

MRS. GETCHELL TO BE A MEMBER OF STATE COMMITTEE

The Republican League for Women Voters, the state wide organization of which Mrs. George W. McMath, republican national committeewoman for Oregon, is president, has established headquarters in the Wilcox bldg., Sixth and Washington streets, Portland, Oregon, where members of the Portland committee will be "at home" to all visitors.

The plan of organization contemplates the formation of a branch of the league in each of the 36 counties of Oregon.

Incorporated recently under the laws of the state the declared purpose of the league is:

"To encourage Oregon women, who are qualified to vote, to register as republicans, and to urge all republican women voters to exercise the right of franchise at all elections, but more particularly all national and state elections; to acquaint the women voters of Oregon with the principles of the republican party as enunciated in the party platform; to encourage republican women voters to participate actively in party affairs; to secure due recognition of republican women voters in party conventions and on party committees; and to support all desirable candidates who may receive the republican nomination for national, state and county offices, and especially to work for the election of a republican national ticket."

ONLY NINE MORE DAYS FOR ARMY ESSAY CONTEST

Young citizens of the Medford district! Just nine more days before you compete for the big prize. Have you your notes all lined up so you can dash off a good essay in the classroom on February 20?

In writing on the topic "What Are the benefits of an Enlistment in the United States Army?" remember that our army is a great big thing. There are fourteen different branches in it.

There's the infantry branch for one—that branch in which the soldier boys fight with shmy rifles and bayonets, dig themselves into the ground with small shovels that they carry on their backs when the shells begin falling, and capture and hold the ground of the enemy.

What do you know about the infantry? Well, here are a few things you can remember:

It is the biggest branch of the army. More American young men go into it than any other branch. They are called "doughboys." They are the fellows who helped chase the Germans back to the Rhine and who are today helping make the Germans behave.

A young man who enlists in the infantry is the first to go into battle and the last to leave the battle! He must be the first to reach the enemy and the last to leave the ground he has taken away from him. A man who enlists in the infantry today comes out a bigger and better man than when he went into the army. He does the kind of work that makes men strong.

And he has the chance to attend school while in the army and to learn a useful trade. This trade will help him to get a good job when he leaves the army and it does not cost him a cent to learn it.

The infantryman gets good pay, is furnished all his clothes, his board and his lodging free.

MARGUERITE CLARK A CHARMING HEROINE

If "Luck in Pawn," her latest offering, which came to the Liberty Theatre last evening, is any criterion, our personal vote is that Miss Clark, continue to appear in this type of drama the rest of her movie life.

Don't look for anything profound or thought-compelling in "Luck in Pawn." It offers no cure for Bolshevism or substitute for the League of Nations. It is just a whimsical little story for entertainment purposes only.

"Fatty" Arbuckle as a country boy in "The Hayseed" is great fun, assisted by Buster Keaton, Molly Malone and the most up-to-date canine named Toddy. "Fatty" contributes one of the best comedies of his career. This double program shows at the Liberty today for the last times.

Executives of the two Associations Which now Consolidate into One.

Next Monday, Feb. 16, the biggest convention of Oregon retail merchants that has been held in five years will assemble in Astoria for three days.

The bigness of the occasion arises thru this being the wedding, as it were, of the Oregon Retail Merchants association, and the Oregon State Retailers' association and not an ordinary wedding, but one of those that always arouse the greatest interest—the reuniting of a divorced pair.

Five years ago there was a split in the old Oregon Retail Merchants' association, which has functioned now for fifteen years, and the Oregon State Retailers' association, developed as a rival organization.

Whatever the causes were of this "family row"—no doubt of small importance like most causes of most family rows—they have been buried and forgotten, for the officers of the two former rival state associations got together last summer and arranged the consolidation of the two organizations into one.

The Astoria chamber of commerce will act the part of host to the convention and there will be much entertainment beside all the instructive features of the convention sessions. H. E. Marsh and E. C. Gaddis of this city are members of the board of directors of the associations.

2 MILL SCHOOL TAX IS ENDORSED AT BUTTE FALLS

School officers and teachers assembled in convention at Butte Falls unanimously endorse the two mill tax bill to be voted upon at the May primaries, which provides for a uniform levy upon all property of the state and the proceeds therefrom to be distributed in such a way that school districts with a low assessed valuation will be able to maintain schools. After a discussion of the present critical situation, and the many advantages to be gained by a state wide tax for the support of our common schools, steps were adopted for giving the proposed measure such publicity as should be necessary to secure the passage of the measure in those sections at least represented at the Butte Falls meeting.

State Supt. J. A. Churchill, County Supt. G. W. Ager and a number of school officers spoke of the present situation and of the necessity of having something done at once. Our state superintendent predicts that, unless the measure is passed, there will be at least 500 schools in Oregon without teachers next fall.

The plan of distribution as outlined in the measure will give the districts better than $350 for each teacher employed. Since about one-third of the school districts in Jackson county have made provision for the minimum of $420 with which to run their schools, an amount hardly sufficient to maintain a one room school, it is predicted that the measure will meet with the same unanimous approval in other parts of the county and state as it did with those in attendance at the Butte Falls meeting.

The scarcity of teachers is bound to bring up salaries, which for elementary school work bid fair to range from $100 a month up. School board members quite generally comprehend the situation and some have already secured their teachers for the term beginning in September, 1920.

The Butte Falls convention was well attended by both school board members and teachers from the various districts in the northeastern part of the county.

VEGETABLE GARDEN PROFITS $300,000

Our St. Ansgar correspondent this week notes that F. J. Sedlacek has purchased forty acres of land of A. O. Gilbertson at $1000 per acre. We believe this is the highest price at which any piece of land in Mitchell county has ever been sold. This tract lies just on the edge of that town and it does not have a building on it. However, it is in a high state of cultivation and has been a money maker for Mr. Gilbertson for some years, he having been raising onions on it, and it is said Mr. Sedlacek will make the same use of it.

There is perhaps no man better qualified than Mr. Sedlacek to judge what can be done with land in that community. Fifteen years ago he was chopping wood at a dollar a cord and today it is said, he is worth $300,000, most of this immense fortune having been made in that length of time by raising vegetables. Mr. Sedlacek is one of the men whom the Country Gentleman noted last week in its big illustrated write-up of the truck growing industry in Mitchell county. He has raised onions, cabbage and potatoes, mainly potatoes, the maga-

A. B. CORNELL IS AWARDED PRIZE WRITES $300,000

At a recent meeting of the sales force of Oregon Life Insurance company of Portland, Oregon, at which A. B. Cornell was given a medal for having written over $300,000 business for the year, President A. L. Oregon Life Insurance company makes a rule of reinvesting the money where they get it, having several thousand dollars invested in the Rogue River valley. Mr. Mills, president of the company also announced that the mortality of its more than 600 policy holders who went to war was so favorable that not a single penny in extra premiums was extracted from them and all claims were paid in full.

This has been the slogan of the company since its organization—"Always pay in full on the day proofs are received at the home office" which together with the policy of investing its money at home accounts for the wonderful growth.
