

GO BACK 4000 YRS. FOR JEWEL STYLES IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK.—Crown jewels of the Princess Sat-Hathor-Iunut, daughter of Senuseret, who ruled Egypt 4000 years before the time of Christ, and which are on exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, apparently have set a new fashion in necklaces, brooches and rings for those who patronize Fifth avenue shops.

The collection now on display was found in the tomb of the ancient royalty which was unearthed by Professor W. M. Flinders Petrie in 1914. Altho only one blue bead remained on the sarcophagus as a reminder of the Egyptian king's daughter, yet the jewel casket and contents inside were found intact. It was recently purchased by the museum for a large sum.

Among the costly baubles of the princess are shining pectorals of the deepest lapis lazuli and dainty amulets of dark carnelian popular in the years now lost in a misty past. Her favorite amethyst necklaces as well as smaller jewel cases and unguent jars are marvels of artistry and skilled workmanship.

One cartouche containing the name of Sat-Hathor-Iunut's father and, apparently a gift from the king to his daughter, might have been worn as a brooch. It consists of symbolical figures of two birds standing on a hieroglyphic base. Over the birds' heads are cobra de capellos, or hooded serpents whose coils form a frame for a scarab or sacred beetle. Below them is the figure of a man kneeling as if in worship.

New York jewelry shop windows at present display ornaments of platinum and diamonds patterned after the designs of some of the Princess Sat-Hathor-Iunut's trinkets. The craftsmen of the twelfth dynasty, under the Pharaoh Senuseret, however, have not been outdone in skilled workmanship by the jewelry makers of today, say connoisseurs.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. For 17 years he used these tablets (a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil) in his private practice with great success. They do all the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. No pains, no griping, no injury to the gums or danger from acid foods—yet they stimulate the liver and bowels. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lozy" and "heavy." Note how they clear clouded brain and perk up the spirits. 10c and 25c a box.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to keep her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful.
The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the musky mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also protects the soft tresses and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.
