

MONEY SPENT WITHOUT STINT AT STATE PRISON

SALEM, Nov. 2.—In the last two years the state penitentiary has expended $24,897.04 more than is shown by the amount of appropriation made by the last legislature for it and the sums allowed by the state emergency board.

This $24,897 is a part of the cash received by the prison from the sale of surplus products and other earnings which are placed in what is known as the prison betterment fund. The penitentiary received $207,455.17 from the last legislature for its maintenance and upkeep during the present biennium. In addition the emergency board has allowed $70,750. All told, this makes a total of $303,102.21 for the biennium.

In comparison with the cost of maintaining the prison under the administration of former Governor West, expenditures are now running riot at that institution. The cost of the prison during the last two years under West was $176,650.

Warden Murphy, in a statement recently issued, offers as partial explanation for the mounting cost of the prison during the present biennium the assertion that when he assumed office toward the close of 1916, the commissary was very low in supplies, and it was necessary for him to buy heavily of potatoes, parsnips, beans and other vegetables.

As Governor Withcomb, who has spent years teaching Oregonians how to farm, had been in office nearly two years when Warden Murphy was appointed, the statement that the excessive cost of maintaining the prison is partially due to the fact that it did not raise necessary farm products comes as a surprise to those who had thought the governor would make a record for the state in farming.

On September 30, 1916, which was a few weeks prior to the time Warden Murphy was appointed, 120,000 pounds of potatoes, 10,407 pounds of white beans, 3,600 pounds of brown beans, 20,000 pounds of beets, 9,000 pounds of cabbage, 20,000 pounds of carrots, 8,220 pounds of onions and other products.

HUGE AUSTRIAN DREADNAUGHT SUNK BY ITALIANS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Destruction of the Austrian super-dreadnaught Veribus Unitis by the Italians is announced in an official dispatch today from Rome.

Italian naval forces succeeded in entering the harbor of Pola, the Austrian naval base, on Friday morning and sank the Austrian battleship Veribus Unitis, the flagship of the Austro-Hungarian fleet, it is officially announced.

The dispatch says: "The Italian sailors have accomplished another great feat and have sunk the super-dreadnaught Veribus Unitis, which means the last and biggest unit of the Austrian fleet. The Italian sailors have thus retaliated for the losses the Veribus Unitis inflicted upon the Italian army during the retreat last year."

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Members of the crew of the entire Austrian fleet at Pola have mutinied, seized ships of various nationalities there and declared they will obey only their respective national councils, says a Budapest dispatch to the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin.

Italian naval units also are active against the Austrian coast along the Adriatic. More than 1000 square miles of Italian territory had been liberated by the allies up to Friday.

VIENNA, Nov. 2.—The Austrian navy department in a communication issued today says:

"On Friday morning after the fleet had been surrendered to the Yugoslav national committee, several Italian navy officers penetrated Pola, placed a mine near the Veribus Unitis and sank her. A majority of the officers and crew were saved."

ROGUE RIVER BILL OPPOSED BY STATE GAME COMMISSION

Legislation pertaining to the Rogue river has occupied so many sessions of the legislature so often that very few voters have a real conception of the situation. There have been so many misstatements, so much bitterness, so many angles, so much distortion of the truth, that the voter has literally thrown up his hands and has become tired of the controversy.

The mouth of the Rogue river is peculiar in fact, it is the only stream in the state which does not widen out as it enters the ocean. It narrows from a width of about one mile, two thousand feet from the ocean, to from sixty to two hundred feet in width, depending upon the tide, as it pours its waters into the Pacific. Therefore, the Rogue at this place resembles a huge balloon, the lower portion of which only touches the ocean. It is this peculiar formation which has given rise to the endless controversy. The salmon would enter this throat-like channel, congregate in the waters just above the narrow portion and rest there before they started upstream. In 1916 the Fish and Game Commission realizing these facts and feeling that fishing in this large balloon-shaped area was detrimental to the migration of the salmon, established a deadline nearly two thousand feet above the throat, or "jaws" as they are known in that country. Below this deadline no fishing of any kind has been permitted. This deadline eliminated the best fishing ground and a number of excellent set-net locations.

Early in 1917, at the session of the legislature, a bill was introduced establishing a legislative deadline over the deadline fixed by the Fish and Game Commission; and, in addition, this bill prohibited the use of seines and set-nets in the entire Rogue river. This bill, after being once defeated, was revived through political manipulations and subsequently enacted into law by one vote.

The measure was fostered by the upper river sportsmen who were interested in steelhead angling and who honestly believed that angling conditions were becoming poorer each year on account of the class of gear used at the mouth of the river. Conditions change frequently at the mouth of the Rogue river. A deadline established by the legislature cannot be corrected for a period of two years, and then, as a rule, only by a hard fight and a series of compromises, which do not go with the merits of the situation. The Fish and Game Commission believes that, under the power which it has, it can successfully take care of the situation on the Rogue river. This year, due to the establishment of a deadline by the Fish and Game Commission which has been in operation now for more than two years, and to the opening of a fishway thru the Ament dam by the use of powder, steelhead angling in the Rogue river has been better than for the past seven years, according to all authorities in Josephine and Jackson counties. The egg take at the Elk Creek Government hatchery on the upper reaches of the Rogue river was 150 per cent greater this year than last and was due entirely to the ability of the fish to get over the Ament dam at Grants Pass. Both these conditions cannot in any way be attributed to the law enacted in the last legislature for it has been held in abeyance by having been referred to the people for adoption or rejection at the coming election.

