

VILLA'S AMBITION WAS TO WORK ON S. P. RAILROAD

EL PASO, Texas, June 7.—Francisco Villa a lover of peace, a hater of bloodshed and a family man who wishes nothing so much as to work all day on an American railroad right of way and go home in the evening to play with his little son and continue his rudimentary education started when he was a prisoner in the Belem prison at Mexico City, sounds like a paradox.

Yet that was the Villa of 1913 following his escape from prison where he had been placed by order of General Victoriano Huerta. After escaping from prison and Mexico, probably thru President Madero's orders, Villa came to El Paso and rented a cheap room in the old Hotel Mexico in the Mexican quarter.

Sitting in a little Mexican restaurant of the hotel, Villa told the present correspondent of the Associated Press his plans for the future, his aims and ambitions and also of his expectations for a son to be born to him at the family home of his wife in San Andres, Chihuahua. At that time Villa was known as a reformed bandit who had followed Madero loyally and who had fought for independence and liberty for his people beside the diminutive revolutionary leader. It was not until later that he again won the title of "bandit" by his raid on Columbus, N. M., and his subsequent acts.

"I am tired-sick and tired of war and revolutions and bloodshed," Villa said in Spanish as he ate the Mexican dishes served in the little cafe.

"I want no more of it and I have come to the United States to get away from it all and to get a job on the Southern Pacific railroad and have a home here in the land of the free. I love Mexico but, if I remain there I will be forced into the political whirlpool and that is the one thing I want to avoid now. There will be a little Francisco 'hijo' awaiting me when I go back to San Andres to bring Luz (his wife) to the border and for his sake I want to live the life of a working man in the United States where he will have a chance to get the education which I was cheated out of by the tyrant Diaz who decreed there should be no schools in the north for fear his people would learn of his misrule."

Before Villa could find employment on the railroad Madero was killed and he organized an expedition consisting of seven men, five mules and three sacks of flour which crossed the border near Hermans, N. M., and resulted in the Villa revolution. By a turn of fate, the baby Villa was expecting died at birth during the battle of San Andres, which was his first engagement with the Huerta federales. After that Villa reverted to type and his history was the history of northern Mexico for the following five years. His wife is now living in San Antonio, Texas.

WYOMING TO HAVE COMPLETE RECORD OF WAR HEROES

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 7.—Every doughboy, leatherneck and gop who wore a uniform during the world war and claimed Wyoming as his home will have his name, home address, and full military record on file in the office of the newly created historical department of the state government, so that future generations may know the deeds of the present generation.

The work of compiling these records was commenced during the war by the council of national defense through Miss Agnes Wright, state librarian, who undertook to organize county and local committees to gather the data. Then the legislature decided that now was a good time to accumulate a "past" and authorized the appointment of a state historian.

The new department is taking up the work unfinished by the council of defense and volunteer workers are eagerly assisting in gathering facts about Wyoming's participation in the war. Personal reminiscences are valued highly and state officials believe the work when completed will provide valuable sidelights on the war which will be of great interest and historical value.

The historian is trying to make the compilation more than a mere report and a catalogue of names. Each volunteer historian is asked to gather interesting anecdotes of Wyoming's fighter's experiences in whipping the Hun and send them to the state historical department, Room 302, Capitol Building, Cheyenne.

TELEGRAPH STRIKE ON COAST JUNE 11

ATLANTA, Ga., June 7.—Orders calling out the union telegraph operators at Columbia and other points in North and South Carolina today in connection with the strike of telephone and telegraph workers in the southeast have been rescinded. This was announced today by C. F. Mann, southern organizer for the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 7.—Decision of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America to strike June 11 throughout the United States west of Denver is final, it was announced here today by L. I. Marshall first international vice-president of the organization, who said he expected to direct the strike from Los Angeles.

About 200 men will walk out here next Wednesday, Marshall estimated. From statements given out by Marshall and by A. Hixon, vice-president, Pacific division, Association of Western Union Employees, it appeared there was a division among the employees of the Western Union on the question of striking.

WASHINGTON RECLUSE IS ROBBED OF $65,000 BONDS

'Little Women' at the Liberty

Rich in pathos, humor, sentiment and sweet charm, "Little Women," the celebrated story written by Louisa M. Alcott, has for fifty years exerted a wide appeal upon the reading public of the world. "Little Women" has been translated in many languages and its beauty has been recognized in foreign lands with the result that the little heroines of the book—Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy are the most celebrated characters in literature.

