

15 CARGO SHIPS IN WAR SERVICE LOST DURING 1918

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Fifteen cargo ships with a dead weight tonnage of 103,692 were lost during 1918 by the Naval Overseas Transportation service, according to a report made public today by the district supervisor of the third naval district. The removal of the ban of secrecy, vital during the war as a shield to these vessels and their crews, discloses that six ships, aggregating 42,827 tons, were destroyed by enemy activity, five vessels with a combined tonnage of 44,071 tons, were sunk in collisions and four vessels, totalling 16,994 tons were destroyed by fire and explosion.

The report traces the growth of the Naval Overseas Transportation service since the time of its organization late in 1917 and describes the part played by it in transporting food, munitions and supplies for troops and naval vessels abroad. Seventy-two ships were originally assigned to this service and when the armistice was signed, November 11, 1918, the cargo fleet numbered 453 vessels, including 106 ships ready to be taken over.

Crews of navy cargo ships are said to have endured the greatest hardships of the war. Their lives constantly endangered, they faced the perils of the deep, the menace of an unseen foe, the danger of collision and the liability to instant death by accidents from inflammable cargoes.

It is on record that a convoy of fifteen ships from New York was disintegrated by a violent storm in mid-Atlantic and that only two of the entire number reached France under convoy. "Every ship for herself" the forty-eight others by luck, pluck and constant vigil all finally dropped their anchors in the protected harbors of their destination.

The value of a cargo ship is realized when it is known that under existing war conditions each ship cost to operate $100 every hour. Good, bad and indifferent ships, old or new, fast or slow, were transformed by the magic of naval energy into serviceable craft. Unromantic rusty tramps were created into models of efficiency by the halo of a dazzling camouflage.

The personnel of the Naval Overseas Transportation service at the present time includes 5000 officers and 45,000 enlisted men.

Women in War Work Attention, women of Medford. Will you kindly lend your assistance in the making of the remainder of lavettes the Red Cross has on hand. If you will call at Red Cross rooms, any one or more articles belonging to a lavette will be given to you to take to your home and make and it will require but a small amount of your valuable time.

American wounded soldiers raised a Red Cross flag on a captured German submarine in the Thames river at London.

General Pershing is permitting American soldiers from the army of occupation in Germany to have furloughs in England and the American Red Cross is busy providing entertainment for them.

Instead of the gray-green legions that not so long ago poured into Chautauq Thiercy, there is a different army fast occupying the famous little French town. The American Red Cross is shipping ducks, chickens and rabbits into the "shell shocked" city that is fast returning to normal life. Cheerful and significant eagles greet the French housewife and chattering once more summons the dawn.

The Italian Red Cross mobilized 10,000 volunteer nurses for duty in war hospitals.

The British Red Cross chapter in the Argentine raised $23,000 for the British Red Cross, "Our Day" fund, through the raffle of household goods.

Articles to the value of $10,000 were donated, enabling the committee to offer 200 prizes.

The Lord Mayor of London entertained 300 American boys, half sailors on leave, and half convalescent wounded from Red Cross hospitals. Some of these boys had laid in plaster casts for three months and this was their first outing.

More than 6,000,000 old fashioned cookies, "like mother used to make," were made in France and distributed with Red Cross compliments during the eight weeks immediately preceding and following the signing of the armistice. The cookies were made especially for the American soldiers in the field, and the wounded in the hospitals and for distribution from Red Cross centers.

The Red Cross hut worker writing from France enumerates the requisites of a good hospital hut worker: The meekness of Moses, the wisdom of Solomon, the clarity of the Queen of Sheba, the strength of Samson, the longevity of Methuselah, the demerit of the Good Samaritan and the Diplomacy of Machiavelli.

Extensions of Service Chief among the extensions of service to our soldiers in France have been the enlargements of canteen facilities at Bordeaux, Brest, and other embarkation ports; the establishment of stations and assignment of workers to receive American prisoners coming out of Germany, of whom 1700 were cared for at Vichy, Strasbourg, and Metz prior to January 1; the installation of new canteens at many points, including Nancy and Revinay; and the business of keeping pace with the American army of occupation as it marched to the Rhine. Searchers, nurses, doctors, and supplies were forwarded in great quantities to Treves, Stenay, and other distributing points. In Alsace, all the wounded who had been abandoned by the retreating Germans were cared for and sent by ambulance to base hospitals.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS By A. C. Howlett.

George T. Wilson, who has a homestead near the Derby station, came in Saturday night about midnight looking for shelter from himself and horses. He had started from his ranch where he had been employed cutting wood, late in the day and did not take into consideration the condition of the roads and when he came to the F. J. Ayres ranch it was about five o'clock p. m. and from there on is a solid mass of sticky to the Reese creek school house, and in narrating his experience, the next day, said that every time a wheel would roll over it would gather itself full of mud and the result was that he was thus late getting into the hotel. But after getting warm and dry he went to bed and rested until 11 o'clock Sunday morning and was ready for his dinner. The reader will remember that that night was the one we had such a heavy downpour of rain, but after dinner he seemed to be all right and none the worse for his experience in sticky.

William Von der Hellen, wife and son and daughter were guests Sunday at the Sunnyside.

