ASHLAND AND VICINITY

Compliments are still being showered upon the local Red Cross canteen for its efficiency and faithfulness in ministering to the needs of soldiers and sailors passing through this terminal. In a communication, under date of January 13, addressed by E. L. Fallis of the bureau of canteen service from its western division headquarters at Seattle to Mrs. W. L. Maxey, chairman of local canteen activities, that official quotes Major W. G. Muller, division adjutant, who recently was here in command of a troop train, as follows: "I desire to express my appreciation of the work of the local Red Cross canteen station at Ashland, Oregon, in connection with a recent troop movement under my command from Camp Lewis to the Leterman General Hospital, San Francisco, on which trip I was able to secure the aid of canteen service of the cities along the Southern Pacific, notably at Ashland, where the service rendered by the Red Cross contingent was excellent in every respect, and I take this means of expressing the appreciation and thanks of the men who were under my command."

Barton Wines has arrived among returning soldiers from overseas, and is now at Camp Lewis, awaiting demobilization for the homecoming. Sgt. Alfred Moss has returned from Fort McArthur, San Pedro, Cal., in possession of formal discharge papers. Lieut. Verne Mills has reached one of the big military camps in Virginia, after the voyage from France, and is awaiting the mustering out process before heading in westward bound.

Rev. Elva Hobart, pastor of the Free Methodist church, holds service at the county industrial farm on Wednesday of each week, greatly to the pleasure of inmates who are deprived of many privileges along this order.

On Wednesday evening this week occurs the Sunday school rally at the Presbyterian church. The song service will be reinforced by an orchestra. Addresses will be by Rev. J. H. Matthews of Seattle, and Harold Humbert, secretary of the Oregon Sunday school association.

Saturday evening, December 18, about a dozen intimate friends of the G. S. Butler family at the hospitable home of F. D. Wagner in social reunion assembled. It developed that the particular date in the January calendar was Mr. Butler's birthday anniversary, consequently he was the guest of honor at the festivities, receiving congratulations over having arrived at an age exceeding the limit decreed by the Osler theory. A fine birthday cake ornamented with the traditional candles was carved to a turn and distributed impartially to the assembled company. Mrs. Stella Wagner and Mrs. Mabel Kinney were prime movers in this impromptu affair, which was strictly informal. As a matter of fact, it was the pastoral order, several of the guests present being "tired grangers." Consequently color scheme effects were heightened by the introduction of a mammoth bonnet composed exclusively of the products of farm, garden and orchard. Mr. Butler is a native son of Jackson county, the place of his birth being in the vicinity of Medford. Mrs. Butler is a member of the Barron family, also well known pioneers of this section.

Phil Rose is here from Montevideo, Calif., visiting relatives and having a brief vacation from educational work, inasmuch as the schools in that town are temporarily closed owing to the influenza epidemic. Elks are anticipating a gay time Saturday evening, February 1, incident to the work inside the temple halls on that particular date being conferred exclusively by most exalted members of the home lodge.

Many friends are pleased to note the reappearance of H. G. Enders on the streets, after an absence from Medford of several weeks' illness. Otto Michel, now living at Roseburg, is visiting Ashland acquaintances. In the social line, the Carmen's union of this division headquarters, has reserved the date of February 5, for their dance, an annual event in railroad circles. Funeral services of the late Joshua Young, who died in this city on Sunday, were held on Tuesday, and the last rites very appropriately occurred at the Methodist church, with which edifice the deceased, in the capacity of an undertaker, has long been a familiar figure. His church affiliations direct were also in keeping with a firm and steadfast faith, characteristic of the elements of true manhood. Active and helpful, his faithfulness has brought its reward in the appreciative remembrance of many friends who will treasure his memory. Mr. Young was a native of Ohio, had lived in Kansas for many years, and for over 10 years had been a resident of Ashland. He leaves two sons, residents of Kansas, and a daughter, Miss Mary Young, of this city, who by virtue of an intimate acquaintance hereabouts will receive the heartfelt sympathy of many friends in a bereavement incident to the loss of a devoted father. Mr. Young was 85 years of age. His funeral services were conducted by District Superintendent Van Fossen, and Rev. C. A. Edwards, both intimate friends of their aged and steadfast parishioner. Interment was in Mountain View cemetery.

Chester Stevenson has sold his residence, fully furnished, on Nob Hill street, to J. F. Green, formerly from Indiana, who has possession. This property is a fine one. Its transfer was effected by the Beaver Realty company.

On Wednesday afternoon this week, at the high school auditorium, a memorial service in honor of deceased soldier students was scheduled to occur, the order of the tribute of esteem incorporating devotional, musical and memorial phases of appreciation. Devotional services were by Rev. C. F. Koehler, and Prof. Vining delivered the address. The eulogies were delivered by members of the student body, the tribute to Clement Summers by Dwight Greer; Forrest Volcott, by Ray Clark; Walter Phillips, by Clyde Young; Ray Moran, by James Porter. Mrs. Esther Ashcraft sang and there were selections also by the music class. A general invitation was extended to the public to attend these services.

The Rebekahs have installed officers for the current term, Mary Walker being noble grand; Amy Moore, recording secretary; Edith Phinns, financial secretary and Rowena Roberts treasurer.

Unless something is done to untangle city court complications as to constitutionality in instituting the same, Ashland will soon face the necessity of holding another special election.

SAMS VALLEY

Our school board has experienced no end of worry in their efforts to procure a teacher since the resignation of Miss Robins, inasmuch as each teacher elected has promptly notified them they were just a day too late. However now with their teacher in view it is believed school will open Monday.

As Mrs. Stoner, former Sunday school superintendent, is soon to leave for Ashland, it was thought a good plan to reorganize Sunday school and the following officers were chosen Sunday: Superintendent, Charles Frederic; assistant, Mrs. Mike Koger; secretary, Mrs. Dick Straus; treasurer, Mrs. O. T. Wilson and Librarian, Mrs. Elsie Straus.

Mrs. M. Steinmetz spent Friday and Saturday with friends at Gold Hill. J. A. Davidson was reappointed supervisor for this road district. The recent rains have cut the surrounding streams no higher than they have been for some time.

One of the largest and most menacing covotes of this district was killed recently by the club members. Mrs. Otto Tresham, who recently underwent an operation at the Dow hospital, at Medford, is improving nicely.

Miss Dimple Williams left last week for Ashland where she will attend school. Mrs. H. I. Pelton is reported to be under the doctor's care in Portland. All hope for her speedy recovery. Edgar Pelevy spent Sunday of last week in Ashland visiting his mother. The Misses Davidson of Gold Hill spent a few days visiting the Edington family previous to their departure for the north.

EDEN PRECINCT

Mrs. Lawrence Crawford went to Talent Friday, to await her husband's homecoming, and was at his father's Saturday and Sunday. J. D. Henry butchered a nice fat beef this week, which sold at a good price. Mrs. Ernest Peachy of Medford visited Mrs. Walter Stimmeloff of North Talent Friday of this week. J. M. Rader has been hauling hay from C. Carey's place to his feed yard on the Rose place, where he is feeding a nice bunch of cattle. Mr. and Mrs. Will High of Talent were in Phoenix Sunday where Mr. High came to see Dr. Meimereu.

Mr. Welch of Medford has his bunch of about 7,000 sheep ranging in Dr. Harravey's orchard, also on some of the Fisher land. They eat up all the foul weeds and benefit the land, over which they feed. Little Davis, Rose spent Sunday with her aunt, Mrs. J. M. Rader. Mrs. A. B. Ferns and her daughter, Mrs. Robley of Fern valley, were
