

SPECIAL YANKEE TRAIN LEAVES HUNGARY SOON

American Women Allowed to Leave With Valuables Saturday—Elections Pass Off Quietly Under Control of Red Army—Feeling Prevails New Regime Will Be Short Lived.

BUDAPEST, Thursday, April 10.—(By Associated Press.) The elections in Hungary for the creation of soviet councils passed off without reported incidents, soviet organizations being formed in the country districts by means of this balloting. The whole process was carried out under the coercion of the Red army, with the majority of the voters in many places not appearing to know why they were voting.

Notwithstanding the desperate earnestness of the communists, outsiders now in Hungary are still inclined to take the economic view of the experiment which they feel will not develop into a lasting success, although conditions will become worse before they grow better is a debatable question.

Adopt Trust System

The work of organizing the country is being feverishly continued, the central feature of the plan is to apply the trust idea to all industries, putting each group of factories—textiles, glassware, hardware, etc.—under one expert who is made responsible for its operations.

All the clubs and fashionable exclusive resorts have been socialized, including the Park club. The Jockey club has been converted into a laborer's home and the splendid race course, which cost a year's time and five million dollars to make, is being plowed up for potatoes.

Countess Plays Harp

There is an organization of women's Red guards functioning now but its one hundred members are occupying themselves for the most part with propaganda work. Baroness Schossberger, once having property worth a million dollars or more, now is playing a harp in a cheap restaurant for her food.

All the palaces have been converted into resorts for working men's societies and clubs. From the home of Count Jules Andrássy has been removed a youthful portrait of Raphael an art work of great value. Madame Margaret Karolyi, the widow of Stephen Karolyi, is living in two rooms of her palace. The remainder is occupied by a society of photographers.

Red Guards in Palace

Count Andrew Tschomi lives in two rooms of his palace with a club of hotel cooks occupying the rest of his home. Red guards are living in Archduke Joseph's palace, opposite the royal castle, while a musicians' club occupies the palace of Count Nemes.

A leading fashionable hotel was originally designated by the Red guards as a barracks and the guests were notified to quit within a few hours. When Bela Kun, the communist leader was informed of what was going on, he remarked irritably from the bed in which he was reposing "what do I care?"

"But the American mission is living there," his informant exclaimed. On hearing this, Bela Kun sprang to a telephone and told the Red guard to find quarters elsewhere.

Passports for $1000 Each

The attempted exodus of the well-to-do class is continuing and there is a flourishing trade in foreign passports. American passports are bringing as high as one thousand dollars, while there are incidents of bold efforts to steal such passports, some of the attempts even being upon American officers and couriers.

The Anglo-American train will leave Saturday for West Europe by way of Vienna. The Americans on the train are to be mostly women, the wives of Hungarians, which by the courtesy of Hungarians, are permitted to class themselves as aliens. Difficulties are arising, however, over the amount of money they will be permitted to take with them as they will have to draw from the banks for their funds and the limit permitted to be taken from these institutions is ordinarily only $100 monthly.

GRIP, INFLUENZA

Headlin's Wizard Oil is the Antiseptic Preparation. During influenza epidemics spray the nose and throat several times a day with one part Wizard Oil and two parts water, using an atomizer. If you haven't an atomizer, gargle the throat and sniff the mucus up the nose. This treatment cuts up the antiseptic wall of defense against "Flu" germs. Chest colds and croup spread from grip. Stop them at once with Wizard Oil before they can develop into dangerous influenza. Get it from druggists for 50c. If not satisfied, return the bottle and get your money back. Even constipated or have sick headache? Just try Wizard Liver Whips, pleasant little pink pills, 50c at druggists. Guaranteed.

VICTORY CAMPAIGN OPENED BY TANK AND WAR HEROES

The Victory loan campaign opened unexpectedly and informally in Medford this morning with the unlooked for arrival of the French war tank with brief addresses by Fred W. Mears and Rev. L. Myron Boozer from the top of the tank to a crowd of several thousand people, including the public school pupils and a patriotic address by Clarence Likens, the soldier hero in charge of the tank. The campaign could probably not have been opened more auspiciously and successfully had there been weeks of preparation. The crowd was summoned on short notice by the frantic blowing of the siren fire whistle.

The tank, which is a new one and had never been war service, arrived in charge of soldiers, from Ashland late last night without notice, having come on its own power from the neighboring city at a speed of 8 miles an hour. It is an exact duplicate of the French whippet type of tank used so successfully by the allies against the Germans, and attracted intense interest. Added interest was created by its camouflage markings.

The driver of the tank was another war hero, Corporal George C. Aiden of Portland, who went over the top in similar tanks at the battles of St. Mihiel and the Argonne. He has been in service two years, fifteen months of which were spent in France, and is still in service. In one battle he was gassed and was in the hospital four days.

The gunner accompanying this tank, Sergeant O. F. Hendershot of San Jose, Cal., who is also an overseas veteran and with Aiden a member of the 344th battery of the tank brigade, met with a serious accident at Ashland yesterday while the tank was being demonstrated back of the First National bank building. Corporal Aiden drove the tank down over a 25-foot embankment too abruptly and Hendershot, who was in his usual place at the side of the turret, was not fastened and braced for such a fall was jarred off the tank, landing on his head, and in consequence of not wearing the usual padded helmet suffered, it is thought a fractured skull. He is in the Ashland hospital, but is expected to be out today little worse for the experience.

