A sale of interest in the business district transpired this week when Court Hall sold his half interest in the large two-story Young & Hall brick building on North Front street, in which Moose hall and the Optimo cafe are located, for $12,500. The purchaser was Mr. Hall's sister, Miss Pearl Hall, the well known Lakeview, Ore., school teacher who had been visiting here for some time and is now visiting relatives at Myrtle Creek. The building has a 75-foot frontage on Front street.

If you would like to step into an established paying cash business, one that has been carried on in the same location and under the same management for years, on one of the best business corners in Medford, you should be interested in replying to this advertisement. The owner's only reason for selling is that he wants to outfit. Although over the present draft age, he feels that it is his duty to dispose of his business and enter the army, where men with his particular qualifications are needed in ever increasing numbers. He has three brothers in the service, and he wants to make the family record for volunteer enlistments one hundred per cent. The business is for sale at a reasonable price, on a basis which will enable the buyer to earn a good return on his investment. A live man can make a good profit out of this deal. Would prefer cash, but will consider all or part trade. Address Box 62, Mail Tribune.

ADAMS ELECTED COMMANDER G. A. R.

PORTLAND, Aug. 22.—C. E. Adams of Omaha, Neb., was elected today commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic for the coming year. The new head of the organization served in the Civil war in the Fifth Wisconsin battery fourteenth army corps under the command of General George H. Thomas, and General Sherman.

The election of Mr. Adams was made unanimous. J. G. Chambers of Portland, Ore., was chosen senior vice commander in chief.

The delegates to the G. A. R. convention placed themselves on record as favoring a war for the unconditional surrender of the foe and an even more vigorous prosecution of the war than hitherto.

HUNS FORCED BACK.

the line over which the British attacked yesterday. In this region the Germans seem to have slowed up the British. The same may be said to be the situation on the hills north of Soissons. Little progress has been reported in this sector for the last few days. Last night's German official report, however, told of the French reaching the plateau north of Juvigny but said they were driven back.

There have been no reports of fighting from Lassigny north to the Somme.

With the fall of Lassigny and the high ground surrounding it, the German resistance in that region is said to be relaxing. From Lassigny General Humbert is in a position to outflank Roze and Noyon by advancing toward Nesle.

General Mangin is reported to have increased by several thousands the 10,000 prisoners taken up to Tuesday night. On the Italian mountain front east of Lake Garda the Austrians have become more active. Two attacks against Italian positions have been repulsed.

KILLED WOMAN BY OPERATION TO PLEASE PRINCE

PARIS, Aug. 22.—The German newspapers have become the most reliable authenticators of the Hun reverses. During allied victories the Germans are fed by their press on domestic quarrels, scandals and other notorious matter. Not a word is given out regarding conditions at the front.

This was especially true in the recent offensives. Practically no space was devoted to the great battles. Scandals and domestic troubles were aired in the columns of every paper. Amoral matters was a notorious hospital affair. Professor Max Henkel of Jena was being tried for the death of a woman on whom he had operated.

According to the Berlin Tageblatt, he was frequently visited by Prince Bernhard of Lippe, who took a morbid pleasure in seeing women operated on. Once when the prince called, Professor Henkel summoned a woman for an internal operation.

He was told the woman had just breakfasted and was not ready for the operation. However, he had the stomach pump applied, despite her protests, gave her an anaesthetic, and operated. She died in half an hour. He was acquitted on the ground that another physician, chief witness for the state, was as notorious a brute as he was and his testimony was valueless.

SOCKEYE SALMON RUN A FAILURE

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 22.—Sockeye salmon, it now is definitely established by fishermen and packers, are to be added to the list of food stuffs of short production this season. Ordinarily the fish should have started running July 6 to 15 and increase in volume until August 10, but there has been no appearance of the fish in numbers to date and operators are discontinuing production in Puget Sound.

Thus far it is reported that the traps are taking about 25 per cent of the pack of 1914, which was an off-year for sockeyes, and the average catch for purse seine boats has not been over 300 fish for the four weeks period, with less than 2,000 fish for the haul with the highest record. On this showing, fishermen state they have not earned operating expenses.

Unless the unusual happens in an extraordinarily heavy belated run of fish, the fishermen, it is said will be heavy losers this season, owing to their war time costs of nets and equipment and the general increase in the cost of conducting their operations.

The Companionable Woman

Men marry for companionship; some get it and some do not. No woman who is dragged down with ailments peculiar to her sex can be a fit and happy companion for any man. There is, however, one tried and true remedy for such conditions in that famous old root and herb medicine, Lolla E. Plinkham's Vegetable Compound, and no woman who is afflicted with displacement, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, headaches, nervousness or "the blues," should rest until she has given this good old-fashioned remedy a trial. It will restore health and influence your whole life. Adv.

UNCLE SAM ASKS KIDDIES TO GATHER MORE FOXGLOVE

CORVALLIS, Aug. 22.—Gathering of digitalis or foxglove by school children and other patriotic Oregonians should be pushed with vigor, according to word received by President W. J. Kerr of the Oregon Agricultural college from the office of the surgeon general, Washington, D. C. Thus far this year, 1,400 pounds of digitalis have been shipped from Oregon under the direction of Dean Adolph Zieffle of the School of Pharmacy. Dean Zieffle hopes to make another shipment this year of 500 or 600 pounds and to send at least 2,000 pounds between now and next August. Those who wish to help along a good cause are asked to write Dean Zieffle for instructions in regard to the handling of the plants. Large quantities of tincture of digitalis are used in the army. It has proved the best remedy for shell shock.

"The digitalis leaves gathered under the direction of Dean Zieffle," reads a letter from the office of the surgeon general, "have been sent to the University of Minnesota for conversion into tincture of digitalis. The army will require a large quantity of the tincture and it is fortunate that we were able to get in touch with Dean Zieffle. I understand that the Oregon digitalis is of excellent quality and I assure you that the assistance in this matter rendered by the citizens of Oregon is appreciated by this office."

RECENT SENSATION IN GOLDEN GATE'S SOCIAL HISTORY

"The Finger of Justice" pointed to the lost souls in the most vicious and wretched plague-spot the Pacific coast ever knew. Rev. Paul Smith saw it and quickly plunged to the rescue, alighting in the mad center of Barbary Coast, the veriest maelstrom of vice in swiftness, gurgling frenzy. Mobs threatened him with fatal violence. Clans of the wicked habitues gathered to assassinate him. The strength of the great official arm of San Francisco was exerted to save his life, but nothing could destroy his divine purpose to rescue the withering souls in that reckless hotbed of sin.

The sensational and romantic manner in which he did this recently in the wicked city of the Golden Gate constitutes one of San Francisco's most grippingly thrilling stories through its entire history of business and social evolution and revolution.

In a most astounding, smashing, thrilling story of love, politics and the underworld entitled "The Finger of Justice or the Fall of Barbary Coast," told in a beautiful reel-film, one of the most sensational chapters in the social history of the coast is visualized on the screen of the Rialto theater on Friday and Saturday, afternoon and evening. It is a story of reformation that all should read in picture. Crane Wilbur, as Rev. Paul Smith, is the star of the play; and he impersonates the "Fighting Parson" with fetching, clutching realism. It is a startling story, with a sweeping climax.
