COOS FOLLOWS JACKSON'S LEAD FOR PUBLIC NURSE

To the Editor: You may be interested to learn that Oregon now has a second county in line in the matter of employing a county public health nurse. On Aug. 23 the county court of Coos county voted to employ a county nurse.

Jackson county blazed the way for this splendid work in Oregon and Coos county has been quick to follow example. Indeed, we feel that the people of Coos deserve special credit because, unlike Jackson, no preliminary health survey had been made here to prepare the way for the demonstration of public health nursing.

When I came to Marshfield the 7th of July it was for the express purpose of conducting the preliminary health survey only. But, in less than six weeks, public sentiment in favor of a county nurse had grown so insistent that I began to plan for an organization. Our Coos County Public Health Association held its first meeting at Coquille on Aug. 21 with a good attendance from every part of the county. Two days later a strong, representative committee headed by L. J. Simpson waited on the county court and obtained a favorable vote.

The county nurse is given most splendid support here. There has been practically no opposition whatever to the proposition and a large majority, including the most influential people on the bay, have been openly and aggressively in favor of employing a nurse.

Our Oregon Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis which is financing and directing this pioneer work is certainly doing the state a wonderful service and its avowed goal, "Every county in Oregon with its own public health nurse," is one in which all broad-minded citizens should feel a most lively interest.

It gives me pleasure to pass on to you this word of the growth of the work in Coos county for I know of your interest in the cause and remember with grateful appreciation your championship and loyal support during the campaign in your county.

JANE C. ALLEN, R. N.
Public Health Nurse.

JACKSON COUNTY BANKS SUBSCRIBE FOR CERTIFICATES

The Federal Reserve bank of San Francisco has published a list of banks subscribing to United States treasury certificates of indebtedness, issued in anticipation of the Fourth Liberty loan.

At the beginning of the offering of these certificates on June 25, the secretary of the treasury announced that each bank in the United States would be expected to purchase certificates in an amount equal to 2 1/2 per cent of gross resources every two weeks. Oregon banks exceeded their quotas by a subscription of $18,727,500, or $3,129,500 over quota.

The purpose of this issue of certificates of indebtedness is to supply the funds required by the government to meet current war expenses during the interval between Liberty loans. The certificates will be paid at maturity in cash or may be exchanged for any of the installments of the Fourth Liberty loan.

Jackson county banks have subscribed as follows:
