THE PACIFIC AND EASTERN.

CESSATION of service by the Pacific and Eastern as ordered by the federal court in the bankruptcy proceedings, will mean a blow to the development of the lumber industry in Jackson county, as well as a check to the growth and progress of the country.

The Pacific and Eastern was projected upon the promises of timbermen to operate. Had these promises been kept, the railroad, even in its incomplete form, would have been a paying proposition and have brought prosperity to the valley.

None of the large timber owners have furnished any tonnage, except one, who has just finished installing a modern plant and was ready to begin manufacture upon an extended scale.

The Pacific and Eastern should now be operated as a logging railroad and would pay if so operated—and it is hoped the lumber interests can arrange its purchase or lease or operation.

Commenting upon the case of the Pacific and Eastern, and the similar case of the Sumpter Valley railroad, the Portland Oregonian draws a moral against government ownership as follows:

The Pacific and Eastern road had been built eastward from Medford into the mountains as the initial stretch of a line which was intended to cross the state.

As a disconnected stretch of road it could not pay expenses, but in expectation of extending it and making it a paying investment, the parent company carried it along.

This government operation of railroads has brought ruin to these two small enterprises, but not only to them, to all who depended on them for transportation.

Many enterprises had grown up along them—sawmills, logging camps and mines, cattle ranches and farms—pioneers in undeveloped sections of the state.

This effect of government operation will prompt sober second thought to those people who clamor for government ownership.

With all their sins, railroad companies which built unprofitable lines did see them through, and with them the people who had staked their fortunes on them.

There was no sentiment about it, but there was broad business judgment. They regarded a new line into raw country as something which must develop traffic for itself by stimulating settlement and development.

They bore loss until this policy brought enough traffic to pay profit. If they built a section of a new line and were unable immediately to carry it to completion, they kept it going until they were able to do so.

They regarded such a line as what it was—an unfinished enterprise which could not be expected to earn interest until it was completed and until traffic had had time to develop.

The McAdoo policy gives no consideration to these factors. It cares nothing for settlement and development of new country, and is indifferent to the service which the pioneer renders in the twentieth as in the nineteenth century.

It ignores the moral obligation to people who have settled and established business because a railroad exists to provide transportation, and in confidence that this service will be continued.

For calculating, soulless policy it goes the public-de-damned railroad magnate of the past one better.

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 21.—Stern measures of repression by the state against any soldiers and sailors who join I. W. W. or Bolshevik organizations and assist them in creating trouble after the state has appropriated $100,000 to assist them back to civil life, were advocated in the legislature today by Chairman Herbert Gordon of the House ways and means committee, and other legislators.

Senator J. C. Smith, chairman of the senate ways and means committee, reported on his investigation of conditions in Portland made during the week-end adjournment of the legislature.

Daily Health Talks

Where Most Sickness Begins and Ends BY FRANKLIN DUANE, M. D.

It can be said broadly that most human ills begin in the stomach and end in the stomach. Good digestion means good health, and poor digestion means bad health.

The minute stomach fails to properly dispose of the food you eat, troubles begin to crop out in various forms. Indigestion and dyspepsia are the commonest forms.

Indigestion and dyspepsia are the commonest forms, but thin, insidious blood, headaches, backaches, pimples, blotches, dizziness, belching, coated tongue, weakness, poor appetite, sleeplessness, coughs, colds and bronchitis are almost as common.

These are but one way to have good health, and that is to put and keep your stomach in good order. This is easy to do if you take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a wonderful tonic and blood purifier.

It is so safe to take, for it is made of roots and herbs. Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., stands behind this standard medicine, and it is good to know that so distinguished a physician is proud to have his name identified with it.

Whenever you are getting the benefit of the experience of a doctor whose reputation goes all around the earth. Still more you get a temperance medicine that contains not a drop of alcohol or narcotic of any kind.

Long ago Dr. Pierce combined certain valuable vegetable ingredients—without the use of alcohol—so that these medicines always have been strictly temperance medicines.

If they are torturing you, get and use Pierce's Anodyne Pile Ointment. The quick relief it gives is hard to believe until you try it. If constipated, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be taken while using Anodyne Pile Ointment.

Few indeed are the cases which these wonderful remedies will not relieve and usually cure. There are no good that nearly every drug store has them for sale.

STOCKMEN PLAN RE-ADJUSTMENT OF LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 21.—Pastor's re-adjustment of the livestock industry furnishes the principal topic to be considered at the twenty-second annual convention of the American National Livestock association, which began a three days convention here today attended by stockmen from all parts of the west.

The question of whether steps should be taken to increase production of livestock is expected to occupy much of the time of the convention together with consideration of legislation recommended by the federal trade commission for supervision of the packing industry.

Livestock men say they anticipate as heavy a demand from Europe for American meats in 1919 as last year but whether this demand will continue thru 1920 is problematical.

Upon the prospective demand for 1920, they say, depends the decision as to the necessity for increased production on the American range.

The question of increased grazing fees on national forests, which are opposed by many stockmen, and the continuance of the work of the food administration as it affects meat food products and prices for livestock are also expected to receive much attention.

Other topics which will come up for discussion during the convention are federal control of railroads, regulation or disposition of the public lands, appropriations for control or eradication of animal diseases, extermination of predatory animals, and financing of livestock loans.

Among prominent speakers expected to address the convention, are David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture; H. C. Stuart, former governor of Virginia and chairman of the National Agricultural Advisory committee; William B. Colver, chairman of the federal trade commission; Clay Tallman, commissioner of the general land office; Senator John B. Kendrick of Wyoming; Martin Swanson, manager of the Dallas Federal Reserve bank; Charles T. Brand, chief of the federal bureau of markets; E. W. Nelson, chief of the biological survey and John A. Mohler, chief of the bureau of animal industry.

BOLSHEVIKI RIOTS FEARED BY SENATE AFTER BILL PASSES

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 21.—Stern measures of repression by the state against any soldiers and sailors who join I. W. W. or Bolshevik organizations and assist them in creating trouble after the state has appropriated $100,000 to assist them back to civil life, were advocated in the legislature today by Chairman Herbert Gordon of the House ways and means committee, and other legislators.

Senator J. C. Smith, chairman of the senate ways and means committee, reported on his investigation of conditions in Portland made during the week-end adjournment of the legislature.

"Al Liberty Temple I found a placard calling for soldiers and sailors at 50 cents an hour," said Senator Smith. "Results were negligible. The police are puzzled. They declare a parade is planned by the lawless element who are arranging to have it headed by soldiers and sailors. The police declare if they interfere some one will be hurt and if soldiers are harmed they fear it will cause resentment of soldiers all over the country."

"I believe the ten loyal men will take care of the one disloyal man," she said. "In certain quarters of Portland, two-thirds of the people you meet wear the Red button," said Senator Smith, "and they are a dangerous looking crowd."

"Are the soldiers who are among them still in uniform?" asked Senator Smith. "They are not," declared Lachmund. "Then first they ought to have the uniforms taken off them, and next the Red buttons," declared Lachmund.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous surface of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarhal deafness, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface of the Eustachian tube. Hall's Catarhal Deafness Cure is the only medicine that can be cured by Hall's Catarhal Deafness Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

You can't put a uniform on a hobo and make a patriot of him." Mrs. Alexander Thompson, member of the house, declared her belief that any man who joined the I. W. W. now would have joined before he went into the army but that for every one of that class, there are ten loyal men.
