COUNTY MUST GO OVER TOP FOR WAR WORKERS

"We are going to put Medford over the top if we have to work all next week" said W. G. Tait, chairman of the United War Work drive this afternoon. "Over half the counties in the state have reached their quotas. Portland goes over the top tomorrow, and we must and will do the same. Various things have delayed our work in Jackson county and if we have to extend the campaign beyond Monday to get our quota we will do it. We are not going to lay down now. The boys over there have done their job. Now we are going to do ours." This noon the total subscriptions in Medford and Jackson county north approximated $6500,—this leaves over $14,000 to raise in two days. This places a heavy burden upon the solicitors but they are all working tooth and nail, and if the people do their share, the goal can be reached. In the country districts solicitors are scouring their territories on horseback, the condition of the roads making motoring impossible. The Victory boys and girls under County School Supt. Ager are doing yeoman service. There is not a slacker among the workers but the people as a whole are not doing their share. The trouble appears to be not so much that few people subscribe as that those who do subscribe do not give what they should give. A concerted effort is being made now to bring subscriptions up to the proper amount. If the solicitor has not called on you go to your bank and subscribe. If you can not get to your bank call them up and tell them to charge your account with the proper amount. The state workers are determined to make Oregon the first state to go over the top. This will be impossible unless Medford and southern Oregon contribute as they have been called upon to contribute.

ADVISES AMENDMENT OF IRRIGATION LAW

"In my judgment, the way to amend a law is by an act of the legislature rather than by interpretation or construction of a statute," says Attorney General Brown in an opinion to Attorney C. M. Thomas. Mr. Thomas is attorney for the Talent irrigation district, which is inconvenienced by having to follow the provision of the law which requires irrigation districts to pay their bills by having the county clerk draw warrants on the district's funds in the hands of the county treasurer. He wanted to know if it would be all right for the district to draw a lump sum of money from the county treasurer and use it to check against in paying their bills. This would be a deviation from the plain provisions of the law and brought forth the expression from the attorney general that it is better to amend the law by legislative act rather than by interpretation. He points out that the legislature will soon convene and then if the irrigation district law needs amending it can be altered. TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY FOR SALE—Corn at ranch. E. L. Lane, Central Point.
