

TWO MEN KILLED, MANY INJURED IN BIG BOMB DRIVE

where, it was obvious, he intended to place the powerful infernal machine. The coping tripped him and when he fell the concussion apparently set off the bomb.

The neighborhood in which the explosion occurred is one of the most fashionable in Washington. Two doors away lives Senator Swanson of Virginia. Directly opposite lives Rear Admiral Theodore F. Jewell. The home of Helmer H. Brvn, Norwegian minister, adjoins that of Admiral Jewell, and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt lives a short distance away.

Palmer in Hiding

Residences in the entire block were damaged. Windows were shattered and the fronts of some of the houses were nicked by pieces of flying concrete. Parts of the anarchist were blown through some of the windows. Several occupants of the nearby houses, including the son of the Norwegian minister, were thrown from their beds by the force of the explosion.

At the capitol extra police are on duty and the rule against bringing packages of any sort into the capitol and the house and senate office buildings was rigidly enforced. The same rule was being applied in other government buildings.

Attorney General Palmer did not go to his office today and his assistants refused to disclose where he and Mrs. Palmer, who left their home after the explosion last night, had taken up their new residence.

All available men of the bureau of investigation have been assigned to the case.

Round-Up Radicals

BOSTON, June 3.—The police are convinced the explosions last night at the home of Police Judge Alfred F. Hayden in the Roxbury district and that of State Representative Leland Powers in Newtonville, were part of the nation-wide plot.

Pamphlets entitled "Plain Words" were found scattered outside the Hayden house and also in the wreckage. No one was injured in either explosion. Absence of the Hayden family probably saved their lives. A roundup of radicals was begun by agents of the department of justice and in a short time 15 men, mostly Russians, had been arrested as suspects in the wrecking of five homes here in the nation-wide bomb outrage.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Washington police inspectors early today believed they had identified the man who was blown to pieces last night in an effort to kill Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer with a bomb, as an anarchist of Philadelphia. They also said they were confident the nation-wide plot against the lives of government officials and prominent business men had been laid in that city.

A blood stained conductor's identification check, found in front of Mr. Palmer's residence, shows that the anarchist arrived in Washington at 10:30 o'clock last night from Philadelphia. He went directly from the Union station to the Palmer home. Only a few minutes before the explosion he was seen alighting from a street car a few blocks away by C. S. Briggs, of Marion, S. C.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Widespread bomb explosions last night, apparently a sequel to the unsuccessful May Day outrages when infernal machines were mailed broadcast from New York to government officials and men prominent in public life were believed by officials here to be another step in an anarchist movement for the overthrow of organized government in the United States, rumors of which were said to have been called to the attention of members of congress and department of justice officials months ago.

Evidence that the plot was carefully planned was contained in a pamphlet found at the home of Attorney General Palmer, whose house in the fashionable section here was partly wrecked by a bomb, giving warning that "a time has come when the social question's solution can be delayed no longer; class war is on and cannot cease but with a complete victory for the international proletariat."

"Anarchistic Fighters"

The pamphlet, one of a large number scattered about after the bomb which had been intended to destroy Mr. Palmer prematurely exploded and blew to bits the author of the crime, was signed "The Anarchistic Fighters." It undoubtedly was intended as a signal to show the reign of terrorism was on.

Although apparently intended to do greater damage, the latest bomb explosions, from a standpoint of loss of life, appeared to have been but little more successful than those of May Day. Fatalities resulting, as reported today, were confined to the plotters themselves at the Palmer home and to New York, where from one or possibly three persons were killed. In that case as here the body or bodies were so badly scattered it was impossible to determine just how many corpses were involved.

Against Public Officials

The bomb plot last night, as in the May Day, was directed in a majority of cases against public officials, men who have been active in suppression of organized lawlessness. As there was little difference in the time between the explosions with the exception of that in Washington, the police and government agents believe the bombs were to be timed to explode at about the same hour. The fact that wearing apparel and anarchistic literature were found at the Palmer home indicated to the police that the bomb exploded just as the dynamiter took it from the suitcase under the front entrance to the building. This premature disarrangement of plans explained why the explosion here was so much ahead of those in New York, Philadelphia and elsewhere.

Copies of the pamphlet bearing the caution "Plain Talk" are in possession of the police and department of justice officers and may possibly furnish the only clue to the identity of the plotters.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—The automobile used by the men who bombed the Catholic church was found early today abandoned in Fairmount park. The car had been stolen.

