KAISER CONVINCED NO ENEMY CAN BEAT GERMANY

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 2.—Emperor William, replying to a message from the municipality of Berlin on the occasion of Sedan Day, declared that he was firmly convinced that no enemy will ever be able to shake the strong structure of the German empire.

"I know that the whole German people are ready for all sacrifices; that it is at one with me in the firm determination to obtain an honorable peace. No other people is able to accomplish what the Germans have done at the front and at home in heroism, energy and loyalty to the death for our existence and for our holiest rights."

GALLAGER TELLS THRILLING TALE

For the first time since returned soldiers have been visiting Salem on speaking tours, Sunday and Monday this city heard a first hand description of the sinking of a hospital ship.

One of the stories he told concerned his trip across the English Channel. The boat was laden with 300 stretcher cases and 150 walking patients. The lieutenant was one of the latter.

A torpedo struck the ship in the dark and she began to list rapidly. Two British destroyers rushed to the scene and the German wounded prisoners on board the LaFrance cheered, thinking the vessels were coming to their rescue.

PROTECTING WHEAT GROWERS.

BY PROCLAMATION the president has fixed the minimum price for wheat for 1919 at the prevailing schedule with $2.20 a bushel as a base. A commission to be named next spring will determine whether the wheat grower is entitled to a higher price on account of the increased cost of production.

The action is taken to encourage a larger planting of wheat by guaranteeing the market. The farmer who plants is assured of his fixed market and stable price, whether the war ends or not, and the loss if any, will be upon the government and people.

There is no dearth of wheat in the world—but there is a dearth of ships to transport the wheat. There are half a million bushels in Australia and India, awaiting export, and a new crop being harvested.

The British government guarantees the growers in India and Australia 95 cents a bushel for the wheat they hold for shipment, while they are holding it, while South American wheat can be bought at $1.36 a bushel.

The senate cabal which has repeatedly attempted to force a $2.50 price for wheat upon the country, which would mean additional cost to the people of $387,000,000, will probably renew its agitation for a higher guaranteed price or none at all—which latter could only work injury to the producer as the former does to the consumer.

RULES GOVERNING USE OF SUGAR DURING WAR

If you don't fully understand the present system of sugar conservation and distribution, read on; it may help you know what is expected of you by the government concerning your use of this commodity, and assist you in your shopping arrangements.

The first regulation is that no person shall consume at his meals more than 2 pounds of sugar within each 20 days, and purchases for home use must be limited to this amount according to the number in the family.

For canning, sugar can only be bought in lots of 25 pounds, or less, at a time. The first 25 pounds can be obtained direct from the merchant without a permit from the county food administrator.
