

ASHLAND TEACHER IS MARRIED OVER LONG DISTANCE

ASHLAND, April 23.—(Special to Tribune.) Scene: Ashland, Ore., and Denver, Colo.; time, Easter evening; matrimonial personage, Miss Rose Thomas, teacher in Hawthorne school this city, and Robert Thorne, out of army service, now of Denver, together with clergyman and witnesses at respective terminals of long distance phone. Wedding ceremony read and troths pledged over the "two-party" line. Wives superheated over mutual congratulations. The bride will complete the school year, then away to Colorado. Cupid is figuring up the cost of this longdistance toll, but inasmuch as the groom is an electrical worker, it is conceded that the wedding Bell company will figure the charges on a romantic basis instead of the nominal commercial rate.

Among local attendants at the meeting of the Southern Oregon Presbytery and Woman's Presbytery, at Medford, April 22-24, are Rev. C. F. Koehler, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lamkin, and Mrs. Briggs, of Portland, sister of Mrs. Lamkin. Mr. Koehler will preach the installation sermon incident to installing Rev. L. Myron Booser as pastor of the Medford church. Rev. J. W. Hoyt, of this city, is presiding officer. Rev. C. F. Koehler is religious editor. Mrs. Koehler represents the Jubilee fund activities, and Rev. J. H. Doran upholds the temperance movement. Of the Woman's Presbytery, Mrs. Lamkin is president, and Mrs. J. W. McCoy treasurer. In chronological annuals this gathering is the 61st annual meeting of the Southern Oregon Presbytery.

Jimmy Rouse, able seaman on the big naval collier "Brutus," recently landed at San Diego after a cruise in Mexican gulf and Pacific waters, according to word sent his mother, Mrs. E. L. Rouse. The Brutus conveyed a lot of submarines and other small craft from the Atlantic side to the Pacific naval base.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Arant of Klamath Falls, are visiting relatives and friends here, coming in the family car over the mountain roads this early in the season.

Funeral services of Mrs. Eleanor Hargrove who died on Monday, were held on Wednesday afternoon at the family home, 185 Pioneer avenue. Interment was in Ashland cemetery. The deceased was in the 94th year of her age, and was the widow of Reuben Hargrove. She had never been a resident of Ashland for many years. She was a native of Indiana, and had resided successively in Kansas and Washington before coming to Oregon, witnessing the hardships and participating in the development of these states in the earlier days of their history. To know Mrs. Hargrove was to admire her sterling character, and years did not dim her keen perspective as to realizing life's obligations. A loving mother, firm friend and kind neighbor has gone to her reward. Her work was accomplished and she peacefully passed away, well satisfied to lay aside the cares of life for the joys of eternity. Among her children Mrs. D. L. Glenn, Mrs. R. P. Neil and Miss Anna Hargrove reside in Ashland, and Mrs. L. M. Goodwin at Eugene. Mrs. T. H. Simpson of this city is her granddaughter.

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Ahlstrom have moved to Dunsmuir, the former's employment with the Southern Pacific necessitating a residence at that terminal.

An escort from Malta commandery, Knights Templar of this city, attended the funeral services of the late Elam P. Bower, aged resident of the county seat, who was buried in Jacksonville cemetery on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. F. A. Brown, of Klamath Falls, formerly living here, is visiting Ashland friends. She announces the birth of another son to her daughter, Mrs. George Icenhower, who was formerly Miss Sylvia Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Icenhower are preparing to move to a dairy ranch some distance out from Klamath Falls.

Mrs. Charley Moore, of Salem, has been in Ashland this week visiting friends and attending to business matters.

The local carmen's ball occurs Wednesday evening, April 23. Music by the Launspach orchestra. The Carter, Vaupel, Lamkin, Frank Dickey, Hammond, C. L. Hanson and Whitney families are patrons of this leading social event, the proceeds of which will go to the Red Cross, the highway department of which organization will furnish the refreshments. This social feature is one of a serious being given under similar auspices.

The Whites are still on the trek through not only the scenic beauty spots, but also the commercial centers, orchard districts and ranching sections of southern California, inasmuch as Mr. Whited wants to line up all the productive factors in that locality before deciding upon a permanent residence. He reports Los Angeles and Ventura counties long on beans, with many farmers holding last year's crop for higher prices. The family are meeting many ex-Ashlanders incident to their travels, among the number Mrs. Adaline Latham Galliland, former teacher in the Ashland schools when Prof. T. A. Hayes was superintendent, who has a beautiful home at Ventura, and is

TOM MOORE in "A MAN and HIS MONEY" Goldwyn Picture

Tom Moore as a valet to four pampered dogs is not easily visualized by his admirers who have not seen the likable young star in "A Man and His Money," his new Goldwyn picture. But when it comes to the Rialto theater, beginning today, there will not be any doubt among them that he can minister to the wants of the dogs as well as a person who had done nothing else for years—and make it amusing at the same time. Indeed another star might have become submerged in the task or have failed to get the humor out of the situation. But with Mr. Moore there was no such difficulty.

