WOMEN! DRY CLEAN THINGS AT HOME

Try it! For a few cents you can dry clean everything.

Save five to ten dollars quickly by dry cleaning everything in the home with gasoline that would be ruined by soap and water—suits, coats, waists, silks, laces, gloves, shoes, furs, draperies, rugs—everything!

Place a gallon or more of gasoline in a dishpan or washbowl, then put in the things to be dry cleaned, then wash them with Solvite soap. Shortly everything comes out looking like new. Nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles. Do not attempt to dry clean without Solvite soap. This gasoline soap is the secret of all dry cleaning.

A package of Solvite soap containing directions for home dry cleaning, costs little at any drug store. Dry clean outdoors or away from flame.

A SERIOUS MISTAKE.

IN DEFYING the authority of the courts the American Federation of Labor is skating on thin ice. According to press dispatches the delegates resolved that injunction proceedings should be disregarded on the ground of unconstitutionality.

But where does the American Federation secure its judiciary powers? The American people have delegated the power of constitutional interpretation to the supreme court, and it is for the supreme court, not the Federation of Labor to decide the constitutionality of the injunction law or any other law.

The injunction privilege may be abused. The law itself may be bad. But the procedure for those who entertain this opinion, is not to publicly proclaim their intention to break the law, but publicly proclaim their intention of securing its repeal.

It is inconsistent, to say the least, for the American Federation to repudiate Bolshevism one day and formally advocate lawlessness the next. For this resolution regarding injunctive proceedings, is nothing more nor less than Bolshevism.

If the members of the Federation of Labor are justified in breaking the injunction law, because they don't like it; then any other group of citizens, whether they represent labor, capital or Yogi worship, are justified in breaking any law they don't like. And the result is no law at all which is the anarchistic dream.

Some courts are undoubtedly reactionary, just as are, some legislative bodies. But correction lies not in destructive defiance, but in constructive coercion. The recall of judges provides one remedy. The election of representatives, who truly represent, provides another. The recall provision should undoubtedly be extended. But in the last analysis the power lives in the hands of the people through the ballot.

Once destroy respect for our courts and our civilization is gone. For the only force that keeps this country, of any other representative republic, from revolution and chaos is respect for the law, and general agreement to obey the law. If the laws are bad, not the courts but the people are to blame. In their hands lies the power to repeal those laws and secure others.

The American Federation of Labor is a powerful organization and its power should increase. But when it so far forgets the fundamental spirit of American institutions as to advocate disregard of authority of the courts, it not only deals a severe blow at the heart of American democracy, but it threatens the healthy growth in prestige and power of the cause it represents.

WILSON DOESN'T KNOW WHEN HE WILL BE HOME

PARIS, June 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—President Wilson and his party arrived this morning at 9 o'clock after a two-day trip to Brussels and the war zone in Belgium. There was no formal reception and Mr. Wilson drove immediately to the Paris "White House." The president had a good night's rest and said he was not tired. He expressed his enjoyment and interest in the trip he had taken.

COMMUNICATION

Wants Reactionary's Name

To the editor: In the issue of your paper today I have carefully read your editorial on the policy your paper intends to pursue. You are entirely right, in wishing to uphold the policies of our president that meet with your approval, and criticizing the others. Your policy for open and honest expression will surely meet with the approval of your readers. It seems, however, as if there might be some question regarding the advisability of letting such stuff as the Reactionary writes get into print. We do not know who lies under this disguise, but can readily assume that he is suffering with foot and mouth disease. He drules at the mouth as if he were eating white clover. He seems particularly well versed in how to run this government, and for the good of those who fought to make this world safe for democracy, you ought to disclose his name. When his name is disclosed he will be no more a curio, as every town has one or more of his species. He is evidently a back biting animal or he would not write under an assumed name. If he would sign his name Nietzsche instead of Reactionary we might know him better. This oracle of wisdom, who can unite the three names, Lenin and Trotsky, with our president, and call the latter the most dangerous of the three, ought to be exposed to the public, for I dare say there are many in this community who have followed current history for some time, that might want to call that bluff. Yours truly, GLEN FABRICK.

