. The thing is not to deny all candy—give candy rationally and normally, like you supply any other food. —In normal times the candy industry uses only 8 per cent of the sugar used per capita in this country. Right now this amount has been cut squarely in two. The Candy Manufacturers of Oregon.
