A DRASTIC FISH BILL PREPARED BY ROSEBURGERS

"A bill, which will abolish the fish and game commission and will withdraw state aid from commercial fishing interests is now being prepared in this city, by the Umpqua Sportsmen's league and will be backed by the Oregon league in the state legislature," says the Roseburg Review. "The bill was first proposed by members of the local association and is now being prepared by them under the direction of the state league. It will be introduced at the coming special session and in the event that it fails in passage it will be referred to the people at the November election."

"Under the provisions of the bill the hatcheries and other plants directly connected with the propagation of fish and game would be supported wholly by fees collected from the commercial fishing interests and would be under the supervision of the secretary of state or some other official. This plan would not only make the supervising official directly responsible for the conduct of the hatcheries but would also eliminate squabbling and bickering such as have marked the dealings of the fish and game commission of the state during the past ten years."

"The bill will further provide that all money from game and fish licenses shall be expended in the counties in which they are collected and the sheriff shall be responsible which are now entrusted to the state for the enforcement of the laws, game warden and his deputies. In order to make the proposed law more effective, all deputy sheriffs, constables, municipal officers and precinct officials would be held equally responsible with the sheriff in bringing violators to justice. It is also proposed to make the penalty for game and fish violations more drastic than under the present statutes and the minimum fine for any infraction would be $50. For a second violation it would be incumbent upon the court to sentence the person convicted to a term in the county jail, without authority to parole."

ELIMINATE SPIT BALL FROM COAST LEAGUE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8.—The "spit ball" has been barred from the Pacific Coast Baseball league, Charles Graham, manager of the San Francisco club, announced here today. The league executives have demanded that a list of all pitchers using this style of delivery be submitted to them in order that they may be notified that they must eliminate this pitching feature, Graham said.

MARY REGAN AT RIALTO SUNDAY

"Attorney O'Brien says: 'Any attorney who violates the ethics of the profession of law as Peter Loveman, the New York expert in criminal practice, has done at the expense of his client, Mary Regan, should be disbarred and convicted on charges that will sentence him to life imprisonment.' O'Brien refers to the methods practiced by Peter Loveman, the unscrupulous legal culture of New York's midnight joy palaces, who deliberately ensnared beautiful Mary Regan. This sensational novel of Big Pleasure by LeRoy Scott will be presented in motion pictures at the Rialto theatre, starting Sunday, with charming Anita Stewart in the role of Mary Regan."

Alice Brady at Rialto
"The Indestructible Wife" is Alice Brady's first comedy and it is one worthy of the name of Alice Brady. It is clean, wholesome, and full of action. It has always been the star's desire to play a comedy on the screen and her desire having been fulfilled she knows that she knows what she can do. With her boyish grin and striking personality she fairly seems to walk off the screen and give you a taste of real American girl "pep." And after you've seen Alice Brady in "The Indestructible Wife," you're forced to acknowledge that there's nothing better than a good motion picture. At Rialto, last time tonight.

FRISCO GETS CONVENTION

ately upon a vigorous constructive program," adding that establishment of the federal reserve banking system "entitles the party to the everlasting gratitude of the country while the farm loan banking system gave to our agricultural interests the relief long demanded by them."

G. O. P. Throttle the Treaty
Referring to the avowed objects of the country's participation in the war the resolutions continued, "A treaty to this end was negotiated and for seven months it has been throttled by the misused republican leadership of the senate that is so arrogant that it even refuses to let the senators of its own party, who desire to have the treaty ratified with certain reservations that seem reasonable to them, to vote accordingly, and thus to make at least a start toward world-wide peace."

As a result, the resolutions said, "conditions are unsettled, a definite proclamation of the end of the war is delayed. It declares that had the treaty been ratified "with reasonable promptness, the world would now be engaged in the fruitful work of reconstruction."

Time to Stop
"We join," said the resolutions, "the demand of the pulpits of the country and of its agricultural interests, of labor, and of the great business, industrial and commercial organizations of America that the senate quit playing politics with this sacred question and give to the world the word that America is ready to at least make a trial for universal peace. We repudiate the infernal suggestion that having joined our associates in war that is now leading them to chaos, we are to withdraw and leave them to a merciless fate in order that we might maintain a so-called traditional state of isolation that we surrender when we went to the defense of our rights and to the aid of struggling humanity. "If this is to be our attitude, then the 50,000 Americans who now sleep in France gave up their lives in vain and the 2,000,000 more who willingly offered their lives for the cause that called us there have a right to ask for what were they summoned to the colors."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The delegation working for San Francisco as the 1920 convention city of the democrats went into today's meeting of the national committee declaring they were absolutely assured that the Pacific coast city would win. Supporters of Kansas City were not so optimistic, but said they still had a chance.

The committee voted that until the national convention made a definite decision, members of the associate women's national committee as now constituted should continue in office during the tenure of office of the present national committee. Chicago was the first to present its claims for the national convention, addresses of invitation being made by former Mayor Carter Harrison, former Senator James Hamilton Lewis and Roger Sullivan.

Republicans Scored
Referring to the local differences in domestic politics in Chicago Mr. Harrison said all of the factions there were united in asking for the convention. The peace treaty came to the front when amid applause Senator Lewis declared the paramount issue in the campaign would be foreign affairs and that the republicans by "malicious falsehoods" were seeking to "array the foreign born citizen against America." He pleaded that the convention go to Chicago so that the large foreign born population there could see first hand that the party really was not working against them.

"The republicans," said Senator Lewis, "have indulged in that form of disloyalty which has not been equaled by American citizens since I remember, by seeking to summon every foreign born citizen to agitate his grievance merely because the president happened to be a democrat."

Take Care of Wets
Presenting the financial end of the argument, Mr. Sullivan said Chicago was ready to make a guarantee of $75,000 for the convention. The committee room roared with applause when he concluded by saying that "for those of us who have disagreed about a recent public question, Chicago can take care of both drvs and wets."

Isadore B. Doehweiler of California, nominating San Francisco, outbid Chicago's offer with a proffer of a guaranteed sum of $125,000 for expenses, the free use of the municipal auditorium, seating from 15,000 to 18,000 and of additional sums for entertainment purposes.

San Francisco asked for the convention for the first time, Mr. Doehweiler said, as a token of appreciation of what the Pacific coast did in the last election.

Women for Wilson
The claims of San Francisco were seconded by Miss M. E. Foy, California associate delegate, and J. Bruce Kremer, Montana, vice chairman of the national committee. Miss Foy said that the women of the country, awake to the responsibilities of citizenship and realizing the existing unrest in the nation, "are searching both parties to see what they stand for."

"We, the women of the Pacific coast, are under the tutelage of Woodrow Wilson," she said.

Mr. Kremer pointed out the growing political importance of the western section of the United States and asked that the national committee help to keep the "solid west" for the democratic party.

SMALL POX EPIDEMIC PORTLAND CONTROLLED

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 8.—The smallpox epidemic in Portland is now under control, according to City Health Officer Parrish. The health bureau, however, still expects outbreaks of new cases for ten days or so, because of the many contacts prior to the placing in effect of stringent rules and before the isolation hospital was equipped to care for those afflicted.

Records at the health bureau yesterday showed 214 cases in quarantine. Discovery of a case of smallpox at Jefferson high school led to the immediate closing and fumigation of the rooms affected yesterday.
