CLEMENCEAU SHOT THRICE

shortly before noon, the Associated Press was informed, he was sitting up in an armchair smoking and laughing with his staff of assistants.

The only sign of trouble from the wound, it was stated, was a slightly increased temperature.

An enormous crowd which observed a respectful silence, assembled near M. Clemenceau's residence after the occurrence. Within a half hour President Poincare arrived. He was quickly followed by various members of the cabinet, high officials of the army and navy, as well as of the diplomatic corps, including William Graves Sharp, the American ambassador.

George Clemenceau has been one of the leading statesmen of France for decades, but it was not until the critical stages of the great war and he took the reins and guided the country through to the end of the struggle that he became the world renowned figure that he is today.

With the war or at least the actual fighting, ended, M. Clemenceau has continued at the head of the French government during the trying peace-making period. Head of the French delegation in the peace conference he has been an outstanding figure in the deliberations of that body, over whose sessions he presided.

Of an extremely vigorous and aggressive personality, Premier Clemenceau, while attracting to himself a large and warmly loyal following, has as well determined and outspoken opinions. At every turn of affairs in the parliament, however, he has been able to wear down the opposition to him and just before the opening of the peace conference he and his administration were given a striking vote of confidence by the chamber of deputies.

Premier Clemenceau, while formerly known as a radical, has come to be classed in later years as a representative rather of the more moderate elements in the French body politic. Notwithstanding his advanced years—he is 76 years old—M. Clemenceau has continued in recent months to justify the sobriquet of "the tiger" which long has been applied to him, going through the trying work of the peace conference, with its many long consultations, without often showing signs of fatigue.

LINA CAVALIERI AT LIBERTY TODAY

Much of the story of her own career is reproduced in "A Woman of Impulse," the splendid Paramount photoplay starring Mme. Lina Cavalieri, the famous singer and beauty which will be shown at the Liberty theatre today.

In her latest photoplay, Mme. Cavalieri appears as Leonora, the daughter of a poor face maker whose marvellous voice attracts the attention of a wealthy American who gives her a home in his family and defrays the expenses of her musical education. She soon becomes famous and later weds Count Nerval, a Spaniard, who is extremely jealous of her. A young American enters her life with the result that although innocent, she is estranged from her husband. A tragedy then clouds her career, but she is finally restored to happiness and her husband's love.

Charlie Chaplin in his latest million dollar picture in three big parts will be shown at the Page beginning Thursday. This best of all his features was here before but could only be shown one day on account of the flu. "What do you mean?" demands the irate lieutenant of Doughboy Charlie as he stands, firing his rifle at the enemy, his face turned to the rear. "I hate him so I can't look at him" answered Charlie.

THE COUNTRY COUSIN AT PAGE MONDAY

Miss Alexandra Carlisle comes to the Page Monday, Feb. 24th, in "The Country Cousin," a comedy by Booth Tarkington and Julian Street. Miss Carlisle is an English woman by birth and made a great success on the stage in London before coming to this country nine years ago. Now she has adopted America as her home and has purchased a large farm in Massachusetts. She is leading woman with E. H. Sothorn and John Drew before creating the role of Nancy Price in "The Country Cousin". She comes here under the Klaw & Erlanger and George C. Tyler management and is supported by an exceptionally strong company including Alfred Hunt, Jack Crosby, Grace Hampton, Genevieve Tobin, Julia Stuart and others.

ASHLAND AND VICINITY

On Friday night this week the big Nalatorium will be the scene of a local entertainment rivaling anything presented locally during the midwinter season. The event will be a fancy dress party, and hostesses will be members of the Wednesday afternoon club. The grand march will occur promptly at 9 o'clock, and this will be the signal for the "grand opening" of the holiday frolic, the gaieties anticipating Washington's birthday proper, by observing the evening previous instead. Costumes displayed will represent different epochs in the history of various nations. A formal and stately reception, with all formalities cast aside for the time being, will set the pace for the merriments of the hour. There will also be fortune telling and living pictures, while appropriate music will add inspiration to a pastime which will incorporate an ideal social event. Only 25 cents pays the bill. Light refreshments will be served. Fun, frolic and feasting for that sum will not involve much of a financial responsibility, consequently let the event be liberally patronized.

Mrs. H. L. Walther of Portland, daughter of Mrs. A. H. Russell, was a visitor with numerous relatives here last Saturday and Sunday.

The genial William Howard Taft, ex-president, ex-secretary of war and extra good citizen, the versatility of whose accomplishments fit him to occupy any position either exalted or humble, passed through Ashland on Tuesday afternoon direct from the peace conference at Portland. He was given an ovation during the train stop here, and gracefully responded in a manner befitting the possessor of a true American citizenship, which stands for the highest ideals. His congeniality was proven to be even more than proverbial. The Taft smile is not forced, it is natural and infectious, indicating the personification of sympathetic qualities and good fellowship.

