ITALIANS PLEASED BY PRESIDENT'S REPLY TO KAISER

ROME, Oct. 10.—"The answer of the American government to the proposal of the central powers is what the whole entente, in its soul looked for," says the semi-official Stefani agency. "The terms used in answering the German note are a clear demonstration that President Wilson is aiming at a just and lasting peace."

PARIS, Oct. 10.—Rene Viviani, former premier, writing on President Wilson's reply to Prince Maximilian of Baden, in the Petit Journal says: "The note is firm without brutality; lofty but devoid of that insolence with which Germany has so often accompanied her tramping of the vanquished. It is substantial, furnishing irrefutable arguments for the reason and conscience of everybody, even in Germany. Some might have preferred that it be more trenchant, but when blood is flowing from so many gaping wounds no man can lightly answer with a simple denial such proposals."

SAME OLD HUN SAYS BERNHARD

AMSTERDAM, Tuesday, Oct. 10.—Georg Bernhard, the German political writer, writing for the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin, says that Prince Maximilian's announcement in the reichstag that an armistice had been requested was received in stony silence. Like ghosts, remembrances of former chancellors' speeches flitted thru the chamber, speeches invariably based on reports of "victorious march of German troops" he says. Bernhard bitterly complains that the prince neglected the opportunity to declare that Germany was ready to discuss with France the fate of Alsace and Lorraine and with Russia the question of border provinces. He says this omission confirms the view that the new government means to perpetuate the political conception of the old government and declares that this continuation of the only policy is extraordinarily dangerous. He concludes: "The government only puts its trust in President Wilson and a kind fate."

Coughed So He Couldn't Sleep. Bronchial coughs, tickling in throat and asthmatic spasms break one's rest and weaken one so that the system is run-down and serious sickness may result. Enos Halbert, Paoli, Ind., writes: "I had a severe cold this fall and coughed continually at night; could hardly sleep. The first bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar relieved me, entirely curing my cough." It covers irritated membranes with a healing and soothing coating, loosens phlegm and clears air passages. KEEP THE HUN ON THE RUN.

BY THEIR deeds you know them—not by their talk. The German has talked fine and uttered noble sentiments while indulging in frightfulness and committing atrocities. Prating of culture and civilization, he has practiced savagry and barbarism. He talks peace to further war and makes treaties to break them.

This characteristic treachery of the German is again in evidence. Clamor for peace, he is ruthlessly destroying occupied territory, so as to profit by the ruin of competitors in years to come. Belgian skies are black with smoke of looted villages and towns and French heavens lurid from the flames of burning cities. Compelled to retreat, the Hun is transforming a fair and fertile region into a desert.

If the German was sincerely desirous of peace, would he act this way?

Not only is the property of occupied territory being destroyed, but the population is enslaved and forced to assist in the work of destroying their homes. In Flanders every person from 15 to 45 years must labor for the Hun without pay. In Champagne, all the inhabitants capable of working, are used for the needs of the army regardless of their age. Their "salaries" are paid in paper currency at the rate of 50 cents a day as the maximum. The inhabitants however, must pay in French gold or silver for their rations. The supplies of course, were taken from the population before being sold back to them.

And this at a time when the Hun is showing the yellow, and camouflaging for peace, hoping by securing a respite to complete his retreat, shorten his line, and wear out his opponents as Frederick the Great wore his enemies out over a century ago—not seeking an honest peace in any sense of the word.

The allies should refuse to discuss an armistice until allied troops are in Berlin. Would the kaiser discuss armistice in a victorious march on Paris? Why then should the allies when they have the Hun on the run? Keep him running and for every French and Belgian city looted and destroyed, burn and destroy a German city.

Germany's disregard for all the rights of all the peoples whose principles of government and standards of commerce are planned and prescribed with an eye to world welfare, condemn her to isolation and extermination as a military menace.

Your money will help to destroy the despotism of Prussianism and return additional dollars to you.

Economize, stint, temporarily deny and deprive yourself luxuries or comforts—but buy a Liberty Bond and invest double the dollars you intended to detain for duty! End the scourge of Hunism with a mighty surge of patriotism now!

CHAMBERLAIN APPROVES NOTE SENT GERMANY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, chairman of the senate military committee, expressed his opinion today that President Wilson's inquiry in response to the German peace proposal was quite as effectively as if he had bluntly proposed unconditional surrender.

"It must elicit a reply," said the senator, "which in the very nature of things will disclose whether the German government was sincere in the original proposition for peace negotiations."

"Germany cannot comply with the 14 fundamental propositions laid down by the president without laying down her arms, withdrawing within her own borders, abandoning submarine warfare and surrendering territory heretofore taken by force of arms."

BIERUT CAPTURED BY ALLIED FORCES

LONDON, Oct. 10.—French and British warships which entered Beirut, the chief seaport of Syria on Sunday, found that the town had been evacuated by the Turks, says an official statement issued today by the British war office.

Beirut was occupied by detachments of British Indian infantry Tuesday.

OREGON CHAPLAINS USE AIRPLANES AND TANKS FOR SERVICE

PARIS, Oct. 10.—Airplanes and tanks are being used by volunteer chaplains and field secretaries with the Knights of Columbus, to serve the American soldiers over here.

Two chaplains, the Rev. John Moran, of Eugene, Ore., and the Rev. John Sullivan, of Tuckahoe, N. Y., were the first priests to make their rounds by the air route. The Rev. Mr. Sullivan uses airplanes several times a week and thus is able to visit field hospitals within a radius of 200 miles of his camp.

Airplane transportation was used by the Rev. Mr. Moran for the first time when he received two calls to say field masses one Sunday morning. The call came from villages fifty miles apart where troops were billeted. An aviation pilot solved the problem for Chaplain Moran by offering to take him to both places and he went. The result was a field mass at one village at 6 o'clock in the morning and at another mass in the village fifty miles further one at 7:30 a. m.

The Rev. Edwin O'Hara, rector of the Cathedral at Portland, a volunteer chaplain for the Knights of Columbus used a tank to fulfill an engagement to say mass to distant troops and a secretary went with him to supply the soldiers with boxing gloves and baseball material for use after the services.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gard arrived home this morning from Kelseyville, Calif., for where they had been visiting for two weeks.

The Farm Labor Army DECREASES as the National Army INCREASES

In spite of the labor shortage more food must be produced—more acreage must be put under cultivation. More work must be done by fewer men.

There is just one solution,—machinery must fill the gaps in the ranks of farm labor.

Tractors must be used—thousands of them—tractors that will actually do the things you want a tractor to do—tractors that will work on practically any kind of ground—in any part of the country.

These are exacting demands but Cleveland tractors by the thousands are meeting them effectively.

They are producing food—in larger quantities than ever before—and are consuming none of it.

They are plowing 3 1/2 miles an hour, eight to ten acres a day and under medium soil conditions are pulling in two 12 inch bottoms.

The Cleveland is an all-purpose tractor that does a wider range of work than is possible with other types. It is the tractor that works successfully on the side-hill.

It plows, harrows, sows and reaps. It hauls, does grading and road work, cuts ensilage and does the hundred and one odd jobs which are always to be done about the farm.

It is a tractor and stationary engine in one.

The Cleveland is built on the same principle as the giant battle "tanks." It crawls on its own tracks, laying
