ing a visit of inspection to this battle-ship. To divert attention from the fact that the film was a Newberry advertisement and render it more misleading, the film terminated with an appeal for enlistments in the navy.

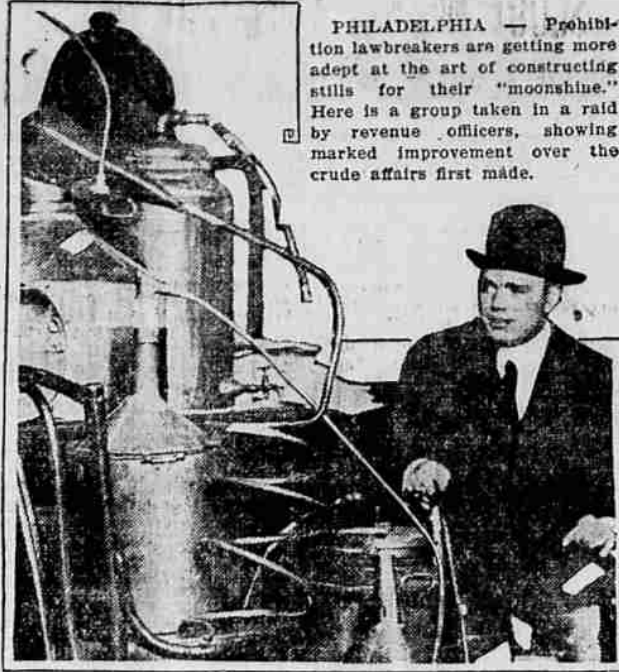

The prosecutor read a telegram which he said was sent in September, 1918, in Colonel Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay bidding for his approval of the Newberry candidacy. He said this telegram was signed "Newberry Volunteer Committee, Charles A. Floyd, secretary."

The telegram stated that $176,000 had been contributed to the campaign by many subscribers, but according to the prosecutor, the campaign statement of the committee showed that five contributors alone gave $169,300 and named John S. Newberry, a defendant and brother of the senator; Mrs. Henry B. Joy, a sister, and her husband, and Victor Barnes and Lyman B. Smith of the American Book company.

8500 Given Banker Mr. Dailey said the money went for automobiles and halls, workers at the polls, votes, banquets, liquor, cigars and flowers. He charged that some custodians of money used it to pay personal debts. There was also, he said, a system of gratuities. A $50 bill was placed in a book so that

GETTING ADEPT AT IT

PHILADELPHIA — Prohibition lawbreakers are getting more adept at the art of constructing stills for their "moonshine." Here is a group taken in a raid by revenue officers, showing marked improvement over the crude affairs first made.

It could be found by one citizen and a banker was given $500 for his influence, the prosecutor charged.

"They employed men to work particularly among railroad unions," said Mr. Dailey.

He said special agents were hired to work among the Indians, lumberjacks, negroes, factory workers and sailors on the Great Lakes.

They ingratiated themselves into the churches wherever possible by the use of money," continued Mr. Dailey.

Try to Control Opponents "The defendants wanted a great deal of money in an attempt to control the nomination of the opposite party," he continued.

"They arrived at the conclusion that the defendant, James W. Helme, would be a suitable opponent to Mr. Newberry in the election and hired the defendant, William Mlekcl, to induce Mr. Helme to become a candidate on the democratic ticket."

Mr. Dailey charged that Mlekcl was later told by Charles Floyd that Samuel O'Dell, a defendant, had paid Helme $2000 to give the race.

Mr. Dailey said the Newberry organization got up the petitions by which Mr. Helme's name was placed on the democratic ticket, managed his campaign and paid Helme a weekly salary.

Mr. Dailey asserted that on the day when the report of receipt and expenditures was to be filed the books failed to balance by about $40,000. He said the evidence would show that neither the report of the committee nor their books gave a true account of the receipts and expenditures, that county chairmen and secretaries who received from $950 to $1200 were asked to make reports showing that they received from $150 to $200, and that no mention was made of the amounts expended in behalf of James W. Helme."

proportion to the towage and local needs. Medford should have one of the best plants in the state.

Capable Men in Charge Mr. J. A. Holt, at present manager of the Eugene Fruit Growers' association, has charge of the construction and operation of all plants. Mr. Holt has made a record in this line not equaled by any other man in the state of Oregon. The profits returned to his growers are far above that others are receiving. His utilization of the waste fruit in by-product forms is the best to be found in the northwest. His price of $115 a ton for Bartlett's this year is the top price in the state. The same can be said of the other fruits which he handles.

Mr. Robert C. Patis, the efficient manager of the Salem Fruit union, has charge of the sales department, and will have affiliated with him some of the best fruit marketing experts in America.

Low Overhead By handling the various products; by doing a huge business; the overhead of the Oregon Growers' Co-operative association will be relatively low. The salaries paid to its managers are not equal to those paid by local associations in the past, or by some of the local associations found in this state today, and are greatly

DEATH RATE 1918 BEATS RECORD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The death rate in the United States for 1918 was the highest on record, according to the census bureau's annual mortality statistics issued today which shows 1,471,367 deaths for the year representing a rate of 18 per 1000 population, in the death registration area of 30 states and 27 cities with a total estimated population of 81,868,101.

Of the total deaths 477,467, or over 32 per cent, were due to influenza and pneumonia, 330,396 having occurred in the last four months of the year when an epidemic of these diseases prevailed.

The other principal causes of deaths were organic diseases of the heart, tuberculosis, acute nephritis, cirrhosis, diphtheria and cancer, which together were responsible for 391,393 deaths or nearly 27 per cent of the total during the year.

PORTLANDER RECOVERS MEMORY IN SPOKANE

SPOKANE, Feb. 2.—Following the recovery yesterday evening of his memory, George E. Raymond of Portland, Ore., was expected to leave the city jail here today with relatives. He had been held last Thursday evening at his own request, and until yesterday his entire previous life was a blank to him.

Raymond declared he suffered a similar lapse of memory once before, about five years ago and that two months of his life at that time are a blank to him. He ascribes to an injury sustained in Alaska about ten years ago, his lapses of memory.