SALVATION ARMY OFFICER EXPLAINS NEED OF DRIVE

(By Col. William Peart, Chief Secretary of the Salvation Army in the United States.)

Measured by years, the Salvation Army has traveled but a short span in history; but measured by the hours which have been filled with toil, deferred hope and frownt, glorious triumphs, the Salvation Army has gone a long distance, and has become a venerated institution. In all the distance it has traversed, however, the Salvation Army in the United States will never pass a more important milestone than that which now looms just ahead in the form of the Home Service Fund campaign.

The Salvation Army does not want money for money's sake. It would no more think of striving for, or gathering, money with which to build a fund than it would consider the gleaming of sea shells, or wampum, were it not for the fact that, as the accepted and legal medium of exchange, money commands these things which provides needed relief and aid for the poor and lowly. We are not, and never have been, impoverished in that preparedness of soul and mind that shall ever enable us to administer to those about us in a spiritual sense. We are poor only in the sense that we are seeking enough of the earth's bounties to enable us to spread sunshine and so cease from sorrow, about us, where the shadows of life are the deepest and the most forbidding.

The necessity, for a campaign to raise an adequate home service fund, comes almost in the nature of a penalty for success, and it constitutes a solemn obligation and duty which we can neither avoid nor mitigate. It must be borne in mind that every time a debt is lifted from the shoulders of the Salvation Army, or an institution is widened in its scope and equipment, the chances for serving humanity with increased efficiency and effectiveness, become greater. It must not be forgotten that we ask not for ourselves, but for the means with which to serve others, and that in consequence we need have no hesitancy whatever in asking earnestly, frankly and with full confidence that men and women generally will help us, and so enable us to act for them in providing relief for their fellow beings through a system that has been tried and found to be dependable, practical and unselfish.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett.

O. V. Myers and J. Frank Brown, C. H. Natwick, wife, daughter and son, Miss Orla and Carlyle; Frank Heselton and Al Clements came in for supper Saturday night. C. H. Natwick is one of the firm known as the Eagle Point Construction company that is composed of the three Brown brothers—J. F. William H. and R. G. Brown, better known by the firm name as George Brown and Sons, C. H. Natwick and William Von der Helten. Mr. Natwick has been engaged on a contract digging a ditch near Talent, and Mrs. N. has had charge of the culinary department, and now they are on their way to the Union creek camp, where the E. P. C. Co. have the contract to clear the right of way and grade the C. L. H. from Prospect to the Crater Lake park boundary line, and now have quite a force of men employed; and Mr. N. is to take charge of the grading. Mr. Meyer came out Saturday evening to assist in starting a new Vels truck that he had sold to the E. P. C. Co. He took the truck after fitting a "blifter" on it over to the Davis station on the P. & E. railroad to be loaded with powder. There were eight truck loads of powder taken up to Prospect Sunday.

There was rather a small attendance at Sunday school Sunday morning on account of so many of our people going to Ashland to see the airplanes. Hereafter our Sunday school will meet at 10 a. m. But in spite of the attractions in Ashland and other places, Mrs. Howlett's chicken dinner was so attractive that we had 34 here for dinner that day. Among whom were G. L. Schimmerhorn and wife, E. E. Hayes and wife, B. E. Hanev and wife and Mrs. Hanev's mother, Mrs. Amelia Schmidt, Mrs. Sarah Hall, Gus, the Tailor, and wife, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Neilson and two children, all of Medford, and Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Heiden of Vancouver, Wash., who are visiting the Neilson family, A. J. Florey, Jr., and his brother, Judge, the Natwick family, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. P. Holt and daughter M. ss Helen, Mrs. Von der Helten and daughter Miss Joeve, and Harry Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. T. Sullivan of Medford, Clarence Robinson and Mrs. Fay Perry of Eagle Point.

