There was a small freight wreck south of Ashland Sunday morning which delayed the morning passenger train for several hours. There was no one hurt by the wreck which was caused by two cars jumping the track.

Double the purchasing power of your money. Attend the One Cent sale at the Rexall store, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. 219

Tom Kenney who has been over to Edgewood for several days, came home Sunday morning.

As the Christmas season approaches your thoughts naturally turn to Christmas and to make the children, as well as the grown-ups, happy. Of course Santa Claus must come down the chimney and fill all the stockings; it is necessary to have the chimney cleaned so he will not soil his clothing and the presents. The chimney sweep is in town this week. Phone 623-R and have the flue cleaned at once. 215

W. D. Condit who has been visiting W. W. Glasgow at the ranch near Talent, left for Los Angeles Sunday.

The war is over and the flu is gone. Buy Christmas presents at Japanese Art Store. 215

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Webster of Seattle, arrived this morning to visit.

If you do not need two hot water bottles see your neighbor. Perhaps he needs one. Get two for the price of one at the Rexall store sale Thursday, Friday and Saturday. 219

A few days with his brother, W. O. Webster. He is interested in the orchard with his brother and on their way to Los Angeles to spend the winter.

Several of the boys that have been home for Thanksgiving were very uneasy Sunday morning when they learned that the train due here at 7:35 was four or five hours late. It was not quite so bad for the boys that are attending the training school at Eugene, as if it did not lose more time they would probably arrive on time, but for Elbert Brayton who is at the school in Corvallis and Horace Bromley and several others from Camp Lewis it would be impossible for them to get in on time to report on Monday morning, so they got busy and wired headquarters.

Heets and armies sure of their triumph.

Tribute to Women

And what shall we say of the women of their instant intelligence, quickening every task that they touched; their capacity for organization and cooperation which have their action discipline and enhanced the effectiveness of everything they attempted; their aptitude at tasks to which they had never before set their hands; their utter self-sacrifice alike in what they did and in what they gave? Their contribution to the great result is beyond appraisal. They have added a new lustre to the annals of American womanhood.

The least tribute we can pay them is to make them equals of men in political rights as they have proved themselves their equals in every field of practical work they have entered, whether for themselves or for their country. These great days of completed achievement would be sadly marred were we to omit that act of justice. Besides the immense practical services they have rendered the women of the country have been voluntarily assisted to supply the suffering peoples of the world and the armies upon every front with food and everything else that we had that might serve the common cause. The details of such a story can never be fully written, but we carry them at our hearts and thank God that we can say that we are the kinsmen of such.

Sure of Triumph

And now we are sure of the great triumph for which every sacrifice was made. It has come, come in its completeness, and with the pride and inspiration of these days of achievement quick within us we turn to the tasks of peace again—a peace sure against the violence of irresponsible monarchs and ambitious military colonies—and make ready for a new order, for new foundations of justice and fair dealing.

We are about to give order and organization to this peace not only for ourselves, but for the other peoples of the world as well, so far as they will suffer us to serve them. It is international justice that we seek, not domestic safety merely. Our thoughts have dwelt of late upon Europe, upon Asia, upon the Near and the Far East, very little upon the acts of peace and accommodation that wait to be performed at our own doors.

Pleas for Colombia

While we are adjusting our relations with the rest of the world it is not of capital importance that we should clear away all grounds of misunderstanding with our immediate neighbors and give proof of the friendship we really feel? I hope that the members of the senate will permit me to speak once more of the unratified treaty of friendship and adjustment with the republic of Colombia. I very earnestly urge upon them an early and favorable action upon that vital matter. I believe that they will feel, with me, that the stage of affairs is now set for such action as will be not only just, but generous and in the spirit of the new age upon which we have so happily entered.

