

FIRE CHIEF LAWTON NEARLY ARRESTED BY MEMBER OF FORCE

A mirth provoking incident of last Saturday night's run of the fire department to a fire on West Tenth street was the balling out given Chief Lawton by Fireman Gus Peterson. The chief was on Main street in Olen Arnsplger's car waiting to take Mrs. Arnsplger and children home from a moving picture show when the fire alarm sounded and the apparatus came by on the run.

Naturally he fell in behind the hose truck on the rear of which Peterson was riding, and drove his car closely behind it. Just the day before the firemen were talking about auto drivers who disobey the ordinance forbidding any vehicle driving within 100 feet of the fire apparatus, and Chief Lawton had then told Peterson and the others to keep a good lookout, and they would make an arrest and stop the practice.

As the hose truck sped on followed closely by the chief Saturday night Peterson who could not recognize him on account of the auto's light shining in his eyes waved him back unavailingly, and then shouted: "Get back there! Go back, you old stiff! Back I say! I'll have you pinched!"

But the chief kept on coming and Peterson kept getting madder. Finally the irate fireman nearly beside himself with rage at the impudence of the auto driver let loose a flow of language used by all self respecting firemen in times of great stress and emergency, and kept it up until they reached the scene of the fire when he had to jump off with the hose and get busy otherwise.

After the excitement was over and the firemen were about to return to the engine house, Peterson spied the offending auto with the driver gone. He called the other firemen and they went to take the number of the car intending to cause the arrest of the driver Monday morning, when someone recognized the car as Arnsplger's and they gave the plan up. It was not until later that night that Peterson learned that he had cursed his chief and threatened his arrest.

OVER 8600 YANKS GIVEN UNIVERSITY TRAINING IN ARMY

BEAUNE, France, June 11.—The possibility of making the United States army a great educational medium for all America has been demonstrated by the American Expeditionary Force university here, in the opinion of leading educators in that institution. Their experience in the two months of their sessions has convinced these instructors that the great experiment has pointed a way to universal education in the United States.

The university soon must close for its students are going home to America to be demobilized. (The closing exercises were held May 30.) Yet what it has done and still is doing at this writing will perhaps serve as a guide to the development of an army educational system yet to be worked out in America.

More than 8,600 American soldiers have since March 15 been obtaining a higher education in this university, a gift from Uncle Sam. The institution was composed of 13 colleges with 584 instructors and offered 39 courses of study, any of which the soldiers might elect to pursue. It was unique in respect to the fact that its entire student body was clad in khaki that the students slept in army cots 40 or 60 in a hut with their rifles slung beneath them. They rose to the day's studies at the call of a bugle and marched to their school rooms in companies.

Outside the school room, army discipline prevailed, but in class, to army was forgotten and a private was as good as a captain.

The directors of these 13 colleges were distinguished educators in America and the grade of instruction given at Beaune was regarded as equivalent to university work in America. Entrance examinations were not required. The word of the applicant that he had had a high school education was the sole requirement and this was waived if he had had his equivalent.

Pauline Frederick and Pearl White at Liberty Tonight

Pauline Frederick and Pearl White in a scene from the play 'The Fighting Raider'.

When Eugene Walter's play "The Fighting Raider" was produced by Maxine Klinger in New York in 1907, it created a great sensation. Its reception by the public was phenomenal and after running a season or more, it was played simultaneously by several theaters on tour. This play has been pictured by Paramount for Pauline Frederick and it will be displayed at the Liberty theatre today.

When a mob attacked a group of strikers, a mob of veterans who have been sworn in as constables and a score of the special constables and as many of the strike sympathizers received cuts and bruises in a melee near the city hall. Sergeant Coppins was decorated with the Victoria Cross for valor in the war in France.

Telegraph operators of the Canadian Press limited at Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton, who have been out on strike for more than three weeks, returned to their keys this afternoon, following satisfactory negotiations with the management. The operators were reinstated with their former status, but agreed to refrain in future from many attempts to censor or alter news dispatches.

BUDGET SYSTEM IS ADVOCATED BY PAUL M. WARBURG

PAUL M. WARBURG, June 10.—A national budget system was advocated by Paul M. Warburg, vice governor of the Federal Reserve Board, addressing the opening session of the annual convention of the National Association of Creditmen today, as the only means of effecting greater economy in the national establishment which he said was necessary to bring about a permanent readjustment of prices and normal taxation.

Mr. Warburg likened the financial administration of the government to a department store where chiefs of various sections entered into commitments obligating the corporation without knowledge of what expenditures were being undertaken in other departments.

Prospects Tremendous "That," continued the speaker, "substantially is the condition of the United States. The financial methods of our government must undergo a thorough reorganization. Our future as world bankers offers opportunities which baffle the imagination. These opportunities are so large that even our phenomenal banking strength may sooner or later threaten to become exhausted unless scientific economy is practiced from top to bottom.

"We should have a permanent board to co-ordinate the estimated income and expenditures."

Trade Acceptances Mr. Warburg declared American trade acceptances were destined to be an important part in promoting American trade throughout the world. There are now outstanding approximately $500,000,000 American bankers' acceptances drawn in almost every part of the globe, "but this is only the beginning," he said.

American business, he concluded, must husband its resources and concentrate its efforts on doing the constructive things, based on production and saving, rather than be lured on by fictitious prosperity born of easy money and unnecessary inflation of credit and prices.

CAN YELLOW AND WHITE RACES MEET ON COMMON BASIS

TOKIO, Japan, May 15.—(Associated Press Correspondence.) As the result of a banquet given here last night by Wallace M. Alexander and Robert Newton Lynch, of the San Francisco chamber of commerce, between fifteen and twenty business men of the United States were pledged to visit Japan during next April with a view to meet and take up with their Japanese business colleagues the various commercial problems affecting both countries.

The banquet given by Messrs. Alexander and Lynch was a "sayonara" (goodbye) affair on the eve of their return to the United States and was attended by many Japanese high in the nation's various activities. Cooperation in the effort to solve the mutual problems confronting the two races was pledged by the speakers. One hundred persons were present.

Mr. Alexander who acted as toastmaster, opened the speech-making by saying:

"I am going to return next April, bringing back other friends to seek the friendship of Japan, that friendship stands on so broad a foundation, like a mighty mountain. Around the mountain at times might come the mists of misunderstanding and the thunder of the storm, but always the weather cleared and revealed the mountain, standing erect and firm to endure forever."

Vicount Kaneko referred to the Japanese-American committee formed to discuss question at issue between the nations, and his pleasure at the decision arrived at to go ahead with the plan.

"The questions pending between America and Japan are not American problems or Japanese problems," he said. "They are world problems, of most vital nature. The question is whether the white races and the yellow races can come into contact with safety and meet and combine for the common benefit of the world. After the war this question will come more and more before America, Europe and Asia and it is a question that must be solved before it can be said that the world is on a permanent peaceful basis.

"Can east meet west on an equal footing? Must the two civilizations remain forever separate, never to meet in harmony? This is the vital question of the future, and it can be settled by only two powers, America and Japan."

CROWDER IS ACQUITTED ON PATENT TONIC CHARGE

PORTLAND, June 11.—William Crowder today was acquitted by a federal court jury on a charge of supplying an Indian of the Umatilla reservation with a bottle of Umatilla containing a large percentage of alcohol. Crowder was accused of being given the money to buy the bitters by the Indian.
