THE PEACE DELEGATION.

MUCH fault will be found with the president for not selecting national figures as American representatives to the peace conference...

In other words President Wilson is to be the American peace delegation, the other members being merely advisers or figureheads to work out details and plans according to the president's ideas...

There is no question but that the president will secure team work impossible if he had named ex-Presidents Taft and Roosevelt, logical selections, both of whom are on record as out of sympathy with the president's policies...

There will be strong reactionary forces at the peace conference. Already the imperialists among the allied nations are strongly in evidence...

With an average cabinet, the president has made good in the war, because he conducted it largely himself. It has been said that with the exception of McAdoo, Lane and Daniels, the cabinet was composed of mediocrities...

Politicians declare the president a wonderful "thinking machine" with little of the human about him, and while admitting that he has won enduring fame and promoted the cause of democracy...

Too bad, but as long as Wilson remains true to the people—"we should worry."

THE MOONEY CASE.

IN COMMUTING the sentence of Tom Mooney, from death on the gallows to life imprisonment, Governor Stephens has weakly straddled the issue...

Mooney was convicted of participation in the bomb outrage that killed 10 people in the San Francisco preparedness parade. Evidence accumulated since the trial, indicates that there was a "frame-up" to "get" Mooney...

So strong is the evidence of conspiracy that Judge Griffin, who presided at this trial and the juryman who convicted him, all asked that a new trial be granted—which could easily be done as there are nine other murder indictments hanging over him.

The case has been carried to the supreme court and to the federal courts, all of whom found that no technical errors had been committed in the trial court and a reversal refused. These higher courts could not or did not pass upon the evidence.

Mooney is either guilty or not guilty. If he is guilty, he should be hung. If he is not guilty, he should be freed and tried fairly on the other indictments.

The attitude of the trial judge is usually the determining factor with the governor who has the final say—and in this case it was ignored.

Women in War Work

Mrs. English gives the following complete list of knitted articles having been shipped from local headquarters, from Jan. 1st to Oct. 1st, 1918:

702 sweaters, 2715 pairs of socks (machine and hand-knitted), 49 mufflers, 124 pair wristlets, six helmets.

A total of $10,011.65 was cleared during the month of October in the four departments of the Seattle Red Cross. Jumble shop, salvage department, $1859.88; warehouse, $2175.87; lunch room, $1915.71; and jumble shop $1080.16.

Medford Gift shop will soon be open for donations and business.

The American Red Cross has given 50 reapers and 1500 scythes to the French army agricultural corps, to assure the gathering of the rich harvest in the recently liberated region of the Alsace.

The following "sure cure" for the "flu" was mailed to James L. Fieser, director civilian relief, of the Lake division, by a patriotic old colored lady:

"Take four pigs' hoofs, the toenail part and put them in the oven and bake them a very dark brown. Then put them in a stew pan and add one pint of boiling water and give 30 minute dose of half a coffee cup with one tablespoon good whiskey night and morning for two days; then any kind of fish.

"P. S.—Please see that this gets to Camp Sherman and to the right parties so it can be tested and see if we can't save some of our boys."

Superintendent of knitting at the local chapter A. R. C. requests those having taken out yarn for sweaters or socks in September to please bring in the finished article at once as a shipment of the above has been requested.

A call has come for 530 sweaters, 350 pairs socks, to be shipped out by Feb. 1, and Mrs. English wishes all who can knit to come to headquarters for explicit instructions, as the length of the sweaters and neck has been changed somewhat from the former instructions. Also knitters will please use only No. 8 Columbia needles or No. 3 A. R. C.

Relief work by the A. R. C. in Belgium, from Sept. 1917 to Jan. 1st, 1919 will amount to $2,379,699. The following are some of the ways in which help has been given:

Assisted in establishing nine hospitals for combating disease in civilian population; gave a monthly contribution of 5000 francs to supply lazzettes to poor mothers among refugees; supplied sewing machines for Belgian refugee women; provided a sawmill at a refugee Belgian colony so that wooden shoes could be made at a minimum cost; constructed a barracks for 400 children at Caecques and continues to support the institution; supplied cows to several colonies of Belgian children; gave 100,000 francs to assist Belgian peasant lace makers in continuing this industry. For sick soldiers interned in Holland a fund of $5000 a month was provided to buy food and medicines.

By the above one can readily see how necessary it is for every one to belong to the Red Cross and when the December roll call is started let us double our membership.

The annual meeting of the American Red Cross will be held Friday, December 6th at the library at 2:30 p. m. It is very important that all who are interested in Red Cross work be there to elect officers for the ensuing year.

At the Thanksgiving service at the M. E. church Tuesday evening the collection was given to the Red Cross. The amount was $21.60.

Junior Red X

The Juniors must not think Red Cross work is over even if the war is coming to an end. There are many things yet to be done and the Juniors will have a share in the work.

Mrs. Platt has taken the place formerly filled by Mrs. Mears, as representative of the chapter in Junior work. She has opened an attractive Junior room in the Medford Furniture and Hardware building. The finished work will be sent to this room and there be labeled and inspected.

BRITISH TO RESTORE GOLD STANDARD

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Conditions necessary to the maintenance of an effective gold standard should be restored without delay after the terms of peace are signed reports a committee headed by Lord Culliffe which was appointed to consider currency and foreign exchange problems after the war. The committee said:

"Unless the machinery which long experience has shown to be the only effective remedy for an adverse balance of trade and an undue growth of credit is once more brought into play, there will be grave danger of a progressive credit expansion which will result in a foreign drain of gold menacing the convertibility of our issue and so jeopardizing the international trade position of the country."

To maintain the gold standard the committee recommended cessation of government borrowing as soon as possible, establishment of an adequate sinking fund out of the revenues and the raising of the Bank of England discount rates.