Jud Edsell, the new mail contractor for carrying the mail from Medford to Butte Falls and back, six times a week, started in to carry out his contract Monday morning, leaving the Sunnyside at about 7:30 o'clock a. m. and making the round trip to Medford, taking the mail from there via Eagle Point, Derby to Butte Falls, and returning the entire way the same day. As soon as Mr. Edsell has his schedule made out I will try to get it and let the readers of the Eagle Point Eaglets know so that they will be able to regulate their business accordingly. He brought out from Medford his first trip, Mr. John Dixon of Trail, who took the E. P. -Persis stage for Trail and Master Frank Biehe, who went on to Derby with him to visit the Simons family, and brought out three passengers from Butte Falls to Medford.

Doris Coy who has been living in Medford for some time has returned to his old neighborhood and moved into the Wright house in the lower end of the town.

Ed Kafer of Brownsboro came out on the E. P. -L. C. stage Tuesday, returning on the same stage that forenoon.

D. R. Patrick and Doris Coy and J. S. Phillips of Central Point were here for dinner Tuesday and so was L. F. Anderson, an insurance man from Portland, H. J. Devaney and Miss Hazel Brown, Rubie Willis, a sewing machine man, Also Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Schenck, Mrs. J. C. Heiringer, Mrs. E. L. Proebstring and Mr. Dr. Heim of Medford, the last three named were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Schenck. The Mr. and Mrs. S. are simply traveling through the country waiting for their son to return from France, when he expects to resume his studies in the University at Eugene.

Among the business callers in our town Tuesday afternoon were Miss Ella Belford, E. P., Joe Haskins of Trail. He was here with a wagon and team on his way to Aoderate to get a steam boiler for a sawmill that he is putting on an Indian creek.

Fred McPherson moved his household goods out of the Fred Farlow house into the house of his father-in-law L. E. Nichols, and he is planning to start with his family for Portland Thursday to spend the summer.

The E. P. C. Co. have been sending a lot of scrapers and other machinery up to be used on the Crater Lake road.

C. H. Natwick, wife, son Carlyle, Mr. Ben Whitson, Charles Pettigrew, John Anderson and Floyd Lamb came in Tuesday evening for supper and beds. They were on their way to Prospect to go to work on the Crater Lake highway for the E. P. C. Co.

A. C. Plumney and Lee Edmondson came in this morning from Mr. Plumney's saw mill on Big Butte creek on the old Derby-Prospect road. Mr. Edmondson having sold the mill to Mr. Plumney.

Mrs. Dr. J. E. Emmerson, formerly of Butte Falls came out with William Lewis this morning from Medford, and in a few moments was met by Carl Biebersteadt and went on up the country.

William Lewis, one of our jitney drivers, brought out Shorty Allen's parents to Wella this morning to visit him.

Our school election passed off very quietly, in fact so quietly that there came near being hardly enough to select the director and clerk from as there was only the three old directors—Dr. Holt, Mrs. R. G. Brown, Mrs. L. K. Haak, the clerk, A. J. Florey, J. H. Devaney, W. C. Clements, Mrs. G. W. Daly, Mrs. Howlett and myself, and still the people will kick like bay-steers on account of our high taxes and the management of our schools, but are not interested enough to spend an hour once a year to take part in selecting our school board.

There was no report of the last annual school meeting, and nothing said about the budget for the next year and consequently no other business done than the election of a director and Mrs. R. G. Brown was re-elected and J. H. Devaney was elected clerk. There will probably be another meeting called to act on the budget when it has been made out and presented. The reason probably that there was no one made one and presented was that the questions of whether we will hire a high school teacher or take the children to Medford has not been settled.

The agent for the Utility Garment company, E. Ralph Morris of Portland, was visiting our merchants since my last.

KIDNAPPED BY BOGHE HELD AS DESERTER

AYER, Mass., June 20.—Private Paul Lester Nace, whose answer to a charge of desertion was that he had been kidnapped and held prisoner on board a German submarine, was given his full freedom today after the finding of the court martial acquitting him was approved by Major General H. P. McCain, commander of Camp Devens.