I am authorized by one of the school directors to say that if there are no more cases of flu developed here by Monday, the 17th, that our school will reopen for business. The last cases of the disease seem to be getting along very well and it is thought that by that time there will be no danger of anyone taking it from those who have had it.

W. Bergaman and Audley Meyer, two of our soldier boys, came in on the Harshish auto stage Monday morning and went to their homes on the stage, one to Lake Creek and the other to the Bergaman farm on the Free Ferry road.

Nick Young, our newly appointed road supervisor and Alex Betz were among the diners at the Sunnyside Monday. Nick says that just as soon as the roads dry enough to work that he is going at it, but now about all that he can do is to keep the water drain off of the cuts.

Noble Zimmerman, one of our Jackson county boys who has been stationed at Camp Lewis, came in Monday evening and remained until this Wednesday morning. He wanted to go up to Butte Falls on the little

THESE DURABLE SOLES WORN BY MILLIONS

"After giving Neolin Soles a thorough trial, I would not go back to the soles I used to wear even though the cost were less. I receive twice the service from shoes with Neolin Soles," writes G. P. Jones, of Omaha. More than 10,000,000 pairs of Neolin Soles have been put on American shoes. People were quick to realize the advantages of this scientifically-made sole—its long wear, its comfort, water-proofness and its final economy. Good shoe stores everywhere sell Neolin-soled shoes in many styles for men, women, and children. And any repairman will re-sole your worn shoes with Neolin Soles—made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio; who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.

motor car, on the railroad, but the car was loaded down to its capacity, seven passengers, so he started out this morning on Walker's line, intending to stop and visit his aunt, Mrs. Lee Edmondson near Derby.

Mrs. Sherman Wooley came out Tuesday morning on the auto stage from Medford and was met here by her husband with a rig to take her home.

N. E. Slusser, our barber, has bought out an agate cutting set of machinery in Medford and a motor from A. J. Florey and is preparing to cut and finish up agates. He is putting the outfit in the back part of his barber shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Dolph Phipps passed thru here Tuesday on their way to their sheep ranch, the Hoagland place near Brownsboro. Ed Phipps brought his daughter-in-law as far as here in a car leaving her at the Sunnyside, and later her husband came on in a wagon and they both took dinner with us.

Amos Ayres came in with a team from the Ayres farm to meet his sister-in-law, Mrs. Henry Childreth and two children of Ashland, at the Sunnyside, taking them home with him and after visiting them a few days Mrs. Childreth and children will go up on Elk creek to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Trusty.

Mr. Marston, who has been working on the Corbin orchard and left there some time ago, storing his household goods in Mr. Knighton's barn while looking for a place to settle on, has decided to go to Gold Hill and had a truck come out from Central Point to take his stuff there and after loading and starting as soon as the truck reached the wet ground it settled down and stopped and after the two men who were with the truck and Mr. Knighton had worked about two hours two of the neighbor girls, Misses Hazel Brown and Allison Officer, came in to see the outcome. The result was that when the men had everything ready Mr. Knighton said, "Now, girls, you lift on that side and I will lift on this and we will push it right out," and sure enough they did, for the truck went out on a jump—the advantage of well developed muscle—but I heard that they had trouble on the desert and wired to Medford for help.

Mrs. N. E. Watkins and her daughter, Miss Anna went to Medford this morning on the Lewis jitney.

Mrs. R. A. Bradshaw who lives on the Medford-Brownsboro road, was doing business with our merchants this forenoon.

Ex-Sheriff Jennings and three more gentlemen passed thru here this morning on their way up the country in an auto.

C. W. Scott and Charles Newstrom, of Lake Creek, called late for dinner today. Mr. Scott intended, if he could get thru with business to go on to Medford tonight. He speaks very discouragingly concerning the prospect for further developments of the manganese mines as there is no demand for the ore since the close of hostilities. They have a car of the ore now on the platform at the P. & E. depot that he would like to sell very cheap.

as the "little lady on the hill," left Wednesday for Cleveland, Ohio, to be with her father, who is ill with paralysis. Mrs. McCready expects to be absent at least six months, during which time she will be sadly missed by us all and especially the Red Cross, where she was an earnest and helpful worker.

Mrs. Hawkins, after visiting her home folks here, returned to her home at Weed, Calif., where she and her husband will commence house-keeping.

R. E. Nealon of Table Rock was a business caller here last week. There was a noticeable scarcity of apples in our precinct this winter and many were grateful to Mr. Ward that he held his crop for the usual good spring market.

School is now progressing under Miss Eveland with a noticeable improvement, and it is hoped the patrons will appreciate the teacher's earnest endeavor to bring the school out of its slack condition, by having their children attend regularly.

Mrs. O. T. Wilson and children in company with D. C. Wilson, visited Table Rock relatives Sunday.

Says It is the Best in the World There is one remedy that those who know depend upon for relief from coughs that "hang on" after the grip. Foley's Honey and Tar clears the passages, soothes raw, inflamed membranes and banishes irritation and tickling in the throat. A. H. McDoniel, Box 51, Lindside, W. Va., writes: "I am glad to tell you that Foley's Honey and Tar is the best medicine in this world. I have had a severe cough and before I used half a bottle I was better."