This wonderfully appealing story has been filmed and as a Paramount-Artcraft special picture, it will be shown at the Liberty theatre today.

Wedding's

Gordon-Sinclair
Miss Francis L. Gordon and Glen E. Sinclair quietly slipped away to Yakima Thursday and were married by the minister of the Methodist church.

The wedding came as a complete surprise to even Miss Gordon's family who were unaware of her intentions. Mrs. Sinclair is well known in Toppish, where she made her home for the first several years and is one of the most popular young women in the Methodist church. She is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Gordon of this city.

The young couple will make their home in Medford, Ore., where the groom is in business.—Toppish News.

Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair returned to Medford and are at present living near the Ester mine where Mr. Sinclair is employed. They will later make their home on 11th street. Mr. Sinclair is a veteran of the recent war and is well known in the city where he has a host of friends.

32 YEARS' SERVICE

Mrs. A. Waldman, 460 Glenn Ave., Fresno, Cal., writes: "When I was young I had a fever and it left me with a cough every winter. Thirty-two years ago I read about Foley's Honey and Tar and bought some and it helped me. I use it yet and it helps me every time. I am a widow 66 years old." There is nothing better for bronchial, grip and similar lingering coughs and colds that hang on. Just fine for children — for croup and whooping cough. Contains no opiates. For sale by Medford Pharmacy.

Personal

A peculiar atmospheric phenomenon which in a vague way resembled the northern lights was witnessed in the north last night and aroused much interest and caused much comment in Medford and vicinity. The sky to the north from 9:30 to 10 o'clock was illuminated by a dull glare as if from a big fire at a distance. Most people thought that the strange sight was caused by some after-effect of the sun's setting. It was noticed that when the sun went down last evening it was surrounded by an unusually bright glare.

Also Taxi. Phone 95.

Among Grants Pass young ladies here in attendance at the Epworth League convention are Misses Ruth Pratt, Helen Fifield, Dora Herman, Irene Caldwell and Bertha Green. They arrived in the city Friday forenoon.

Lifted on a cot passed thru the window to a drawing room of the south bound passenger train this forenoon, Felice Alchura, a young marble carver who had been in the employ of the Oregon Granite company here for some time, left for his home in San Francisco, accompanied by his mother who came to Medford two weeks ago. He has been suffering with a severe attack of rheumatism for the past six weeks, and it is hoped a change of climate will prove beneficial to him.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Platt departed by auto Saturday for Portland where he will look after some business matters. They will stay for the rose festival next week.

Seat sales for the big Schumann-Heink concert at the Chautauqua building, Ashland, June 18, will start on Tuesday, June 10 and will be at Palmer's Music store, Medford, at the Boot Shop, Ashland, and mail orders may be sent to J. H. Fuller, Ashland. The price of tickets will be $1.00 and $1.50 plus the war tax. Large delegations are expected from all along the line. 66*

SALEM, June 7.—If Attorney General Brown holds that the emergency board has the right to appropriate funds to keep the historic battleship Oregon in home waters, it is probable that Governor Olcott will seek the desired appropriation. The governor is extremely anxious to get the battleship Oregon to this state as a permanent acquisition.

This most remarkable remedy causes the stomach to act naturally and keeps the bowels open. It is purely vegetable, producing only highly beneficial results.

OUR INTEREST

DOESN'T CEASE WHEN THE GOODS LEAVE OUR STORE

We are just as much interested as you are in good work by the implements that you buy from us.

When you come into our store to buy an implement, you are mainly interested in getting a good bargain. And we are mainly interested in giving you a good bargain.

As we see it, there isn't a particle of difference between a good bargain for you and a good sale for us. They mean exactly the same thing.

If the implement you buy gives you full satisfaction in actual work, you have made a good bargain and we have made a good sale. No matter what you buy of us, we are concerned in its giving satisfaction.

We live here among you. We do business over and over with the same people. We know that we can't make future sales by selling unreliable goods, but that the extent of our patronage depends upon the satisfaction given by each and all of the implements we sell.

To help us carry out this policy of ours, we handle only high-grade implements and machinery that have a reputation for satisfactory service in the hands of the farmer.

Our interest follows these implements and machines into the field and, if for any reason they fail to work properly, we take steps to find and remedy the trouble.

Our business is founded on confidence and service. Make our store your headquarters when in town.
