

DR. BUNDY'S OFFICE IS ROBBED AGAIN BURGLAR ESCAPES

A burglar who was about to begin tapping the safe in Dr. L. Bundy's office in the Deuel building last night was prevented doing so by the unexpected appearance of Dr. J. D. Rickert, whose office adjoins. After Dr. Rickert closely questioned the intruder the latter left the building on the double-quick.

This morning the suspected man was seen in the S. P. depot just as the north bound passenger train pulled in, by Dr. Rickert who had gone to the depot to mail a letter. The doctor hurried to find Chief of Police Timothy but by the time he had found the chief the train had stopped and passengers were getting off and on. The burglar was not seen to get on the train and seemed to have disappeared entirely from the depot vicinity. No trace of him has since been found.

When Dr. Rickert was about to enter his own office at 9:30 last night he noticed that Dr. Bundy's office was open, and stopping inside and switching on the light was surprised to find a stranger sitting there in the dark. All about the room there were scattered burned matches, especially around the safe. Demanding of the man what he was doing there the burglar replied that he was there to see the doctor. He then departed.

The man was undoubtedly after the supply of dental gold in the office. Last night's was the fourth attempt made to rob Dr. Bundy's office but only the first was successful, $50 being obtained. A description of the burglar was sent to all the surrounding towns and cities so that the police can keep a watch for him.

May Marsh at Rialto Theatre

MAE MARSH in 'THE BONDAGE OF BARBARA'

Mae Marsh plays a boy's part in "The Bondage of Barbara." She has long wanted to do so, hearing out our belief that every actress hankers to wear trousers for some reason or another. But we didn't suspect it of the whimsical, elusive "girl of a thousand faces." Perhaps she wants to make her talents count up to a thousand, too. Mrs. Marsh appears for the first time at the Rialto tonight.

The road between Glendale and Riddle is expected to be blocked for about two months yet and the government, which is said to be responsible for the blockade, is the recipient of many uncomplimentary remarks from the tourists.

Why Beefsteak Is High

This chart was copied from Bulletin No. 226, U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. It is the latest that has been issued. 100=1916 price.

Remember when beefsteak was 20c a pound?

Now it's 40 and 50 cents a pound.

Why?

This chart shows that the price packers have had to pay for cattle has gone up with the price received for beef.

In fact, it shows that the "spread" between cattle and beef prices has been gradually reduced during the past 30 years—owing to competition among packers, their increased efficiency, bigger volume, and elimination of waste.

The packer's profit of only a fraction of a cent per pound of meat has helped to narrow this "spread."

Increased farm-production costs have made higher cattle prices necessary.
