CLOTHING SCHOOL WELL ATTENDED BY PHOENIX WOMEN

The clothing exhibit and demonstration which was held Friday at Phoenix was attended by sixty or more women from various communities of the county. Arrangements for this meeting were made by Miss McCormick, home demonstration agent, under the auspices of the Jackson County Farm Bureau.

Miss Van Kirk, a specialist from the domestic art department of the Oregon Agricultural college gave demonstrations of remaking and remodeling old garments, of dressing the stout figure, of cutting and adjusting patterns, and of fitting. An exhibit of remodeled and made-over garments and of children's clothes made by the girls taking the sewing course at O. A. C., were shown.

URIC ACID IN THE SYSTEM

Uric acid is now generally recognized as the cause of more diseases than was heretofore believed. When the kidneys are out of order uric acid accumulates within the body in super abundance. The diseased kidneys do not filter the poisons out of the blood, as they ought to do, and so the poisons remain in the blood and float around until they find a place to lodge, in form of urate salts. The thing to remember is that you may have rheumatism in any part of the body—you may have pains anywhere—your back may ache and your head may be dizzy—but the trouble is not where the pain appears. The trouble is in the kidneys, and what is the first thing to do? You must get that excess uric acid out of your system, which can be done by taking Anuric Tablets, the splendid remedy which Dr. Henry of Buffalo, N. Y., has put on sale in the drug stores at a low price. Anuric Tablets (made double strength) when taken into the system as medicine, have the peculiar power of dissolving the uric acid deposited there. Drop a bit of sugar or salt into hot water, and it will disappear. In precisely the same way do these Anuric Tablets dissolve uric acid. Of course, after ridding the system of uric acid, it may return again unless you eat the right foods and live the right kind of life, but Dr. Pierce will advise you fully on proper food and correct living if you write for such advice. Take Anuric Tablets today, by all means, and get that uric acid out of your system. Don't, don't, don't, put the matter off. Adv.

SLEEPING SICKNESS.

A STRANGE disease, called "sleeping sickness" or "encephalitis" is making its appearance in various sections of the east, with frequently fatal results to those afflicted. Physicians frankly confess their ignorance of its cause and cure, but it has been definitely proven that it is not the African sleeping illness, caused by the bite of an insect, in which sleepiness is the last stage. A nationwide investigation and study of the malady has been undertaken by United States Public Health service.

The disease has not yet reached the epidemic form, although it has appeared as an epidemic in European countries. The first case was reported February 11 and a score or more cases have been reported since, principally in New York, Chicago and Washington. There may be others not yet reported.

Physicians believe that this is an altogether new disease, though there is some evidence to show that it appeared in Vienna in 1890. It is not even known whether it is infectious. Of 168 cases in England, 37 deaths were recorded, while the period of convalescence lasts six months. The stupor varies in duration from two to five weeks and the temperature of the patient ranges from 101 to 104 degrees.

The early symptoms are those of the developed disease. Usually the first symptom is catarrhal trouble or tonsillitis, with progressive lethargy. The patient becomes dazed or stupid and sleeps a great deal. Drowsiness, heaviness of the eyelids, pain in the eyes and blurred vision, accompany headaches, giddiness and hysteria, in some cases and mental depression in others.

These earlier symptoms are succeeded by symptoms of a general infectious disease. The patient lies in bed on his back, often unable to make any voluntary movement on account of muscular weakness. The face is quite expressionless and facial paralysis often ensues. The patient is in a condition of stupor, though true sleep is not often obtained. Delirium is common. The voice becomes nasal and power of speech is gradually lost. Sometimes the body is convulsed by irregular non-rhythmic movements.

No special method of treatment has yet been devised. The best that can be done is to put the patient to bed, provide good nursing, cold sponging and warm applications to ease the pain and numbness of limbs. No hypnotics or morphine or opium should be given. Anti-septic treatment of mouth and nose should be administered. Improvement, if it follows, will be slow and the patient must be warned against over-exertion in convalescence.

The Green Spring Mountain Highway

At the get-together banquet at the Medford hotel Friday evening, Fred O. Wagner of Ashland read the following paper on the Green Spring mountain highway:

We are all immensely elated over the way the state highway department is setting about it to ensure the early completion of the Pacific highway through Jackson county, but I wonder how many of our people in the Rogue river valley realize the possibilities of the projected new highway across the Cascades over the Green Spring pass from this valley into the great Klamath basin. All Southern Oregon, I believe has cause to rejoice over the fact that this important project has been approved by the state highway department in cooperation with the county courts of Klamath and Jackson counties, and that contract for construction of the first unit is soon to be let.

Location survey from the Pacific highway junction to Jenny creek was completed last fall by Engineer Scott of the state highway commission. The route eastward from Jenny creek is a comparatively simple matter of engineering. A maximum grade of six per cent was obtained in the new location survey over the mountain as against grades up to 20 per cent on the present road. The new location is also largely along sunny slopes and favorable in other ways.