The Rogue river produces more canned salmon than any other stream lying wholly within Oregon. If this legislation is allowed to stand, it will have the certain effect of largely increasing the cost of production so that it will be unable to compete with other producers in more favored localities, thereby either reducing the quantity of food produced or increasing its cost. Neither you, as a consumer, nor the Government desires either event.

It is my candid and honest opinion after investigations covering more than two years along all portions of the Rogue river, that this bill is purely political in nature and does not in any way solve or correct conditions on the Rogue river. It is also my candid opinion that the Fish and Game Commission has taken the proper steps to remedy the situation and that the situation has been remedied. If you feel that political measures, which do not remedy or correct conditions, should not be countenanced, then you should vote 205 X No. The Fish and Game Commission has honestly endeavored to serve the people of Oregon to the end that both sportsmen and commercial fishermen are given a square deal. I believe this has been done on the Rogue river and that this legislation is unnecessary and does not do that which it sought to do. I feel, therefore, that the people can do a great service by removing the Rogue River controversy from future legislative political battles by voting 305 X No. (Signed) CARL D. SHOEMAKER, State Game Warden and Acting Master Fish Warden. (Adv.)

RUIN OF BOCHE ALLIES PRESSED TO COMPLETION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The debacle of Germany's allies is being pressed to completion, General March said today, and the events of the past week in the world war have resulted in the concentration of enemy resistance in one nation.

Resistance of the Germans on the west front has continued and the greatest allied advance has been registered on the Italian front where progress of 37 miles has been made. General March said the object of the allies on this front was the cutting of the Austrian line of withdrawal. "This has been accomplished," he added.

General March identified American forces in Italy as the 332nd regiment, ambulance battalions 5, 6, 11, 12 and 13, field hospital 102. In addition there are certain air service training units.

The new Franco-American attack on both sides of the Argonne already, the chief of staff explained, has progressed to such an extent that a decided pocket has been formed in the German lines, indicating the necessity of an early withdrawal from the northern portion of the Argonne forest. This would bring the American forces with their heaviest artillery nearer the main German railway line through Stenay.

General March announced that influenza conditions among troops arriving in France have improved so materially that deaths from the disease have practically stopped. A recent transport convoy carrying 25,000 men arrived at the American port of debarkation, he said, with only 78 cases of influenza.

Regimental units identified and located by General March included the 114th Engineers with the First army west of the Meuse, and the 52nd Pioneer infantry with the Fifth army corps in the same territory. These are not part of any division.

General March said the 89th Division (Kansas, Missouri, South Dakota, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona) was last reported in action October 29 between the Argonne and the Meuse.

CHROME COMPANY SUED FOR $200,000

GRANTS PASS, Ore., Nov. 2.—Yesterday a suit was started in Josephine county by Harry Kelly against J. J. Rowen and California Chrome company, involving $200,000. The complaint alleges that Kelly was half owner in a chrome mine on the Illinois river and that four thousand tons of chrome ore of the value of $50 a ton was mined and sold to California Chrome company. The complaint recites that added purports to convey Kelly's interest to his co-owner Paul Sands who conveyed the whole claim to one H. E. Shaekle who again conveyed it to R. J. Rowen. Kelly alleges that the deed to Sands was a forgery both as to his name and the name of the notary public who is supposed to have acknowledged it. When this occurred Kelly was absent in California, and returned to find the ore all taken out and sold. The name of the notary appearing on the deed is W. R. Nipper who says he never saw Kelly and never took any such acknowledgment. The case promises to develop some other exciting features when it comes to trial.

TABLE ROCK TABLETS

Miss Allen Wilson of Medford is visiting with Table Rock friends this week. Mr. Nordwick returned home Wednesday from Oakland, Calif. He reports his daughter, Mrs. Jacobson, is slowly improving. The schools in this district and Azate are closed on account of the "flu" epidemic. Though we have no victims as yet it was thought well to close the schools for a short period. Miss Sue Lydiard is home for a short vacation owing to the closing of the Central Point school where she is employed. Edward Vincent was around taking the school census Monday. He found only 26 pupils of school age in the district; only 15 of whom are attending school. Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Washburn expected to leave soon for Portland. Roy Nordwick, who has been suffering from bronchitis, is, we are glad to say, able to sit up now. A letter received by Mrs. J. L. Nealon from her brother, Melbourne Atkins, who is drilling somewhere in France, states that he is well and enjoying his work more all the time. He also sent best wishes to the Red Cross and wished to contribute his share at the next drive here. He says when a fellow gets across the water he can fully appreciate what the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. are doing for the soldiers and all humanity.
