The lucky ones were Ella Belford of Eagle Point and Nick Young and R. A. Koppes of Medford. As it would be impossible to divide the ham into three equal parts Mr. Blinn solved the dilemma by presenting each of the three winners with half of any ham in the market. Nine hundred persons guessed on the weight of the ham. The highest guess was 125 pounds and the lowest was 15 pounds.

KAISER IS STILL CLOSE TO PEOPLE, CASH AID GIVEN

PARIS, April 21.—(Correspondence of Associated Press.) Now that the dust of crumbling thrones that wrecked whole dynasties in their fall has somewhat cleared, the emperors, kings, grand dukes, archdukes, and princelings have abandoned the tottering structure of central Europe, it may not be uninteresting to compare the present condition of these rulers with that which they occupied six months ago.

Still in Government Pay

The story of the fall of the house of Hohenzollern would fill volumes. It is a far cry from the dreams of world dominion, the dictation of peace in shining helmet and spurred boots arrayed in the Palace of Versailles, to the little villa hidden among the lowlands of Holland. Morose and taciturn, William Hohenzollern, second and last of the name, is awaiting the judgment of the peace conference within the narrow confines of the estate of one of the few men in this world who still have the courage to term themselves his friends. The only recreation from which this former emperor seems to derive any pleasure or solace from his shattered dreams is in wood-chopping. He still maintains quite close relations with the present German government. His staff, and his servants, are paid by the "Hofmarschallamt," in Berlin as was the case when he was emperor. The number of his attendants, however, has been greatly reduced but what is left of them are still state officials. A few weeks ago the Herr Hohenzollern appeared to be in financial straits but his exchequer has been replenished by remittances from Germany.

Pity for Charles

The Crown Prince at Wieringen after a few interviews has been silent. Silence from him and silence concerning him is considered the bitterest form of punishment that could be visited upon him.

A feeling of pity not untinged with sympathy seems to characterize the attitude of the world at large toward Charles, the former emperor of Austria. With his mother, the former Empress Zita and the children, he led a lonesome, dreary life in the ancient Castle of Eckartsau. Very few servants remained in attendance for gold was scarce at Eckartsau. Colonel Summerhayes of the British army, commanding a small British force, acted more in the capacity of a mentor and adviser to the former emperor than that of a Sir Hudson Lowe. But life was sad at Eckartsau and young Charles was said to be wasting away under the weight of his chagrin. (Charles and his family have since sought refuge in Switzerland.)

Ferdinand Is Foxy

Ferdinand, late king of Bulgaria, is keeping as inconspicuous as possible "somewhere in Austria" as the communists were wont to say. He it was who deserted the sinking ship first, after trying to steer it before the most favorable wind no matter whence it blew. No one hears about Ferdinand's financial needs. The report sent out from Bulgaria at the time of his flight was to the effect that he had not left empty handed.

said he would not attempt to fix the date on which industry would be returned to normal conditions, but the date was not so important as the fact that it would return.

"The man who believes," he said "that this country has gone into bankruptcy or has entered upon a period of depression which will end in disaster or is going into such demoralization as will prevent future progress and prosperity is the man who does not possess himself with facts and figures."

First Trace of Lost Steamer.

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., April 21.—A torn life belt, marked S. S. Galindo was found on Wolf harbor near here, by boys today. The belt, it is believed, is the first trace ever found of the Canadian patrol steamer Galindo which went down in a storm on Queen Charlotte Sound last fall with all aboard.

METHODIST AND CHRISTIAN CHURCH EASTER SERVICES

The Easter services at the First Methodist Episcopal church were attended by large congregations. At the Sunday school hour the young people gave an informal program and a missionary offering was given. The decorations were beautiful. There was a profusion of easter lilies from California friends and former members. There were many choice Easter lilies and other white flowers. Mrs. W. M. Van Soave had charge of the decorations and was ably assisted by the ladies of the church. The music was in charge of Miss Edith Brooks and was much appreciated. There were three solos sung by Mrs. Van Soave, Mrs. Anderson and Miss Brooks. A mixed quartette sang "The Strife Is Over." During the day Dr. Carlos received more than 30 new members into the church. The sunrise prayer meeting was attended by a large number of Epworth Leagueurs, who followed this service with a breakfast in the church dining hall.

Christian Church

The Easter services at the Christian church Sunday were in keeping with the great annual event and crowded houses greeted all services. The Sunday school had the largest attendance for more than a year. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the Sunday school and morning service were combined. After a brief lesson an Easter play was given by the members of the school that was very impressive as well as interesting. Following the play Mr. Millard gave a short sermon, especially to the young folks, and when the invitation was extended 21 boys and three girls from the Sunday school made the confession and three others joined by letter.

In the evening at 7 o'clock 50 young people met and decided to reorganize the Christian Endeavor society with a social gathering at Miss Pauline Johnson's home Tuesday evening, the 29th.

The evening service was a big success. Special music was rendered as follows: Mixed quartette, consisting of Mesdames Wold and Quisenberry and Messrs. Kirkpatrick and Millard; Hillis ladies quartette and an instrumental quartette by Mr. McReynolds, Miss McReynolds, Mr. Jones and Mr. Millard. "The Prophetic Ark" was the subject of Mr. Millard's sermon. It was illustrated with a chart and was one of the best he has rendered, being highly appreciated by all.
