NAT C. GOODWIN DEAD ON EVE OF SIXTH WEDDING

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Nat C. Goodwin, the actor, died at a hotel here early today after a brief illness. He came to New York last Monday from Baltimore, where he had been playing. Death was due to a general breakdown in health, following an operation for the removal of his right eye several months ago.

Born at Boston, Mass., July 29, 1857, Goodwin was a familiar figure on the American stage for many years. He made his first appearance in 1874 and subsequently played leading roles in many successful plays in the United States and England.

Sketch of Career

Goodwin's histrionic career dated back to his school days in an academy at Farmington, Maine, where his ability at mimicry won him local renown. After brief period at clerks in Boston stores, during which he read Shakespeare and studied dramatic art he made his professional debut as a new-boy in "Law in New York," at Boston, in 1874. The following year found him at the famous Tony Pastor's, in New York, and from then until his death his theatrical activities were marked with almost uninterrupted successes, both as star and as producer.

Goodwin was five times married. His first wife was Eliza Weatherly.

A Mother's Happiness Made Perfect

Of Utmost Importance That She Have Every Care.

The expectant mother's physical comfort should be our first thought, and all about her should see to it that her preparation for baby's coming be complete.

There is a most splendid remedy to prepare women for the greatest time in their lives, known as Mother's Friend. It is applied to the muscles of the abdomen, gently rubbed in, and at once penetrates to relieve strain on nerves, cords and ligaments. It makes the muscles so pliant that they expand easily when baby arrives; the hours at the time are fewer, and pain and danger at the crisis is naturally avoided.

Mother's Friend enables the mother to preserve her health and strength, and she remains a pretty mother by having avoided discomfort and suffering which more often than otherwise accompanies such an occasion when nature is unaided. Every nerve, muscle and tendon is thoroughly lubricated. Discomfort during the period is counteracted, and the skin, after the crisis, is left smooth and natural.

Write to the Bradford Regulator Company, Dept. B, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their Mother's Friend book, and obtain a bottle of Mother's Friend from the drug store today without fail.

a comedy actress, who died in 1887. A few years later he married Nellie Baker Peasay. In 1898, Maxine Elliott, with whom he appeared in a large repertoire of plays; subsequently Miss Edna Goodrich (Bested Edna Stephens) who was his leading woman for several years, and his most recent wife was Margaret Moreland, now the wife of an army lieutenant. Goodwin's country home was at Ocean Park, Santa Monica, Cal.

Sixth Marriage Planned

Goodwin was soon to have taken a sixth wife, Georgia Gardner of Los Angeles, Calif., who is living in the company in which Goodwin was starting at the time of his death. She came to New York a few days ago to arrange for his care here.

The removal of Goodwin's eye was the result of an error of an employee made several weeks ago in arranging an eye wash for the actor. Chloroform instead of the usual liquid was placed in the cup and Goodwin's eye was seriously injured.

At the hotel here today it was said that the actor suffered a slight stroke of apoplexy just before he died.

Goodwin's parents live in Roxbury, Mass., where burial will take place.
