SALMON FISHING ALASKA COAST IS RESTRICTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Salmon fishing privileges in Alaskan rivers were sharply restricted today by Secretary Redfield to conserve the salmon supply. In the latitude east of Cape Spencer, in southeastern Alaska, the use of fixed fishing appliances at the mouths of small streams practically was forbidden entirely.

SEATTLE, Dec. 27.—Secretary Redfield's order, according to private advice received here, was issued after an announcement of findings of an investigation conducted recently at Juneau and Seattle by the federal bureau of fisheries.

Use of fishing traps and nets at the mouths of streams, it was charged, prevented fishing on the Yukon river above a point near Andreafsky, not far from the mouth. Villhalmr Stefansson, the explorer, and other Alaska authorities, testified at the investigation that commercial fishing on the lower Yukon would deprive the white and native residents of the upper river of a large part of their food supply.

FOR ATHLETICS PART OF COURSE ALL COLLEGES

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Recognition of college athletics and recreation as a definite part of the academic program of American institutions of higher education was urged here today by Dean J. R. Angell of the University of Chicago at the opening session of the National Collegiate Athletic association's annual convention.

Addressing more than 100 delegates he cited as "a splendid chapter in the development of American man power" the recreational features of army training effected by the war department.

"Why should the college be less intelligent in this matter than our military authorities?" he asked. Dean Angell urged colleges to seize the after-the-war opportunity to take over the entire physical and moral education of their students.

DELAY OPENING PUBLIC SCHOOLS UNTIL JAN. 6TH

The public schools of Medford will not open until Monday, Jan. 6th, instead of next Monday as had been planned. This decision was reached by the school board at its special meeting last night after a thorough investigation had been made by the board members into the influenza situation.

It was found that while the epidemic has rapidly abated and up to the board meeting last night only one new case of flu had been reported, that the people were still afraid, and that a large number of parents would not let their children come to school next week. This fact together with the fact that four teachers and Superintendent Davenport, who are recovering from the flu, will not be able to resume their duties next Monday induced the board to make the postponement.

A resolution was adopted by the board requesting that the board of health establish a special quarantine against any home from where there are one or more pupils going to school, even a reasonable time after the patient has apparently fully recovered, in order to prevent the spread of the flu again among the pupils of the schools.

Notice I will not be responsible for any indebtedness contracted by my wife, Mrs. M. C. Medley, after the date hereof. Dated at Medford, Oregon, December 22, 1918. W. A. MEDLEY. 236

CRIP, INFLUENZA

Quinn's Wizard Oil a Reliable, Antiseptic Preventive

During influenza epidemics spray the nose and throat several times a day with one part Wizard Oil and two parts water, using an atomizer. If you haven't an atomizer, gargle the throat and sniff the mixture up the nose. This treatment sets up an antiseptic wall of defense against "flu" germs.

Chest colds and sore throat lead to grip. Stop them at once with Wizard Oil before they can develop into dangerous influenza.

Get it from druggists for 30c. If not satisfied, return the bottle and get your money back. Ever constipated or have sick headache? Just try Wizard Liver Whip, pleasant little pink pills, 30c at druggists. Guaranteed.

MR.-MRS. WILSON DINE EN FAMILLE WITH ROYALTY

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Dinner at Buckingham palace tonight was a quiet function, covers being laid only for King George and Queen Mary and President and Mrs. Wilson. After dinner the president had a long talk alone with the king. The president is desirous of becoming personally acquainted with the leading personages in England before beginning his more formal conversations. He had an earnest talk with Queen Mother Alexandra this afternoon when he called to leave cards at Marlborough House.

He was greatly pleased with the warmth of his reception in London, which in the opinion of some of his suite, exceeded even that of Paris. The Earl of Reading, British ambassador to the United States, expressed tonight his pleasure at the large crowds that appeared to greet the president.