From the Pacific highway junction seven miles south of Ashland the distance to Klamath Falls is a little over 50 miles. With this new road completed the Rogue river valley will be within easy three hour's reach of Klamath Falls and traffic can be maintained the year round.

The distance between Rogue river valley and Klamath Falls will be little more than one-third of what it is now by rail. The present railroad freight rate maintained between the two sections is from 89 cents to $1.30 per hundred according to classification.

This highway will also provide a necessary east and west connecting link between the Pacific and Central Oregon highways which are to eventually traverse the state north and south from the California to the Washington state lines.

To say that this road is destined to be of great material benefit to not only Jackson and Klamath counties but to very much wider areas of Southern Oregon on both sides of the Cascades is but to recognize natural conditions and the varied resources of this large territory.

The broad Klamath basin region has made wonderful strides in development within the past few years—greater perhaps than many of us realize. The lumber industry in itself has added thousands to Klamath county's labor forces and swelled the total consuming population appreciably, and is yet in its infancy there. Agriculture and stockraising are expanding in like measure and adding to the total of consumers. The most attractive of the lake region are well known to us.

But the Klamath basin, rich as it is in many export products cannot grow the fruits and berries of the Rogue river valley. It is our natural market. Last season it is estimated that approximately 50 car loads of fruits and berries were shipped into Klamath Falls from California which ought to have been supplied largely if not entirely from this county and state.

Conditions surely look good for an extensive exchange of trade between the Rogue river valley and Klamath that would add to the prosperity of both sections. A good highway over the shortest route between them will certainly help solve problems on both sides of the mountain.

The Green Springs route is one of the old passes across the Cascades—in fact years ago it furnished practically the only way for the considerable traffic between this section and the Klamath region. For years a daily stage line carried the mails for Klamath and Lake counties from Ashland over this route. The schedule I believe was 12 hours in summer and 14 in winter months from Ashland to Klamath Falls—and with rare exception mails, passengers and express came through on schedule time every day in the year.

For three years last past a daily automobile stage has been in operation over this long neglected road between Ashland and Klamath Falls during the season from April to November. Under the existing unfavorable conditions this business has grown until last year two auto stages daily were frequently required to accommodate the traffic. Besides the auto stages other tourist and general automobile traffic is estimated to have exceeded an average of 20 cars per day during the last summer season.

The Klamath basin region was pioneered largely by men and women from the Rogue river valley. They crossed this mountain route back and forth and exchanged much of their business with each other in earlier days. The relations between the two sections have been cordial through all the years. But with the larger development in each section with which transportation facilities connecting them failed to keep pace, their interchange of business has dwindled. Klamath has seven gone so far in protest against her isolation as to ask for annexation to California.

This 50 miles of good state road directly across the Cascades will help to restore her close relations with Jackson county, and the rest of Oregon, and I believe will mean much to all southern Oregon commercially, socially and politically.

Rheumatic pains, lame back, sore muscles and stiff joints most frequently can be traced to overworked, weak or disordered kidneys. Daisy Bell, R. F. OLD FAVORITES KOLB AND DILL AT PAGE FRIDAY

A glorious welcome awaits those most popular laugh provokers, Kolb and Dill, when they come Thursday evening, March 27, to the Page.

Kolb and Dill come here direct from a tremendously prosperous engagement at the Curran theater, San Francisco, which was only terminated because contracts on the part of the comedians and the theater required it. In the last week of the run capacity houses continued to be the rule, and at the last performance hundreds of admirers were literally turned away.

"As You Were" is described as a play of patriotism and laughs, and it is essentially up to the minute, dealing with matters of the great war, now happily ended. The "dramatic, military farce, with music," opens at the time of the United States declaring war against Germany. Kolb, of the lengthy pedal extremities and droll manner will impersonate a doctor in the town of Liberty, State of Democracy. "Somewhere in the United States." Dill, of the rolling orb and ponderous stomach, is cast as the town undertaker. A happy combination, surely, and one that makes for all manner of uproarious entertainment. Those that saw the play in San Francisco are unanimous in declaring it the best vehicle that Kolb and Dill ever had, which is saying much indeed.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, it is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, etc. Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A REAL ECONOMY Because of Extra Wear

There is no better judge of shoe wear and comfort than the policeman who is on his feet all day long. W. H. Berry, patrolman in Boston, Mass., says of Neolin-soled shoes: "My shoes with Neolin Soles serve me better than any others I have ever used. They keep my feet dry at all times, and do not slip."

When you buy new shoes, be sure they are Neolin-soled, and you, too, will know a better service from shoes. Moreover, these shoes are a real economy because of the extra wear they give. Most good shoe stores carry them in styles for men, women, and children. And don't throw away your old shoes. Have them re-soled with Neolin Soles. Remember—these soles are flexible and waterproof, as well as long wearing and are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.
