

KUHN, LOEB CO. REFUSED AID TO GERMANY IN 1915

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—When Alfred L. Becker, deputy attorney general of New York, resumed his testimony today on German propaganda before the senate committee, he told how the German government was "gravely disappointed" in its hopes of financing its propaganda through Kuhn, Loeb and company, of New York.

Senator Nelson asked if M. M. Warburg of the M. M. Warburg company of Hamburg, was not a brother, or related in some way to Paul M. Warburg, formerly member of the federal reserve board. He replied that such was the case.

Senator Wolcott of Delaware, objected to this testimony on the ground of irrelevancy. Mr. Becker said the purpose of reading the affidavit was to show that in 1915, Kuhn, Loeb and company were "painfully neutral."

Mr. Becker said also that the purpose was to show that while Mr. Kahn was telling the French government that they had subscribed to the Anglo-French loan they were also telling the German government that they had not subscribed.

Senator Nelson asked whether the loyalty of Paul M. Warburg was being questioned, and Mr. Becker said very emphatically that there was no such question involved.

"SILK" O'LOUGHLIN IS CALLED OUT

BOSTON, Dec. 20.—Francis "Silk" O'Loughlin, famous as an American league umpire, died at his apartment here today after a short illness of influenza and pneumonia.

O'Loughlin had umpired for the American league since its organization and he had long been rated as one of the picturesque figures in the baseball world. His "ball talk," his long drawn out "a-r-r-r-r-r" and snappy "foul-er-r" are known the country over.

HEADQUARTERS FOR U. S. TROOPS NOW KNOWN

The Whisper That Comes in the Night

The Glorious Knowledge Women Gain When a Wonderful Thought Steals Over Them.

Happiness in its most thrilling degree comes to woman with the thought of possessing a baby. Every woman in the joy of coming motherhood should prepare her system for the unusual trial. Three generations have found the tried and reliable preparation, Mother's Friend, the greatest help at such a time. By its daily use throughout the period, the signs of the approaching birth are quiet, and the mother's health is maintained in its normal state.

abouts of "G. H. Q." one of the secrets of the war. General headquarters were removed from Paris here in September of last year, Chaumont being selected after a careful search of available locations. It lies in the center of what was the American training area every camp as well as the Toul sector in which the American forces first saw battle, and all the lines from Toul eastward where we were located, being within reach by motor.

Women in War Work Only two more days in which to add your name to the Xmas Roll of Honor of the Red Cross. Don't neglect this duty you owe to the boys who have made America a safe republic for you and yours.

Sign up for the coming year of Red Cross activities. The peace pact is not yet signed and the Dutchmen are hable to go on a rampage again any time and the Red Cross must have funds for such emergencies.

Where are the women of Medford who admire and revere every word and action of President Wilson. He has asked, almost commanded the Red Cross to continue its activities, yet the local chapter has fairly begged the women of Medford to come and sew on refugee garments, make masks and knit, and only a handful of women respond.

By the President—A Proclamation Washington, Nov. 26, 1918. To the American people: One year ago twenty-two million Americans, by enrolling as members of the Red Cross at Christmas time, sent to the men who were fighting our battles overseas a stimulating message of cheer and good will. They made it clear that our people were of their own free choice united with their government in the determination not only to wage war with the instruments of destruction, but also by every means in their power to repair the ravages of the invader and sustain and renew the spirit of the army and of the homes which they represented.

The exact nature of the future service of the Red Cross will depend upon the program of the associated governments, but there is immediate need today for every heartening word and for every helpful service. We must not forget that our soldiers and our sailors are still under orders and still have duties to perform of the highest consequence, and that the Red Cross Christmas membership means a great deal to them. The people of the saddened lands, however, returning home today where there are no homes must have the assurance that the hearts of our people are with them in the dark and doubtful days ahead. Let us, so far as we can, help them back to faith in mercy and in future happiness.

As president of the Red Cross, conscious in this great hour of the value of such a message from the American people, I should be glad if every American would join the Red Cross of the flu gossips; it's a bear for smiles and will be shown at the Rialto today and tomorrow. For 1919, and thus send forth to the whole human family the Christmas greeting for which it waits and for which it stands in greatest need. (Signed) WOODROW WILSON.

This picture will make you forget all of the flu gossips; it's a bear for smiles and will be shown at the Rialto today and tomorrow.

Among the number the list includes Cora Divert, Yuda and Mina Brower, and Helen Deherson, among the young lady employees, also Goldie Horndon and Leo Trefer among the boys. There are probably over a dozen at the national camp in this vicinity, all of whom have fine positions in the way of responsible clerkships in various bureaus of the chief departments.

ASHLAND AND VICINITY

An early fire broke out Wednesday night about 12 o'clock on Fourth street, in the business district of that quarter. The blaze involved three store rooms, one occupied by Baughman's clothing establishment, another being a bakery, while the third had been used as a meeting place for the Fourth Street mission. The destruction at Baughman's was something fierce, both as to building and stock, the bakery being a heavy loser also. The contents in the mission rooms were not extensive, and it was in these rooms that the blaze evidently started.

Unless further complications arise the outbreak here which has been in force at Ashland Falls for the past two months continuously, will be lifted on December 26, and residents of that city are looking forward to this action with evident relief, inasmuch as results of the inhibition began to tell upon both town and people.

Owen Barnhill, the sage of Wimer Cove, is visiting hereabouts preliminary to taking possession of a property in northern Clatsop, for which he exchanged valuable Ashland holdings some time ago. The California party with whom he made the deal, D. A. Owens, of Cedarville in Modoc county, is already here and in possession of the Wimer Cove holdings, an orchard property which has made notable yields and phenomenal returns in a financial way during years past.

The W. C. T. U. is following in the footsteps of the Red Cross in affording relief measures in response to demands at home and abroad. Locally the organization is assisting in this work, the scope of which is being extended to include diverse activities. Mrs. Mary Sheehar, residing on Pine street, recently accompanied her daughter, Mrs. C. D. Todd, to Sacramento, where she will make her home with relatives. Mrs. Judd had been a visitor here several weeks with her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Dyer, with whom the mother resided.

Many will remember the I. F. Settle family who lived here several years ago, and will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Settle, which occurred a few days ago at Walla Walla, Wash. Gause masks, as made by experts in such work among the local Red Cross forces, are now available at the depot canteen station, the salvage headquarters in Camps block, and at Poley's drug store. If you are determined to don a mask, secure one made of good materials and skillful workers, whose deft handwork is a guarantee of quality.