He disappeared from Camp Devens in May, 1918, and on October 16 reported to the military authorities at Fort Story, Va. In the interim, he said, he was held by the Germans who sought to obtain airplane secrets from him. He was finally freed about two miles off Cape Henry, Va., and swam ashore from the submarine according to his testimony.

Authorities Now Show Just What Tanlac Really Is

In a recent issue of this paper an announcement was made that Tanlac now has the largest sale of any medicine of its kind in the world, and that more than twelve million bottles had been sold during the past four years.

These are unusual figures, and the question naturally arises in the mind of the reader why this phenomenal success and why has this preparation so far outstripped all other medicines of its kind. It is only natural therefore that the manufacturers should offer some explanation to satisfy public interest.

In the first place, Tanlac is manufactured in one of the largest and most modernly equipped laboratories in this country. Its formula is purely ethical and complies with all national and state pure food and drug laws. Altogether there are ten ingredients in Tanlac, each of which is of recognized therapeutic value.

Many of these ingredients have been individually known and used since civilization first began, and some of them have been used and prescribed by leading physicians everywhere, but until they were brought together in proper proportion and association as in the Tanlac formula, humanity had not heretofore realized their full value and effect.

In referring to one of the more important ingredients of Tanlac, the Encyclopedia Britanica says: "It has long been the source of the most valuable tonic medicines that have ever been discovered." In referring to others of the general tonic drugs contained in Tanlac the 13th Edition of Potter's Therapeutics, a standard medical text book, states that "they impart general tone and strength to the entire system, including all organs and tissues."

This same well known authority in describing the physiological action of still another of the ingredients of Tanlac which is of value in treating what is commonly known as a "run-down condition" uses the following expression: "It is highly esteemed in loss of appetite during convalescence from acute diseases."

There are certain other elements in Tanlac which because of their influence upon the appetite, digestion, assimilation and elimination improve the nutrition and vital activity of all the tissues and organs of the body, and produce that state of general tonicity which is called health.

In discussing another ingredient the Encyclopedia Britanica says: "It is one of the most efficient of that class of substances which act upon the stomach so as to invigorate digestion and thereby increase the general nutrition. It is used in dyspepsia, chlorosis, anemia and various other diseases in which the tone of the stomach and alimentary canal is deficient." Concerning still another ingredient this same standard authority says: "It causes dilation of the gastric blood vessels, increases secretion of the gastric juice, and causes greater activity in the movements of the muscular layers in the walls of the stomach. It also tends to lessen the sensibility of the stomach, and so may relieve gastric pain."

The United States Dispensary makes the following comment regarding another ingredient: "It may be used in all cases of pure debility of the digestive organs or where a general tonic impression is required. Dyspepsia, atonic gout, hysteria, and intermittent fever are among the many affections in which it has proven useful."

There are certain other ingredients described in the Dispensary and in other standard medical text books as having a beneficial action upon the organs of secretion, whose proper functioning results in the purification of the blood streams passing thru them. In this manner objectionable and poisonous ingredients of the blood are removed, and the entire system is invigorated and vitalized.

Tanlac was designed primarily for the correction of disorders of the stomach, liver, and bowels. At the same time, however, it is a powerful reconstructive tonic and body builder, for it naturally follows that any medicine that brings about proper assimilation of the food and the thorough elimination of the waste products must therefore have a far-reaching and most beneficial effect upon the entire system.

Although Tanlac's claims for supremacy are abundantly supported by the world's leading authorities, it is the people themselves who have really made Tanlac what it is. Millions upon millions have used it, and have told other millions what it has done for them. That is why Tanlac has become the real sensation of the drug trade in this country, and that is also why it is the most widely talked-of medicine in the world today.

Tanlac is sold in Medford by West Side Pharmacy, in Gold Hill by M. D. Bowers, in Central Point by Miss M. A. Moo, in Ashland by East Side Pharmacy, in Eagle Point by Von der Helten. Adv.
