

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

The postoffice will be closed all day tomorrow and there will be no city delivery of mail by carriers because it is Washington's birthday, a national holiday. The banks will also be closed all day Saturday as will the federal city and county offices. The fact that mail will not be delivered tomorrow makes two days for the people of Medford will have to go without mail, Saturday and Sunday.

Also Taxi. Phone 95.
The Elks lodge have postponed their monthly reception for all returned soldiers of the B. P. O. E. order, which was to have been held next week Thursday night, to a week later because the Medford unit of the 65th artillery will not be home by next Thursday, but surely will be by March 6th.

Don't kick about high-priced shoes when you can buy them for cost at No. 18 South Central. Sale will close at 5 p. m., Feb. 25th.
Mrs. Albert F. Noth and baby daughter left today for a visit with Mrs. Noth's parents at Cottage Grove, Litchia water at DeVoe's.

Arrangements have been made by the finance committee that all contributions to be used for Medford's reception to her soldier boys may be left at the office of Mayor C. E. Gates. It is desired that these be given at an early date, as most of the boys may be returning sooner than has been expected.

Dr. H. P. Hargrave, physician. Rooms 409-410 Garnett-Corey Bldg., phone 238.
Raymond Glatt, a college fraternity brother of Coach Heldenreich of the high school, is visiting for a few days at the latter's home. While in college Mr. Glatt was very prominent in college activities and is well known throughout the northwest. He is now present in the berry raising business at Salem.

Guaranteed piston rings for all cars. C. E. Gates Auto Co.
Only a part of the 162d infantry, formerly the Third Oregon infantry, two of whose companies, I and C, are well known in Medford, arrived from France this week Wednesday. The 162d was used as a regiment of auxiliaries. "Out of the 3700 boys I took over, I am bringing back 1223," said Colonel May, on landing in New York. "We had six hundred casualties, among which only two were killed in action and only fourteen seriously wounded. The rest of the troops are scattered all over France in various commands."

Nash Hotel. Special rates, week or month. Steam heat. 267*
Among recent arrivals at the Hotel Medford are Mr. and Mrs. J. Gray of New York city.

It pays to save in the Building & Loan, 429 M. F. & H. Bldg.
L. B. and H. H. Lusk who arrived here last Wednesday from Chicago to visit their mother, Mrs. W. M. Lusk, left this morning for Klamath Falls where they expect to locate.

For fire insurance phone 64, corner Eleventh street and S. P. track. D. B. Wood & Co.
County Prosecutor Roberts arrived home Friday forenoon from Portland where he transacted business before the federal court.

Our rabbits are selling so rapidly we dare not say how many left. Still some big bargains. Crane Rabbitry, 1059 Court. 283
Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Casler and son, R. M. Casler, and wife, are in the city today, guests at the Oxford, says the Grants Pass Courier.

The party left DeWitt, N. M., February 3, for Portland, stopping over two days in Los Angeles, and but for the heavy roads from Redding to Dunsmuir would have made the entire journey to Grants Pass in their car. They encountered many autos on the slippery almost buried in the snow.

Greatest most producing animal in world, government statistics; the rabbit. 282
Mrs. Nan Kenny of Buncom, this county, and Mrs. Mary Clark of Portland were among the visitors at the Commercial club Thursday afternoon.

Dress making at home. 422 North Grape street. 288
Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Tenwillken of Agor, are among the northern California visitors in the city. They are guests at the Hotel Holland.

Nurses to come in training, $5.00 a month for first year; $7.50 for second; $10.00 for the third. Board, room and laundry free. Medford Sanitarium. 284*

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY
FOR SALE—One pure bred Jersey bull with papers; one pure Jersey cow; one 50-ton Jones silo; one 600-lb. Mellotte separator; shafts from 75 to 100 lbs. T. E. Beaulieu, Route 2, Central Point. 288

FOR SALE—Best built tractor in the state at Paart & Lyons, Central Point. 288

FOR SALE—Now is the time to secure your farm home while prices are low. How is this? 100 acres, 5 room house, barn, 5 acres commercial orchard, 15 acres irrigated, front one-half mile on Rogue river, half mile from school, church and depot; $2700 buys. Good terms. See E. H. Hurd, 213-14 Garnett-Corey Bldg., Medford. 283

WEEKS & MCGOWAN CO UNDERTAKER
Day Phone: Pacific 227.
Night Phones: F. W. Weeks, 103-12.
Lady Assistant.

Former Sheriff Ralph Jennings of the Applegate district, returned home today after a day's visit in Medford.
Mrs. Paul Hansen, experienced corsetier, for Nu-Bone Corsets. Phone 583-11. 290
Mrs. Fred O'Kelly of Williams and Mrs. Lou Tryor of Grants Pass, returned home Thursday from Jacksonville where they attended the funeral of a relative.

