Ye Smudge Pot
 By Arthur Perry
 Reformers, assiduously sticking their noses in people's business, regulate the human race, its pleasures and its joys, shy at abolishing hypocrisy, knowing that in 99 cases out of 100, they will have to start in on themselves. No other human effort lends itself so easily to four flushing as reforming. A reformer who chews a pound of tobacco per diem is sometimes the bitterest foe of tobacco when blown through the mouth and nostrils in the form of smoke. It is OK for him to spit, but wrong for his neighbor to puff. That is why reform is so often deformed.

BREAD VERSUS BULLETS.

IN deciding to fire bread, instead, of bullets at the Bolsheviki the allies show excellent sense. For every Bolshevik hit by an allied bullet, two would spring up in his place, for every Bolshevik hit by a loaf of allied bread, at least a dozen of Lenin's body guard will disappear.

Bolshevism is the product of starvation, deprivation, desperation. An empty stomach produces an empty head. The man who has nothing to eat at home, is first in line to fight the man who has, the community that has nothing to lose by bomb throwing, is the first to engage in it. The best antidote for the Trotzky ptomaine, is not to pump the stomach but fill it.

This, as we understand it, is the allied program. Russia is to be given the food she needs, the manufactured products she needs, while she is to give in return the raw materials needed in the outside world.

What a sensible idea. How much better it would have been in the first place instead of trying to clear up the situation by backing antiquated militarists like Kolehak and Denikine.

The human animal is very much the same the world over, whether he lives in Russia or Rochester. Environment is about the only variable factor. The allied nations could have fought the Russian Reds for five years and at the end there would have been little but destruction and suffering to show for it. Which merely means the Russians are human, and would settle their own problems in their own way.

The Bolshevik philosophy, as we understand it, is preposterous, unthinkable, absurd. But there is in it a dream of gain to the man who has nothing to lose. Beating that man over the head with a club doesn't destroy that dream.
 Giving him something to lose does. So by inviting the man to dinner, we present him with a world in which he has a place, accord him a position of comfort and self respect, which he naturally wishes to retain.

As soon as the world is a comfortable one, for the individual, so soon does the individual become a defender of the order which maintains it. That to our mind is the essence of Bolshevism and that is why not bullets but bread is the essential cure.

We note that in the last scramble the proposed amendment to the constitution making amendments practically impossible, was lost in the shuffle. We hope it is not recovered.

Legion's Attitude to Labor

Franklin D'Olier, national commander of the American Legion, from national headquarters at Indianapolis, has issued the following statement regarding the attitude of the American Legion toward organized labor.

"The attitude of the American Legion towards organized labor is exactly the same as its attitude toward all groups of American citizens who are interested in a square deal for all in the maintenance of law and order and the protection of the institutions handed down to us by our forefathers.

"The preamble of our constitution expresses very clearly the purposes of the American Legion.

"The purpose of the American Legion is two-fold—service to our comrades and service to our country.

"Under the head of 'service to our comrades' we will exert all of our influence and all of our strength to the end that the ex-service man, especially the disabled man and his dependents and the dependents of those who paid the supreme sacrifice, shall receive that just and fair treatment which they have reason to expect from a patriotic and liberal country.

"In serving our country we shall endeavor to keep alive that spirit of service which induced us all to respond to our country's call in the time of her need even to the extent of being willing to pay the supreme sacrifice. And this we propose doing by assisting in the maintenance of a 100 per cent Americanism based on fair play and a square deal for all.

"The members of organized labor are patriotic citizens and the members of the American Legion are patriotic American citizens who have proven their patriotism and their loyally. Consequently, on the purposes of the American Legion both they and we are in accord. Many of our most loyal members are members of organized labor, and it is our hope that we may be able to convince every ex-service man who is a member of organized labor that our purposes are the same as loyal citizens, and that every ex-service man in organized labor will join the American Legion.
 All ex-service men who are members of organized labor have proven their loyalty and their patriotism to the country and now appreciate their responsibilities as citizens, and we therefore hope it will not be long before they are all active members of the American Legion."

MAXWELL
 Has Won Its Following Through
 Its Quality

POUND for pound, the metals used in the Maxwell chassis compare favorably with those in the best cars that the world has produced, according to metallurgists.

There is a deep seated reason for this quality in a Maxwell.

For the fundamental purpose of the Maxwell is to carry the same passenger load over the same roads and at the same speeds as larger and more expensive cars.

Its particular mission is to carry this passenger load in an extremely economical way.

Therefore the Maxwell had to be light. But to make it strong as well as light only the very best of materials could be employed.

Hence, the quality metals.

And it was through the quality of its metals that Maxwell developed its following.

This is a following that began five years ago with a foundation of 5,000 and now reaches a mark of 100,000 in 1920.

300,000 Maxwells now on the highways of two continents are a daily endorsement of the merit of this great car.
