

YANKS PLANNING ASSAULT UPON NEW GERMAN POSITIONS

railway yards, the center of the German communications in this region. The roads crossing the Moselle also were attacked by the airmen. Many direct hits were observed. An enemy train was hit at Longuyon.

Pursuit troops, preceded by a barrage, carried out numerous raids and scored victories in several engagements. Attempts of German aviators to cross the American line were unsuccessful generally.

Enemy airplanes last night attacked points within the American lines. Bombs were dropped on St. Mihiel and the Germans used their machine guns against that town, but with little effect.

Captures Increasing

Reports from different points along the line show that the number of guns and general material captured by the Americans is increasing. An entire artillery park was captured at Jaulny.

Austrian prisoners captured by the Americans are bitter in their denunciation of the Germans. They accuse the Germans of leaving them in the lurch. Austrian officers declare they were not warned of the American attack and that repeated requests for ammunition were ignored. The Germans, they said, gave their entire attention to extricating themselves from the salient.

French Co-operated

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 16.—(Reuters.)—The role of the French divisions engaged in the St. Mihiel battle was to attack the head of the salient and assist the Americans in their drive against its western front, while the main mass of the Americans was pushing through the southern side of the salient. Only a few French divisions were engaged, one of which under American command, formed the extreme left of the attack on the western front of the salient. It had a powerful force of Americans on its right.

This Franco-American army started from the region of Les Eparges and advanced southeastward to join with the Woevre army from Vignacelles. Other French divisions co-operated on both sides of the blunt head of the salient. The hardest task fell to the division attacking north of St. Mihiel. It had to fight its way across the densely wooded massif of the Meuse. This division alone took 4000 prisoners, of which 2,300 were Austrians.

Kreimhild Position

St. Mihiel, cut off from the north and the south, was taken without a fight, the Germans slipping out on Thursday. Aware that an attack was imminent they had begun to retire to the Hindenburg line, or as they call this section, the "main line of defense." This "Kreimhild" position spans the base of the salient from Etain to Pakny.

The attack was launched at exactly the right moment. Had it been prepared a day or two longer, the enemy would have had his troops safely stowed away behind the Kreimhild trenches and the allies would have captured neither men nor material.

French and American forces were today in contact with the Kreimhild defenses, which are certainly of enormous strength. Yet it may be doubted whether the enemy feels safe in these intrenchments after having been driven in a day from some of the strongest natural positions on the whole front. These positions withstood some of the fiercest assaults of the war.

PEOPLE ASKED TO USE WHEAT IN AUSTRALIA

J. M. Ward, Australian government pomologist and Mr. Kelloway, a prominent fruit grower of Australia, who are in this country from Tasmania, Australia, studying horticultural methods and conditions, arrived in the city Sunday to spend a day or two in the valley. This morning they were called at County Agricultural Agent Cate's office, from where they went to spend the day at the Southern Oregon experiment station under the guidance of Prof. Riener.

They stated that in Australia the great problem was to get people to use enough wheat and the government encourages the people to use double rations of it, as that country has on hand between 200 and 300 millions of bushels because of the lack of ships to carry it away to the allied countries where it is so sorely needed. Ships only recently began to move the wheat away.

The Australians also said that it costs considerable to operate an automobile in their country as gasoline sells at 75 cents a gallon there. Mrs. Kelloway is accompanying her husband on the study trip through America.

At a meeting of the congregation, held after regular services on Sunday at the Presbyterian church, a unanimous call was extended to Rev. C. F. Meredith Beaver, bugler with Battery C, 65th artillery, C. A. C., writes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Beaver, under date of Aug. 18, from battery headquarters which at that particular time were at La Courtine, France, saying that colored troops were overwhelmingly represented at that camp. He reports the darkness as exceedingly proud of Uncle Sam's uniform and that their department was rated excellent. Musical prodigies, vocal and instrumental, abound among the colored soldiers, and the mirth and jollity incident to song and a multiplicity of instrumentation is uproarious. A game of baseball between battery representatives and the colored men was won by the white folks, the score being 14 to 8. The versatility of the American soldier is notably reflected, thru channels of amusement afforded under Y. M. C. A. auspices, and Meredith writes of some fine entertainments, all given by soldier talent, which would be rated as professional instead of amateur. The well-known triangle headquarters are in the foreground in all camps as the greatest recreational and educational factors in the soldier's existence while off active duty they also affording good cheer in the way of home comforts.

Tray Woodward, local carpenter, who for sometime past has been in the employ of A. L. Lamb, also of this city, on important bridge contracts in Siskiyou county, has traded his fine residence on north Main street to W. J. Sharp, of Medford, for property in that California city. The boys are active and industrious, and have had a busy summer at good wages at their temporary work over in Siskiyou county.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Krueger, from Waseca, Minn., have recently leased the Talcott home on Pine street. They came west on a pleasure trip also to test climatic conditions and mineral waters.

Miss Bernice Myer has returned from Castella, Cal., and together with a bevy of other young ladies from this vicinity, will soon enter the normal school at San Jose.

The recent rainstorm marooned a half-dozen Ashland families at Lake of the Woods, who between showers are coming home in relays. Beyond leaky tents, wet firewood and tough roadways, there was no serious inconvenience, tho the supply of food-stuffs was getting rather low at the last of the week. All are eager to repeat the outing next season.

The school fair to be held at Medford on Thursday and Friday of this week, will take the place this year of the usual equity event. All schools are entitled to participate, and exhibits of extra merit will be taken to the state fair for further display at this big event.