The police are searching for clues to the identity of the man who was killed in exploding a bomb at the home of Attorney General Palmer in Washington.

Bomber From Italy

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The police would not reveal the identity of the man killed, but they felt confident information they had gathered would lead quickly to the apprehension of his associates, who they believe also were responsible for the May Day bomb plot. The anarchist apparently was of Italian birth and parentage. By a strange freak of the explosion, the man's hat remained intact. On the sweatband was inscribed the name of "DeLuca Brothers, Hatters, 919 South Eighth street, Philadelphia."

CHICAGO, June 3.—Possibility that some of the alleged radicals taken in a raid several days ago were concerned in the widespread bomb plot was advanced today as the reason no explosions took place here last night. Of the score of men arrested in the raid, eight now are awaiting deportation.

After first reports of explosions, special guards were placed about homes of several public men here.

Watchman Killed

NEW YORK, June 3.—One man was killed and several men and women had a narrow escape early today when a bomb placed at a basement entrance to the home of Judge Charles C. Nott of general sessions court exploded. The front part of the Nott residence was blown out and houses nearby on East Sixty-first street were damaged. Judge Nott was away from home. Mrs. Nott, who was asleep on the second floor, was uninjured.

William Boehner, a private watchman, was blown to pieces, parts of his body being found half a block from the scene of the explosion. He was identified by his two sons from particles of his clothing and a ring of keys. For the last ten years Boehner has been employed as watchman for a number of private dwellings in the neighborhood of Judge Nott's home.

Pittsburg Is Visited

PITTSBURG, June 3.—A cordon of policemen and detectives was thrown around Pittsburg today in an effort to apprehend the perpetrators of the two bomb explosions in different sections of the city. The outrages were directed against United States District Judge W. H. S. Thompson and W. W. Siberav, chief inspector of the bureau of immigration. No one was injured.

Bomb Catholic Church

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—Anthorities are investigating the bomb explosions which late last night badly damaged the rectory of a Catholic church and residence of a jeweler. Three persons were injured, one seriously. One man has been arrested. The front of the church was torn away and a woman and a girl passing by were injured. An aged woman was injured when the interior of the jeweler's house was wrecked.

Cleveland Mayor Escapes

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 3.—Police of Cleveland, Columbus and other cities today are searching for two men believed to have planted a bomb at the home of Mayor Harry L. Davis late last night. No one was injured.

The bomb was planted under a cellar window, and the explosion was so terrible that it tore out practically the entire north side of the house. Windows in many houses for several blocks were broken.

Mayor Davis was seated on the lawn on the opposite side of the house with his wife and several friends when the explosion occurred.

MOVIE STAR SHOOTSELF WITH BLANK CARTRIDGE

PORTLAND, June 3.—Leland Tabbs, 23 years old, an extra man in a motion picture company which is filming a historical play near here, accidentally shot himself in the hip with a blank cartridge and a revolver Sunday night. Tabbs put the revolver against his hip and pulled the trigger. He thought the weapon was unloaded. The wadding which held in the revolver, inflicted a flesh wound in the hip.

General Aquilar Arrives.

LAREDO, Tex., June 3.—General Candido Aquilar, Mexican minister of foreign relations, arrived early today at Nuevo Laredo, opposite here, on his way to Washington from Mexico City.

Special Musical Interpretation, Miss Flora Gray.

A lighted match showed that she was very pretty

They were alone together—

It was the wicking hour of midnight, the croon of the night wind and murmur of the waves gainst the rocks that hid them from the huge summer hotel were the music to which she had been skipping over the sands when first he saw her.

They were truants, these two, runaways from the treadmill of life.

He had called and asked if he might join in her revel. "Something in his voice reassured her. So they ran, and swam, and talked. Finally—"I dare you to dive off that rock," she said. When he came back she was gone. He had failed to learn her name or whence she came.

He haunted the beach nightly, without avail. She was the first woman, handsome, wealthy Roger Sloan had ever really wanted and failed to interest.

He often passed her in the hotel corridors, but her maid's uniform and averted face masked her. Of course he finds her—

"THE TURN IN THE ROAD"

"This story might just as well have taken place in Medford as in Ferrysville. All of the characters are distinctly American; all were moved by the same impulses that move us. It is a real picture of life as we live it and it is the humanness of the events that brings the greatest appeal to this picture. You won't go away from the theatre, willing to have a situation changed in the slightest for you will have been looking into a mirror. If you are tired of artificiality and want a tear you cannot restrain and a laugh that comes out in spite of you, don't miss "The Turn of the Road."