Dr. Janet Reid cancelled her engagement to appear here in addresses to women Wednesday and Thursday of this week, having been summoned elsewhere, under urgent circumstances.

ces to continue her work along lines as outlined under government auspices.

Long distance phone wires were kept busy during the brief stay of the 65th in Portland. About 10 o'clock on Monday night Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Simpson were called up and had a welcome talk with their son Harold, several other of the boys butting in by way of adding their best respects. The father of Frank Hibbs got a telegram announcing Frank's arrival with the 65th, safe and sound. Frank was a wagoner with one of the detachments overseas, and was missed in France. A recapitulation of casualties in the 65th include several names of Ashland boys and residents of towns adjacent. Guy Spencer of this vicinity, died of pneumonia at Limerick, France, July 14, he being a member of Battery E. Artinas Spooner of Medford, belonging to the same battery, died of disease at Mussey, Sur-Mons, France, Dec. 10. Fred Scherman, of Battery D, was wounded by shrapnel at the second battle of Arzonne, Nov. 1, Fred didn't return with the 65th, having by some unavoidable cause been detained in France. He was not regarded as having been seriously wounded. A late letter, dated Jan. 23, says all is well with him.

Ralph Hadfield, of the navy, is home on a furlough. One has to go out of town to learn that the Teachers' club will meet in Ashland, Saturday, Feb. 23, a formal program to be discussed at both morning and afternoon sessions. Rev. C. A. Edwards, Methodist pastor and one of the most pleasing speakers of this or any other section, is scheduled for an address on "Theodore Roosevelt." Owing to illness Mr. Edwards was denied the privilege of attending the Lincoln banquet at Medford, and if able to attend the teachers' gathering, it goes without saying that his remarks concerning T. R., who in many respects was a typical American, will be the antithesis of the Great Emancipator, will be a matter of diffidence to all concerned.

Father and Son day will be fittingly observed at Moose hall, on Thursday evening, February 20. The event is a spontaneous movement on get-together lines, whereby dads and kids may participate in and profit by the well known methods of cementing and blending the elements which bind father and son into closer communion and fellowship. Of course there will be a banquet, and it will be a good one, absolutely "non-sectarian" as to the range of edibles supplied. After feasting will follow the social hours interwoven with opportune talks, literary selections and musical accompaniments.

G. R. Sigerland has come into the possession of his own through the purchase from A. B. Reeves of the residence property at 66 Second street, presently occupied by A. Hall. Mr. Sigerland will improve the place and alter on occupy it. Transfer through channels of the eBayer Realty company. Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Saunders have learned from their daughter Josephine, emaced in reconstruction work under government auspices in France, that she landed in New York early in the month. The information was brief and the family awaits particulars.

Mr. and Mrs. William Young of Moose Jaw, Alberta, and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Young of Medford, were visitors early in the week at the home of Mr.

BROWN & WHITE

and Mrs. J. H. Turner on Union street. J. H. Fuller, lately moving here from the vicinity of Talent, has been elected manager of the Chautauque assembly, arrangements for the holding of which will soon be under way, the intent being to make the 1919 event a memorable one in Chautauque annals.

By virtue of an appointment from the governor, J. H. Fuller attended the peace conference at Portland as duly accredited delegate from this locality. His father accompanied him. Darrell Minkler, first radio operator on the U. S. Steamer North Bend, is enjoying a furlough, incident to repairs being made on the ship at the Brooklyn navy yard. A notable trip was one made to Washington where he visited his uncle, Col. T. W. Hammond, a member of the general staff of the army. He also witnessed a session of congress, almost as interesting as a meeting of the Ashland city council when a special measure comes up.

Leo Trefren, for sometime past holding a fine job in the war department at Washington, has wired his folks here that he has left for Stockholm, Sweden, summoned overseas in connection with an important diplomatic mission.

ROGUE RIVER

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Merithorn came up from the Pass on Sunday to visit his father, who has been sick but is now improving.

Mrs. E. Hurd and Mrs. Cate of Medford as well as Mr. Morrill, school supervisor, were visitors for the farm bureau meeting on Monday.

Miss Lucy Carl entertained her young friends at an evening party on Friday at her home on Foothills creek with music and games. A pleasant evening was spent.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. Mrs. Colborn has disposed of her property here to Mr. Allen, now of Colorado, but who formerly lived here. On his arrival to take possession she will go to Fresno, Calif. to make her home with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hayes. Her many friends regret her departure from among us. Her patience and cheerful spirit under her great affliction of pain and helplessness have been an example to all and she took a lively interest in everything affecting the welfare of the community, especially the church, of which she has long been a devoted member.

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take Salts for Backache or Bladder trouble—Neutralizes acids. Urine held in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must get them flush of the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad. Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.
