SALEM, Jan. 23.—War to the knife was declared today in the senate on the bituminous paving monopoly and the cement trust when Senators Dimick, Lachmund and Thomas, after introducing four bills striking at the former, signified their intentions of introducing measures tomorrow curbing the alleged monopoly operations of the latter. Senator Dimick who made a valiant fight against the bituminous paving trust in the 1917 session, introduced three bills directed against it, and Senators Lachmund and Thomas, a joint measure. All three Dimick bills were presented to the last legislature, and after a bitter fight defeated. They are intended to protect the public against invalid patents, secret royalty agreements, and to insure competitive bidding on hard surfacing. The Lachmund-Thomas measure also attacks royalty in paving work, but is far more stringent than the bill of Senator Dimick.

HITCHCOCK PLEADS FOR FAMINE RELIEF FUND FOR EUROPE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—In opening what administration leaders hoped would be the final debate on the house bill appropriating $100,000,000 asked by President Wilson for European famine relief, Chairman Hitchcock of the foreign relations committee, vigorously urged its passage as a measure to bring world peace.

"It is not a matter of charity," said Mr. Hitchcock, "but of good business policy and war expediency to rescue these peoples from starvation and put them in a frame of mind to listen to peace and not revert to anarchy."

Senator Hitchcock urged the senate to accept the opinion of President Wilson and Food Administrator Hoover that the appropriation is necessary, adding:

"The question here is whether we are going to repudiate our own representatives in Europe who are seeking to make peace."

He declared that the supreme war council had agreed that $300,000,000 should be spent in relief work and fixed $100,000,000 as America's share and that "to deny it would be to repudiate our obligation."

STATE TO INSURE FOR FARM LOSSES

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 23.—Establishment of a state "farm home insurance fund" was proposed in a skeleton bill prepared by Assemblyman Polesky today. The measure is designed to assist capable men without funds to buy farms under the state land settlement plan.

The plan outlined by Professor Elwood Mead of the University of California, and now before the legislature declares that men taking up land in state colonies must invest $1,500. Polesky's bill provides that men may take up such land without investing money and upon a small payment into a revolving fund obtain insurance against loss of crops which might prevent them from paying out on their homes.
