EM-TEES

THE FOREIGN LEGION

(By Adolph F. Smythe of the Vigilantes.) Hats off to the Foreign Legion! Your health, Sergeant Michael Mc-White!

We picked your name out at random As a rhyme of efficient F. "fight" The papers tell us you are Irish, A popular race in New York.

Where we have more sons of old Ireland Than there are in your County of Cork!

We have a sneaking affection, Mike, For you and your prototype Pat, Whose coatlines we prefer to sidestep When it comes to the drop of the hat.

We know your Serbian record, Sarge, And have followed you up ever since By the status on your musket and sabre.

Your bloody, tell-tale finger prints! Death sweaters, with lines on your coat sleeves, Dedicated to beloved France; The same samofroid in your devil-may-care

Ardent order of thrilling romance! All hail to the bold Foreign Legion, Their home any casual teach.

With their English, Irish, Egyptians, Moroccans, Poles, Belgians, French; Americans too—some immortal In the death that the young hero seeks.

Brave Rockwell and Seeger, the poet And Whitmore and Kelly and Weeks! Thrice welcome, warred men of the Legion,

Who honor our country today! America reveres the uniform Of the Legion d'Honneur four-year!

OFFICER STUDENTS CAN BE DISCHARGED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Candidates for commissions in officers' training schools, the war department announced today, may be discharged from the army immediately if they desire.

If they choose to complete the course they will be commissioned upon graduation in the officers' reserve corps and placed upon the inactive list.

SWEDEN DECIDES TO INSTITUTE REFORMS

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 14.—The Swedish government has decided to carry out without delay a program of reforms giving the franchise to both sexes on equal terms and placing control of the foreign policy, as well as declarations of war and peace with the nation.

How a Salesman Suffered R. J. Porter, Sterling, Cal., writes: "For six months I suffered with a painful weak back. As a traveling salesman I had to stoop frequently to pick up my traps, which I grew to dread as the pain when I straightened up was awful. Numerous remedies failed to reach my case. I was induced to try Foley Kidney Pills. Relief was immediate. Boy, they are great! Any one afflicted as I was should try a bottle or two of Foley Kidney Pills." Used for pain in the back, rheumatic pains, aching joints, sore muscles. For sale by Medford Pharmacy.

DON'T JOIN THE SLACKERS

THE necessity of subscribing to the war workers fund is succinctly set forth by Secretary Baker as follows:

"I think all Americans recognize the fine record of the army, but we must fail to appreciate the work it has yet to do. Following the exhilaration of combat comes the tedium of peace, but the tasks of peace are infinitely important and we must uphold our sons as they perform them. This drive for the Medford War Work fund is a direct challenge to measure our appreciation."

To this plea is added that of Provost Marshal General Crowder:

"Our boys will remain in the service for many weary months. The period of reorganization and rehabilitation will have to be gone thru. Now the incentive of fighting is removed, the excitement and glamor are gone. Now comes the important work of these organizations. They cannot do this unless the American people promptly and generously replenish their war chests."

Jackson county has a thousand or two men in the battle line, back of the line, in cantonments and in the navy. Shall it be said that we refused to provide needed comforts and care for our own boys? Shall we leave them to think that because the fighting is over we have lost interest in them and grudge them the necessities they crave? Shall we make them ashamed of coming from a slacker community?

In the lists published in the Portland papers, Jackson county, north, is shown as the most backward section of Oregon in subscribing to the war chests of these seven essential organizations. The showing up to date is not one to be proud of. There remains time for us to do our duty. Let everyone do his share at once.

We have gone over the top in every war drive thus far—we must keep our record as a patriotic community above reproach. We cannot afford to slump into the slacker class.

CULTURE VS. KULTUR

ONE of the classics of the war is the order issued by General Petain, commander of French armies, on their triumphant entry into Germany following the signing of the armistice, from which we quote the following:

"France has suffered in her ravaged fields and in her ruined villages. The freed provinces have had to submit to intolerable vexations and odious outrages, but you are not to answer these crimes by the commission of violence, which, under the spur of your resentment may seem to you legitimate.

"You are to remain under discipline and to show respect to persons and property. You will know, after having vanquished your adversary by force of arms, how to insure him further by the dignity of your attitude, and the world will not know which to admire most—your conduct in success or your heroism in fighting."

France earned the admiration of the world by the gallantry and bravery with which the French resisted for years the invasion of overpowering brutal might and the entire world gladly responded to her appeal for help to preserve such a valiant people. By her conduct in victory she will win the love even of her enemies.