Bakery goods at DeVoe's.
In publishing the splendid war record of Lieutenant Floyd H. Hart of Medford, the Eugene Guard calls attention to the fact that he is a former member of the 1920 class of the University of Oregon and a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity, and adds "that he is not certain he will resume his studies at the university."

Guaranteed spark plugs for all cars. C. E. Gates Auto Co.
W. Hutton of Central Point, was a Medford visitor Friday.
A two-lb. box of Vogans' chocolates for $1.25 at DeVoe's.

University of Oregon defeated Pullman Thursday evening by a score of 43 to 27.
Alco Taxi. Phone 95.
Addison Robinson, U. S. marines, of Sentinel Butte, North Dakota, is visiting Frederick Hopkins, Jr., at Snowy Butte orchard.

Windshield glasses for all cars. C. E. Gates Auto Co.
Mrs. F. H. Hopkins left Thursday evening for a ten days visit in Portland.
Malted milk 50c lb. DeVoe's.

The tax rolls have been turned over to the sheriff and taxpaying time is here.
DeVoe has a fine line of assorted chocolates at 60c per pound.
Game Warden P. H. Daily, Screen Superintendent J. C. Aiken and J. W. Berrian went to Butte Falls Friday to install a water wheel for power purposes at the fish hatchery.

City hemstitching and peccotting 5c yd. Mrs. B. E. Haney. 274*
Mrs. N. A. Hannum of San Francisco is among the guests registered at the Hotel Holland.
Alco Taxi. Phone 95.

Mrs. A. L. Goff of Whiderville, after a visit with her son, C. L. Goff, and family, in Medford, left for Klamath county today to visit another son, A. L. Goff, who is superintendent of the fish hatchery which is located near the Klamath Indian agency.

Hemstitching, peccotting, all work guaranteed. Vanity Hat Shop.
W. H. Wintermute and Joseph Stark are among the visitors in the city from San Francisco today.
For the best insurance see Holmes, the Insurance Man.

The ladies of Roosevelt circle will be hostesses at a Washington tea tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 5 at the home of Mrs. E. J. Skeewis, 348 East Main street. An interesting program of music and readings will be presented and Rev. L. Myron Boozer will give an address. Everyone is invited, especially is it hoped that all mothers represented in the Roosevelt school and that members of other circles will come and enjoy an hour of fellowship as we are all working together toward a common purpose, a purpose that stands for all that is best in the life of our children.

You can always find something for a quick lunch at DeVoe's.
Mrs. G. S. Beck and five months old son who had been visiting her mother, Mrs. M. C. Medley, left for their home at Weed this morning.

Dr. Helme, Garnett-Corey Bldg.
Private Fred Williams, of Rogue River, arrived in Medford today from Camp Lewis where he was mustered out of the 28th field artillery after seven months of service.
Guaranteed springs for all cars. C. E. Gates Auto Co.

Portland visitors in the city today included P. S. Shurrard, E. F. Fay, W. A. Ward, Nye Kern, W. C. Mandell, Chas. P. Syre and Max Friedenthal.
Get your milk, cream, butter and buttermilk at DeVoe's.

Dr. Edward de Reymonte, wife and daughter, of San Francisco, are guests at the Hotel Medford. The doctor helped out during the flu epidemic at Hill and other northern California points, is contemplating locating in Medford.
Daily's Taxi. Dodge cars. Phone 15.

Lieutenant Jay Gore, who has been in the service for many months, has been discharged from Camp Lewis and is in Eugene visiting fraternity brothers at the Beta Theta Pi house. Lieutenant Gore left Eugene with the 35th ambulance corps, and was chosen to attend an officers' training school. It is possible that he will re-enter the university next term. His home is at Medford.—Eugene Guard.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Mrs. A. G. Messner of Klamath Falls, is a sojourner in the city and a guest at the Hotel Medford.
Visitors at the hotels today included M. H. McCuey, J. Cunningham and E. E. Batty of Seattle, Geo. S. Barton and C. H. Corson of Grants Pass, J. C. Deel of Salem, H. S. Seymour of Grants Pass, V. G. Bradley of Copco, C. F. Diemer of Eugene, John Peterson of Glendale and J. F. Terry of Meritt.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.

Friday was a day of weather contrasts. With a temperature of 32 degrees above prevailing about 7 a. m., the sun came out bright, the air took on a spring-like feeling, and the outlook was for a magnificent day. An hour or so later the sky became cloudy and remained overcast and threatening, until at noon it began raining and early this afternoon a comparatively heavy snow began falling. Probable rain is the prediction for tonight and Saturday.