

REGISTRATION FOR SPECIAL ELECTION THIRD OF JUNE

There will be a special election held throughout the state on the 3rd day of June, 1919, for the purpose of voting upon measures referred by the legislature to the people of the state for their approval.

To facilitate matters at the polls on the day of election, I would recommend that all persons who have not been registered, or who have changed their place of residence, or have failed to vote at a county or state election in the past two years, call upon their precinct registrar and register before May 17th, as on that date the registration books will close.

Any who live in a precinct where I have been unable to get a person to act as registrar may register at the clerk's office.

So that you may know your precinct registrar, a list of the precincts and the names of the respective registrars follow.

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. It attacks young and old alike. In most cases the victim is warned of the approaching danger. Nature fights back. ### N. Y. PAPERS PRAISE "THE BETTER OLE"

It is not within the recollection of present-day theatergoers when New York City newspaper dramatic critics have been so unanimous in their high praise accorded as was the case with "The Better Ole," the comedy with music by Captain Bruce Batrafather and Captain Arthur Elliot, following its first performance at the exclusive Greenwich Village theatre on Oct. 19th. All predicted the play had come to stay and one became so enthusiastic as to declare "It's more than a scream. It's a saturnalia of joy. If you miss it you'll miss the best show of its kind ever seen in New York." Coming to Page soon.

CRIME RAMPANT IN LONDON SINCE END OF THE WAR

LONDON, March 7. — (Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Spectacular holdups, mysterious murders and thrilling jewelry robberies are claiming the best skill of Scotland Yard and holding the attention of the London public. Not for many years if indeed ever—have the authorities been called upon to cope with such a wave of crime as that which has swept the metropolis since the beginning of the year.

The prevalence of crime was first called to the attention of the authorities when the newspapers made a sensation out of the sudden death of "Billie" Carlton, a favorite actress, who was found dead in her apartment the morning after the famous Liberty ball several months ago. It developed that she had died from an overdose of a drug. An investigation showed that the practice of drug taking was increasing in the city and that "opium parties" were not uncommon.

Next the city was startled by the arrest of Lieutenant Colonel Norman C. Rutherford, of the army medical corps, charged with shooting to death Major Miles C. Seton, also of the medical corps, at the house of the major's cousin, Sir Malcolm Seton in Holland Park. The hearing of this case in court has not been concluded.

Murders of less importance followed, each having some unusual feature. The city was again aroused a few weeks ago by the published statement that Major H. E. Chaney of the Royal Air force, had tried to kill his aged mother, at Talgarth Mansions, and had then killed himself. Mrs. Chaney was severely wounded, but hopes are entertained for her recovery. Police investigation threw no light on the tragedy so far as the public was concerned. Major Chaney was one of the best known officers of the British air force, having been the inventor of the camera gun with which cadets were trained in aerial gunnery.

Of robberies there have been many. Holdups have taken place in the West End and in the suburbs at night, while scores of houses and apartments have been robbed in the most clever manner.

Jewelry robberies have perhaps been the most frequent crimes since the epidemic set in. A number of high class shops have been entered in daylight by thieves who, on pretense of buying diamonds, have stolen jewels to the value of many thousands of dollars.

Many causes are assigned for the

MEDFORD WOMEN FORM A CIVIC WELFARE COUNCIL

The Women's Civic Welfare Council of Medford was formally organized Saturday afternoon at a meeting held in the auditorium of the public library. The council is made up of two regularly appointed representatives from each of the women's organizations in the city. Its purpose is to afford greater opportunity for co-operation and unity of action among these organizations in matters of civic welfare which concern them all alike.

Officers for the year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. D. A. Price; vice president, Mrs. J. M. Mundy; secretary, Mrs. George Lindley. The council hopes to be truly representative and if, through an oversight, any woman's organization in Medford, whether it be religious, social or political, has not been asked to send representatives, the council requests that it will elect two members for that work and report their election to the president or secretary of the council.

It is hoped that all organizations will take advantage of this opportunity and that their united efforts may aid materially in building the greater and better Medford.

number and character of the crimes, the majority of them placing the responsibility at the doors of discharged soldiers. Police officers from some of the most important American cities are in London seeking international criminals who may have been discharged from some of the armies. French and Italian officers also are said to be held, each looking for an opportunity to assist in the general roundup.

Meantime the crimes continue. Lots of old papers 10c the bundle at this office.
