

NEW MEMBERS OF SCHOOL FACULTY ARRIVE MONDAY

Several new faces will be seen in the high school faculty force when school resumes next Monday. H. Heidenreich of Portland, who has had extensive experience as a manual training teacher, telegraphed the school board this morning of his acceptance of the position to succeed the late Mr. Blakely, who died of influenza. He taught one year in the Ashland schools and two years in the Roseburg schools, and is regarded as an exceptionally valuable acquisition by the school board. He has just returned home after service in the army.

H. P. Jowett of Salem, also telegraphed this morning that he accepted a position on the high school teaching staff. One of his duties will be to teach mathematics. Miss Mabel Rankin, a graduate of the University of Oregon, who has just completed special work at that institution, has also been added to the faculty. She is the daughter of Hugh B. Rankin, supervisor of Crater National forest. Mr. Jowett and Miss Rankin fill positions which have been vacant ever since the schools opened in September, and their services are badly needed.

This has so far been a hoodoo year in the Medford schools on account of the two flu epidemics, and the erroneous report that Superintendent Davenport was dangerously ill with the flu yesterday seemed the last straw, but with the encouraging report of his condition, together with the fact that the epidemic is abating, the future looks more optimistic. The schools have only been in session six weeks this year.

All the teachers who have been ill with the flu are recovered or are convalescing. Mrs. McReynolds, wife of the head of the high school commercial department and who is a teacher at Roosevelt school, who has been seriously ill with the flu is now recovering.

GEORGE COLLINS LEADS LOCAL EMPLOYMENT

The organization for the purpose of obtaining employment and setting forth available opportunities for returned soldiers was completed at a meeting of the Commercial club last evening attended by the club directors, representatives of the war community board, the federal employment service and the county council of defense, and the county agricultural agent. George T. Collins was made chairman of the organization and Superintendent Milton Jones of the federal employment service was given charge of the employment feature. F. W. Dressler was appointed to have charge of the real estate and land values features. All employers of the county, including farmers, who can use returned soldiers are requested to report to the federal employment service office in the Nash Hotel building, which will be the organization's headquarters.

KING NICHOLAS FAVORS JOINING WITH JUGO-SLAVS

PARIS, Monday, Dec. 23.—King Nicholas of Montenegro intends to visit President Wilson as soon as possible. Speaking to the Associated Press today he said:

"The aspirations of Montenegro are in common accord with those of the other people of the same race—to become a part of the Jugo-Slav confederation but preserve its autonomy, independence and customs.

"Montenegro never has ceased to shed its blood and in the beginning of the great war showed its solidarity with Serbia's cause. In 1914 the whole Montenegrin population took up arms. It provided 45,000 soldiers, which, considering the number of its inhabitants, is the largest proportion of men given by any nation.

Every Montenegrin citizen from 18 to 60 years of age is a soldier. Our dead on the battlefield number about 10,000, the number of prisoners is yet unknown, and many succumbed to starvation and exposure.

When asked for his opinion on the proposed League of Nations, King Nicholas said: "I hope that I can live long enough to see such a plan realized."

STARVING BABIES CHRISTMAS EVE RECEIVE HELP

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—The plight of babies, who are emaciated, on the day before Christmas, because the high cost of milk forbids the purchase of this nourishment by mothers who are poor—occupied the attention of investigators today at the John Doe inquiry into the milk situation.

Conditions which exist among New York children "right up to Christmas eve," were described by Mrs. Mary Sullivan, welfare worker, who produced photographs of babies suffering from the lack of milk.

John D. Miller, lawyer and farmer, of Susquehanna and Pottstown, Penn., general counsel for the Dairywomen's league and recently chosen its vice-president, a position which he said he had not yet accepted, was on the stand the greater part of the day. He studied the photographs shown by Mrs. Sullivan and exclaimed: "Poor little kids! They look as if they did not have much chance."

Perronal's

The public market did a considerable day-before-Christmas business this morning. A much appreciated new feature of the market is the sale of small packages of pitchwood to start fires and the boys in that business have met an encouraging patronage.

G. E. Purdin, son of Judge M. Purdin, who has been in the navy service ever since the beginning of the war, is home on furlough visiting relatives during the holidays.

Miss Beatrice Garrett arrived in the city last evening from San Francisco, where she has been residing the past four years, to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Garrett.

Sergeant Frank McKee who is in the aviation service, arrived in the city Monday on furlough from Mather field, Sacramento to spend the holidays. He does not expect to be relieved from service for a year or more yet.

"Why on earth don't Medford have a Y. M. C. A.?" remarked Private Earl Smedly of the 67th squadron who arrived in the city from Camp Lewis yesterday to spend Christmas with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Macdonald, and found Mrs. Macdonald and a child convalescing from an attack of the flu. He was surprised that a city of Medford's size had no Y. M. C. A., and remarked that whenever a soldier was in a strange city or town the first thing he always located was the Y. M. C. A. Private Smedly's query was not the first one of like nature from soldiers visiting in or passing through Medford. His home is in Michigan.

F. M. Jordan who has been working for several months at St. Cloud, Cal., is at home to spend the holidays. He expects to return to work soon after the first of the year.

O. L. Cantrell who has been attending the S. A. T. C. at Corvallis, arrived on the morning train on his way to the farm on the Applegate.

T. L. McGregor and A. J. Harris of Portland were in the city on business yesterday.

Captain H. A. Canaday is able to be on the streets again after having been laid up at home for nearly three weeks with influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hoover received

ed a telegram from Erie, Pa., today giving the sad news of the death there of Mrs. Leland Wallace, of influenza. Mrs. Wallace was the sister-in-law of Mrs. Hoover, and her husband, a former resident of Medford, well known here, having for a time clerked at Marsh & Bennett's grocery and having been a prominent member of the local I. O. O. F. lodge.