Clarence Likens, who has charge of publicity for the tank during its trip thru Oregon, got into touch with William N. Campbell, county director of the Victory loan campaign, this morning to arrange for the meeting here. At Mr. Campbell's solicitation Superintendent Davenport dismissed the public schools until 10 o'clock, the fire whistle was blown, the tank began to move over the business districts and soon the people were gathered by thousands.

After maneuvering for a time the tank proceeded to the city park and halted on West Main street beside the park for the short patriotic meeting. The crowd here would have been much larger had it been known that there was to be a meeting.

Mounting the tank Mr. Campbell introduced Mr. Mears and Rev. Boozer who made eloquent pleas for the people to support the Victory Liberty loan. They were followed by Likens, the Croix de Guerre hero, whose splendid war record has been previously described several times in the Mail Tribune. Mr. Likens briefly described the tank and fervently urged support of the Victory loan. The tank was then driven down Main street to the railroad yards, the crowd following, where a more detailed explanation of its workings was given by Corporal Aiden. The crowd here assembled was a huge one.

It was impossible to maneuver the tank on the down town streets because of the large number of autos and other vehicles and the crowds which assembled whenever it stopped, to say nothing of the many small school children constantly following it and crossing the street. However, those who saw the cumbersome monster in action before the crowds got so large were surprised at its mobility and the ease with which it was maneuvered.

The tank has 45 horse motive power and weighs six tons without ammunition and 6 1/2 tons with it, and has a speed of three to four miles on the battlefield, and from seven to eight miles an hour on a highway. It was explained that it could be driven thru brick and stone walls and could plow thru a building.

Enroute to Medford yesterday the tank made short stops at Talent and Phoenix and was greeted by large crowds at both places. The tank arrived in Medford late last night. At 10:30 o'clock this forenoon the tank was shipped on a special train to Grants Pass for a demonstration and Victory loan meeting, after which it was taken on the train to Roseburg.

Workers in 37 other German towns have gone on strike in favor of introducing the soviet system.

HISTORY OF OREGON BOYS IN WORLD WAR IS WANTED

SALEM, Ore., April 11.—The war history of Oregon, as written in deeds of valor by men in the service overseas, in sacrifice by soldiers in camps on this side of the water and in personal endeavor by those outside the ranks, who helped "carry on" to the best of their ability at home, will be preserved in the state archives thru the efforts of State Historian Cornelia Marvin. Miss Marvin, who also is state librarian, is pushing the work energetically in every county of Oregon and has named county historians to cooperate in getting the tremendous amount of data required.

Thus far, the only war history of an Oregon overseas unit actually on hand, is that of the 147th Field Artillery, complete to January 1918. Some of the units are planning to publish their own histories. The state historian now is making a state-wide drive for records, and is securing many interesting returns.

A list of 31,000 names of men who represented Oregon in the military service during the war, is said men's committee for Bavaria has appointed a provisional mandatory for military affairs. The dispatch says all newspapers have been placed under municipal control, owners receiving no compensation.

BERLIN, April 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—A special dispatch from Weimar states that the government has abandoned for the present its intention to transfer further sessions of the national assembly to Berlin, owing to the unsuitable condition of the reichstag building which for months has been used as a barracks for revolutionary troops. It is estimated that four months' work would be required at an expenditure of six hundred thousand marks to properly ventilate the building.

to be available thru the records of various branches. The adjutant general has the names of 5028 men of the Oregon National Guard which was drafted as an organization; there is a list of 7338 volunteers taken from the records of the army recruiting officer at Portland; the record of 15,000 drafted men is available from draft boards of the state; navy and marine recruiting officers will furnish over four thousand more names.

The war records desired are divided into seven sorts by the state historian. In the first division are men in military service, their biographies, with records of enlistments, inductions, service, casualties, commissions and special honors, supplemented by letters, diaries, newspaper notices and accounts and photographed relics. The second division covers personal service with other agencies, such as Y. M. C. A., K. C., etc.

In the third division are listed local war activities, such as drives and liberty loan campaigns and service on the food or fuel administration, councils of defense, farm labor committee, medical or dental aid, repression of enemy plots, pacifism and I. W. W. activities, registration and exemption boards and Belgian or French relief committees.

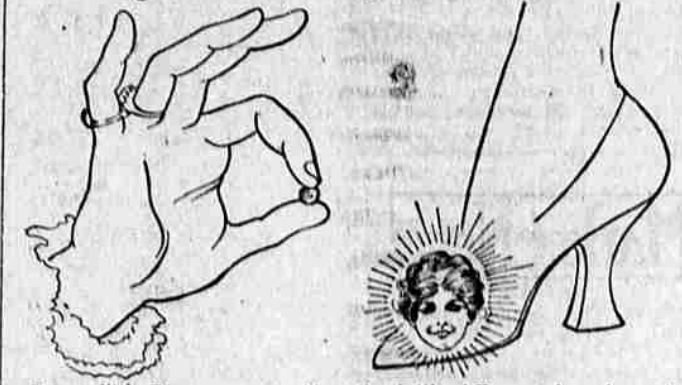

The fourth division of records will comprise state agencies and federal agencies in the state, including proclamations by the governor, legislative acts, state officials for governmental war service, liberty bonds, war savings, and four minute men.

War sermons, war gardens, war labor conditions, local price changes and food conditions, education history, and war literature are listed in other divisions.
