

LOCAL CAMPAIGN
Y. W. C. A. STARTS
JANUARY 15TH

The campaign for having a Y. W. C. A. in Medford will be from Jan. 15th to 20th. Miss Janette Smith of Seattle who is field worker for Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana, arrived in the city last night to complete plans with the local committees and have things in readiness for the 15th when a Y. W. C. A. worker from New York will arrive to finish the campaign.

Room 215 in the Liberty building has been secured as campaign headquarters and Miss Smith or some of the various committees will be found there most of the day to answer questions or explain the nature of the intended Y. W. C. A. work as it will be put on in Medford.

In smaller towns with small equipment a Y. W. C. A. cannot do all that the city organizations undertake, but the work will be classes and clubs for all ages, from 10 years up. Especially the club work known as the Girl Reserves. There is nothing in Medford now that is anything like it and the school girls themselves can hardly wait for the organization to be formed.

The Girl Reserves has a graduated course of studies, lessons, readings, puzzles, etc., whose work completed part of the year for the girl an honor or symbol to be worn on the arm band or sash. When this is completed she knows everything in social, civility, physical and domestic things to make her a splendid woman and the school of accomplishing the complete honors is simply fascinating and full of every good thing. There are over 500,000 Girl Reserves in the United States now.

Miss Smith recently came from Waukegan, Wash., and Astoria where she helped establish Y. W. C. A.'s in both places.

The Recreation club held one of their very enjoyable meetings Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Maud Champlin. All were delighted to have present once more Mrs. Striker, who is now living in Ashland.

Miss Edith Bryden was also a guest of the club. As this was the first meeting Mrs. Charles Kaiser has met with the club since her marriage, she was given a shower of many beautiful and useful articles for her new home. Mrs. G. B. Alden gave a reading of the life story of Carrie Jacobs Bond, after which one of her most popular songs, "A Perfect Day," was sung. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Abbie Champlin Thursday, January 15.