Readjustment Problem

So far as our domestic affairs are concerned the problem of our return to peace is a problem of economic and industrial readjustment. That problem is less serious for us than it may turn out to be for the nations which have suffered the disarrangements and the losses of war longer than we. Our people, moreover, do not wait to be coached and led. They know their own business, are quick and resourceful at every readjustment, definite in purpose and self-reliant in action. Any leading strings we might seek to put them in would speedily become hopelessly tangled because they would pay no attention to them and go their own way. All that we can do as their legislative and executive servants is to mediate the process of change here, there and elsewhere as we may. I have heard much counsel as to the plans that should be formed and personally conducted to a happy consummation, but from no quarter have I seen any general scheme of "reconstruction" emerge which I thought it likely we could force our spirited business men and self-reliant laborers to accept with due pliancy and obedience.

Control of Industry

While the war lasted we set up many agencies by which to direct the industries of the country in the services it was necessary for them to render, by which to make sure of an abundant supply of the materials needed, by which to check undertakings that could for the time be dispensed with and stimulate those that were more serviceable in war, by which to gain for the purchasing departments of the country a certain control over the prices of essential articles and materials by which to restrain trade with alien enemies, make the most of the available shipping, systematic financial transactions, both public and private, so that there would be no unnecessary conflict or confusion—by which, in short, to put every material energy of the country in harness to draw the common load and make of us one team in the accomplishment of a great task.

Harness Taken Off

But the moment we knew the armistice to have been signed we took the harness off. Raw materials upon which the government had kept its hand for fear there should not be enough for the industries that supplied the armies have been released and put into the general market again. Great industrial plants whose whole output and machinery had been taken over for the uses of the government have been set free to return to the uses to which they were put before the war. It has not been possible to remove so readily or so quickly the control of foodstuffs and of shipping, because the world has still to be fed from our granaries and the ships are still needed to send supplies to our men overseas and to bring the men back as fast as the disturbed conditions on the other side of the water permit; but even there restraints are being relaxed as much as possible and more and more as the weeks go by.

Agencies in Existence

Never before have there been agencies in existence in this country which knew so much of the field of supply, of labor and of industry as the war industries board, the war trade board, the labor department, the food administration and the fuel administration have known since their labors became thoro systematized; and they have not been isolated agencies; they have been directed by men who represented the permanent departments of the government and so have been the centers of unified and cooperative action. It has been the policy of the executive, therefore since the armistice was assured, (which is in effect a complete submission of the enemy) to put the knowledge of these bodies at the disposal of the business men of the country and to offer their intelligent mediation at every point and in every matter where it was desired. It is surprising how fast the process of return to a peace footing has moved in the three weeks since the fighting stopped. It promises to outrun any inquiry that may be instituted and any aid that may be offered. It will not be easy to direct it any better than it will direct itself. The American business man is of quick initiative.

Help for Returned Men

The ordinary and normal processes of private initiative will not, however, provide immediate employment for all of the men of our returning armies. Those who are of trained capacity, those who are skilled workmen, those who have acquired familiarity with established businesses, those who are ready and willing to go to the farms, all those whose aptitudes are known or will be sought out by employers, will find no difficulty, it is safe to say, in finding place and employment. But there will be others who will be at a loss where to gain a livelihood unless plans are taken to guide them and put them in the way of work. There will be a large floating residuum of labor which should not be left wholly to shift for itself. It seems to me important, therefore, that the development of public works of every sort should be promptly resumed, in order that opportunities should be created for unskilled labor in particular and that plans should be made for such development of our unused lands and our natural resources as

LIEGE WELCOMES KING ALBERT BACK

BRUSSELS, Dec. 1. — (British Wireless Service.)—King Albert and the Belgian royal family made their official entry into Liege Saturday at the head of the troops who conducted the heroic defense of that town in 1914, says a Belgian official statement.

Almost at the same time a Belgian cavalry brigade entered Aix La Chapelle, Germany, at the request of the German authorities.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."

Mrs. MAUDE BOYD, 1421 6th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.
