

SARGENT TELLS HOW GERMANY LOST THE WAR

The North American Review for February contains the first of a series of articles on "The Strategy of the Western Front," by Col. H. H. Sargent U. S. A. of Medford, who recently returned after serving the period of the war on the general staff in Washington. Colonel Sargent is regarded as an authority on military matters and the author of several books on tactics and strategy used as text books in military establishments.

Colonel Sargent in his opening article holds that Germany lost the war by violating the cardinal principles of strategy, by undertaking simultaneous offensives on both eastern and western fronts, instead of following the Napoleonic rule of taking the offensive along but one line at a time. Had Germany, he states, followed this rule, and held defensively the 150 mile French front from Luxembourg to Switzerland and then united the remainder of her forces with those of Austria offensively against first Russia and then Serbia, she could have defeated the armies of both shortly and have returned victoriously to the western front and with overwhelming forces have invaded and conquered France—and had in the meantime, Great Britain and Belgium declared war, she could have held her frontiers against them, for neither had then an available army—and upon her return from the east, have gone through Belgium without making the world her enemy by violating the neutrality of the small nation. Had this plan been followed, the war would not have lasted at the most, over two years. Great Britain would not have declared war against her at the beginning, and Germany would not have lost the friendship of the world and the war.

FEDERAL BILL TO PREVENT DISPLAY OF RED FLAGS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Legislation to punish anarchistic activities or propaganda and the display of flags or other emblems of violence was recommended unanimously today by the senate judiciary committee.

The committee drafted and ordered favorably reported a measure combining the "red flag" bill of Senator New of Indiana, and other bills designed to check unlawful agitation.

The committee acted without awaiting the outcome of the inquiry into radical propaganda now being conducted. The new bill, which is expected to meet the demands of Senators New, Jones and others who have insisted upon action to curb I. W. W. and other radical activities, follows:

"Section 1.—That the display or exhibition of any meeting, gathering or parade, public or private, of any flag, banner or emblem, symbolizing or intended by the person or persons displaying or exhibiting the same, to symbolize a purpose to overthrow, by force or violence, or by physical injury to personal property, or by the general cessation of industry, the government of the United States or all government, is hereby declared to be unlawful.

Section 2.—It shall be unlawful for any person to advocate or incite or to write or with intent to forward such purpose, to print, publish, sell or distribute any document, book, circular, paper, journal or other written or printed communication in or by which there is advocated or incited the overthrow by force or violence, or by physical injury to personal property, or by the general cessation of industry, of the government of the United States or all government.

"Section 3.—That any person or persons convicted of violating any section of this act shall be fined not more than $5,000 or imprisoned for not more than five years, or both."

A sub-committee consisting of Senators Walsh of Montana, King of Utah and Brandegee of Connecticut, was authorized to add an additional section extending the bill's provisions to transmission through the mails of the prescribed propaganda.

SENATE PUTS TAX ON OLEOMARGARINE

SALEM, Feb. 21.—Oleomargarine was given a rap in the senate yesterday afternoon when senate bill 236, by Pierce, was passed by a vote of 21 to 6.

That oleomargarine is now being shipped into the state in such large quantities and is backed by such a wholesale advertising campaign that it is threatening the existence of the dairy industry was the assertion made by Senator Pierce in supporting the bill. He said that if some check is not placed upon the importation and use of oleomargarine many dairymen and farmers who are milking a few cows would be greatly injured.

The bill provides for licensing manufacturers and dealers in oleomargarine, as follows: Manufacturing $1000 a year; wholesaler, $500; retailer, $100; proprietor of a hotel, restaurant or dining room, the annual sum of $50; proprietor of a boarding house, $25.

Collection of the taxes is placed in the hands of the dairy and food commissioner, who also sees to the enforcement of the provision that signs shall be displayed in any hotel dining room or restaurant where oleomargarine is used.

The vote on the bill was as follows:

Yes—Baldwin, Bell, Dimick, Eberhard, Handley, Huston, Jones, Lachmund, La Follett, Nickelsen, Norblad, Paterson, Pierce, Porter, Ritner, Shanks, Smith of Coos, Strayer, Thomas, Wood, President Vinton.

No—Banks, Farrell, Howell, Hurley, Moser Orton.

Absent—Eddy, Gill, Smith of Josephina.

PARIS POLICE RAID HOMES OF ANARCHISTS

PARIS, Feb. 21.—The police were busy all day yesterday on the Cotten case and searched the houses of some thirty members of the communist federation of the department of the Seine. Enormous masses of papers, tracts, circulars and pamphlets were carried off. Newspapers say that the papers seized at the office of the Journal Liberaire establish the fact that a regular Bolshevik organization is in existence in Paris and that it has important ramifications.

MAKE OLD SHOES WEAR LIKE NEW

"I had Neolin Soles put on my shoes—wore these shoes every day for fifteen months, then had Neolin half-soles put on. They are still in good condition," writes F. T. Evans, of Seattle, Washington.

This is cutting shoe bills down to the minimum through Neolin Soles. Anyone can do this if he will follow Mr. Evans' example, and have his shoes re-bottomed with Neolin Soles. These tough, durable soles cost no more than soles that give only ordinary wear. And all good repair shops have them.

Neolin Soles come on new shoes, too—in many styles for men, women and children. They are created by Science to be all that soles should be—comfortable and waterproof, as well as long-wearing. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear any other heels.

USE ZERO COLD TEST OILS IN WINTER

"Unless you use a zero cold test oil in cold weather motoring," said Mr. W. E. Walker of the Standard Oil company yesterday, "you might just as well have no lubricant in your car for the first 15 to 20 minutes of operation, for congealed oil does not lubricate."

"With the oil in the crankcase too thick or sluggish from the cold to splash properly, what must be the effect on cylinders and bearings during the half hour or so required for the oil to regain its proper fluidity? Excessive wear, with grave danger of serious damage to the motor, to say nothing of the drain on the batteries in trying to get started."

"To avoid this danger and annoyance, motorists should use Zerolene which is refined from California crude of the naphthene series. This oil has a natural zero cold test because there is no paraffine present to congeal at low temperatures."
