The vain attempt of Buster Brown, the diminutive actor from St. Louis who with his dog Tige gave an advertising exhibition this afternoon at a local theater, to keep Tige in his room at the Hotel Medford this morning, recalls the lift that Landlord Emil Mohr, who has had a positive rule for years of no dogs allowed in guests' rooms, had with a leading actress who smuggled her valuable pet dog to her apartment. "Madame you cannot keep that dog here as it's against our rules," said Mohr. "The absurd idea!" was the indignant response. "Why, this is a house dog." "Yes, I know," rejoined Mohr, "but this is no dog house."

St. Leger, farther south. They have captured Ervillers, two miles east of Courvelles. They are still advancing. The situation at Thiepval was uncertain this morning. La Boisselle and Orvillers were reported to have been wrested from the enemy.

Many Guns Captured The town of Miraumont appears to have been surrounded by the British.

The British are reported to have reached Biefvillers, one and a quarter miles from Bapaume. Fighting is going on there and in the vicinity of Mory, some distance to the east of Arras-Bapaume road.

A battle is raging furiously in the vicinity of Bihucourt and Sapignies. The Germans are trying desperately to save Bapaume.

There was some heavy fighting in Flanders this morning on a small scale in the neighborhood of Draunoutre ridge, in the Lys salient, which is reported to have been captured by the Germans.

On the other hand, the British gained some ground in the same region and the fighting continues. Many more prisoners have been taken everywhere.

Last Night's Fighting

The battle continued successfully for the allied arms last night. The British advanced everywhere and the enemy suffered heavy defeats.

Achiet-Le-Grand was reported taken late yesterday after heavy fighting. The British advanced beyond Bihucourt. At the same time the British still were driving the confused Germans before them east of Hennin and further south at St. Leger and Ervillers.

Sharp fighting has taken place along the Irieles-Grevillers road. The Germans are clinging to Miraumont on the Anere northeast of Albert, fighting desperately.

German prisoners say that it was expected that the British would stop at the Arras-Albert railroad and the unexpected success against them had confused the German forces.

Tired Troops Sent Back Tired and depleted German divisions that had been withdrawn from the battle since August 8 are being rushed back into the fight. Troops from the enemy's reserve divisions, which had been held for counter-attacks, also have appeared along the front.

British advance troops at one time last night reached Sapignies, just north of Bapaume, but they were pushed back slightly by an enemy counter attack. They are reported to be re-attacking this village. Behagnies, just to the north, has been taken.

The third and fourth British armies have since August 8 captured more than 30,000 men. Two thousand were taken yesterday south of the Somme. The British fourth army has captured nearly 5000 in the last two days. The prisoners counted since August 8 total 20,146 men and 598 officers.

1000 Killed at Once North of the Somme a large number of guns have been captured. They include complete batteries of howitzers and trench mortars. Immediately south of the Somme 12 guns have been taken by the British.

South of the Somme 1000 Germans were killed in one combat. They were closely huddled in front of the British, instead of being in the customary open order. The allied casualties are very small.

Tanks participated heroically in the fighting yesterday, it is reported. One engaged in a duel with a battery and silenced the German guns. Another group of tanks co-operated with a group of airplanes when the latter attacked German anti-tank guns that had been strategically located at the head of a gully thru which the tanks had to go. One tank suffered seven direct hits and all the crew were wounded except the pilot, who kept the monster running, finishing off a machine gun nest and brought the wobbly, badly damaged tank and wounded comrades back safely thru the enemy fire.