He plunged into the task of earning his weekly stipend as the dogs' valet as if he had to do it to keep body and soul together. His inherent sense of humor, coupled with his infectious smile and unflinching good nature, made the episode in the play one of the freshest and most original examples of the light comedy his director, Harry Beaumont, has ever staged.

The amusing nature of the situation is best appreciated when it is known that Mr. Moore, as Harry Lathrop, a wealthy young idler, after a tiff with his sweetheart determines to show her that he is made of the right stuff; that he can earn his living like any man. Accordingly he answers an advertisement which only specifies that the person wanted must be fond of dogs. Judge his surprise when he is ushered into the presence of Mrs. Johnson De Long (played by Kate Lester), an elderly society woman with four dogs, on whom she lavishes no end of affection and care.

ASHLAND WIDOW IS GIVEN $30 MONTH BY STATE BOARD

SALEM, Ore., April 23.—The industrial accident commission has today approved the claim of Mrs. Teresa Lowe, widow of Geo. M. Lowe, for compensation for the death of her husband, who was killed while in the course of his employment with the city of Ashland. Mr. Lowe was a member of the Ashland police force, employed as night watchman, and was instantly killed on the night of March 3rd by being struck by a Southern Pacific engine while on his rounds as a patrolman.

In approving Mrs. Lowe's claim, the commission orders the setting aside with the state treasurer of sufficient funds to pay the widow a monthly pension of $30 for life, the amount necessary being $4,808.73.

The city of Ashland was one of the first municipal corporations in the state to elect to bring its employees under the workmen's compensation law, having protected them by this means almost from the day the law became effective. While the death of Mr. Lowe is the first fatal accident to occur among the employees of the city, there have been numerous other compensatable injuries to workmen to indicate the need for such protection.

Felt Like Muscles Were Tied in Knot

That is Exactly the Way Tindall Says His Rheumatism Acted.

"I had never taken a dose of Tanlac in my life till some six weeks ago, but I have received more benefit from the three bottles I have just finished than from all the other medicines I have taken put together," said George R. Tindall, of 6002 15th Ave., South, Seattle, the other day. Mr. Tindall is employed at the Skinner & Eddy Ship Yards.

"For several years," he continued, "I suffered terribly from muscular rheumatism and kidney trouble. The muscles of my right arm would draw up at the elbow, and feel like they were tied in a knot. I had no appetite and the little I forced down didn't do me much, if any, good. My kidneys worried me night and day, I had an awful misery up and down my spine, and my back right over my kidneys would hurt so bad that if I stooped over it would almost kill me to straighten up again. I couldn't rest well at night, and many a time I would wake up at midnight, and never sleep another wink the balance of the night, then my back would start hurting so bad that I could hardly get up out of bed.

"I guess I have taken most every kind of medicine sold without getting a bit of relief, and I was in mighty bad shape when I decided to see if Tanlac would help me. Well, I can honestly say that I haven't had an ache or a pain since shortly after I started on Tanlac. I sleep like a log at night, and my wife tells me that I'm liable to eat us both out of house and home if I keep on with the appetite Tanlac has given me. I feel so well and hearty in every way that I have told the boys down at the ship yard how much good Tanlac has done for me, for I hope that my experience will be the means of helping others who may have troubles like I had."

Tanlac is sold in Medford by West Side Pharmacy, in Gold Hill by M. D. Bowers, in Central Point by Miss M. A. Mee, in Ashland by J. J. McNair, in Eagle Point by Von der Hellen. Adv.

tion as is afforded by the state law to cities that apply for its benefits. One of the earliest cases of the permanent total disability of a workman to arise under the compensation law was that of an employe of the city of Ashland. A workman was engaged to aid in constructing Lathia park, an Ashland city enterprise that has developed into one of the scenic and health attractions of the west. This workman was just entering upon his employment when he was thrown from a wagon, suffering injuries that totally disabled him from labor for life. To pay this man and his wife a pension of $35 per month for life the commission awarded and set aside $5,872.02.

Many cities in the state are now making application to bring their employes under the compensation law, Salem being the latest to extend its coverage in this respect.