Petaim's order breathes the true spirit of Christianity and humanity, the spirit the allies and America fought to preserve. It was the essential ideal for which the war was waged and won.

We have but to contrast this French order with the orders issued by the then victorious Germans in Belgium and France which ordered systematic massacre, pillage and destruction to see how far apart the French and Germans are, to understand the gulf between culture of the French and kultur of the Germans.

When in the Franco-Prussian war, the armistice was signed and the Germans occupied Paris, Bismarck refused to permit the 300,000 French from the suburbs of the capital to return to their homes, lest the indignation of the people over the destruction and pilfering of their homes by the Prussians, cause a renewal of the conflict—and that portion of Paris occupied by the 30,000 Prussians who garrisoned the city to fulfill the terms of the armistice, was systematically looted and everything worth removal taken to the fatherland.

The allies should and undoubtedly will, enforce penalties for the crimes of the Germans and individually punish those guilty of the atrocities, but the allies should not and will not descend to the level of their barbarian opponents and commit the sinister atrocities that have outraged the world. Justice must be enforced—but not revenge.

No better way exists to aid in the redemption of Germans and the restoration of the old Germany of two generations ago than by chivalrously extending a helping hand to the fallen adversary as a final triumph of culture over kultur.

BRITISH DOCTORS' TRUST BUSTED

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The right of a voluntary and unofficial organization to lay down and enforce laws for members of profession or trade, and to impose discipline on members of the profession who violate such rules, was denied by a British court today.

The organization in question is the British Medical Association. The Medical association has proclaimed and enforced what it termed "licensing" of several doctors who were conducting a consultation and who were charged by the Medical association with violating professional ethics or the rules of the society. One of the charges was based upon the amount of money which the doctors received for the patients, which amount was below the scale demanded by the society, and the other dealt with alleged control of the consultation by non-professional persons.

Justice McNeill, who decided the case, said it is a novelty. He decided that "the plaintiff did not set out the issue of the medical profession which was the former charge made against them by the association. Therefore he awarded heavy damages for the four doctors against the association, ranging from $3,000 to $1,000."

Probably the case will be presented to the court of final resort, the House of Lords.

JUDICIAL INQUIRY ATROCITIES BEGINS

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Edmond Renaud, under-secretary of state for military justice, has ordered a judicial inquiry at Lille against German officers accused of crimes during our occupation of that city. This action conforms to the decision recently made by the French cabinet.

"These officers will be judged by a court-martial in their absence," says the Temps. If the allies are unable to secure custody of the accused.

This is the first of such prosecutions.

SCHUCH TO RETAIN HUN WAR MINISTRY

BASEL, Switzerland, Nov. 14.—Major General Schuch, according to an official statement issued in Berlin Monday will remain his post as Prussian minister of war and will assist the new government. The Kaiser will look after the leading and demobilization of the army.

DRIFTED 50 DAYS ON SEVEN SEAS IN SMALL BOATS

PAPEETE, Tahiti, Oct. 1.—(By Mail.) "Saved by the hand of God" is the way the nine natives comprising the crew of the 80-ton schooner "Oromana" characterize their escape from death after having drifted helplessly 50 days on one of the loneliest bits of ocean in the Seven Seas.

When the wreck of the "Oromana" was towed into Papeete harbor this week one of the most remarkable voyages known in these waters was completed. The vessel, a two-mast schooner, owned by natives of Rimatarua, an island about 300 miles south west of Tahiti, left her home port without cargo bound for the island of Rurutu in the same group where she was to undergo repairs and take a cargo of copra for Tahiti.

Two days out she was struck by a storm which carried away both her masts and later her rudder, leaving her a hopeless derelict.

With never a glimpse of land or sail to give a ray of hope, the "Oromana" drifted for 50 days. After 15 days the supply of food was gone. The natives managed to catch a shark with hook and line. This lasted them five days. The rest of the time they had no food. An occasional shower prevented death from thirst.

Then the "miracle" happened. The mountains of Tahiti rose slowly over the horizon. The shifting sea current brought them nearer and nearer until they were finally sighted from where and a power boat sent to tow them in. They were too weak to rise to their feet but after a few days ashore all appear to be rapidly recovering from their experience.

The natives say the hand of God guided their craft for the prevailing winds in these latitudes are from the northwest, a direction which never would have brought them to Tahiti.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease. It gives the patient strength by building up the constitution and restoring nature in doing its work. The regulations here are most faith in the curative power of Hall's Catarrh Medicine that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address P.
