THOUGHT ANYBODY COULD DRIVE FORD The sight of what seemed to be a broncho bucking Ford car cleared the street of pedestrians on Main street between Front street and Central avenue yesterday afternoon, and even startled some of the habitual loiterers in that section into activity and started them to climbing poles for safety. Two men, father and son, who were strangers in the city, hired the car of Jim Leslie for an hour's spin around town. Leslie of course supposed that they knew how to drive. They got in the car and the son, about 17 or 18 years old, started to drive. The car at once shot across the street, headed for Heath's drug store. Then the frantic driver pulled some lever and gave another turn of the wheel, and the Ford whirled around and started for the First National bank, but was stopped by colliding with a touring car on the south side of Main street. In the collision the smaller car was badly damaged but the large car entirely escaped damage. Chief of Police Timothy at once notified the strangers that while they were welcome to our beautiful city, if they attempted to drive any car while in our midst he would arrest them. *

TO BUILD ROAD ALONG BANKS OF KLAMATH RIVER EUREKA, Cal., Feb. 1.—That splendid isolation that has kept the upper waters of the Klamath river almost as unknown as the depths of the Amazon is to be broken and with its passing the Indian with his dugout canoe will no longer race unobserved by curious eyes down the long swirling rapids of the river. Humboldt county has entered into a partnership with the federal government whereby ten miles of road are to be built into the Somes Bar country in the northeastern part of the county. With the opening of this highway a passage will be available into Siskiyou county and automobile voyagers through the Sacramento valley will have a wonderful realm for adventure opened to them. An almost entire lack of roads has enabled the Klamath river Indian to live in primeval surroundings until the present day, and as a result he is one of the most interesting natives to be found in California. The wigwag on the shore, the papoose on the shoulders of the squaw and the tribal rituals handed down for generations still are part of his life. Along the majestic sweep of the Klamath there remain many little Indian settlements where a white man can bargain much as in the days of old. Some knowledge of American history has penetrated into the wilds of the region, one of the most bizarre convictions among the Indians being that George Washington discovered America. *

ALBERS BET ON GERMANY TO WIN PORTLAND, Feb. 1.—After John Harvey Noyes of the Globe Milling company here had testified today that J. Henry Albers, wealthy miller now on trial charged with sedition and disloyalty, had made two bets with him that Germany would be victorious, testimony ceased and arguments on the case began. Adjudgment was taken at noon today until Monday afternoon and it was predicted that the Albers case would not go to the jury until some time on Tuesday. Albers testified yesterday that he had made no bet on German prowess during the war. Noyes declared today that he had made two bets of ten dollars each with the defendant. In 1914 Albers bet that the German army would be in London within sixty days, Noyes said. In 1915 Albers bet that Germany would win the war within a year from that date. One of the bets was paid, Noyes declared. *

WALKED A MILE TO SHOW AKRON TRUSS TO FRIEND Age 45. Very large Scrotal Rupture 30 yrs. Standing. Occupation—Laborer. Fitted with "Wonderful" Truss. I received your Truss in good shape on the 16th and was so well pleased with the looks of same that I walked a mile that evening to show it to a ruptured friend. I am well pleased and think it the best truss I ever saw or have ever worn. I would not part with it for five times the price. Wish to thank you for your square deal and you may use my name any time you like. Sincerely yours, EDWARD LEICHTLE. HEATH'S DRUG STORE THE SAN TOX STORE. *
